

Justice is the absolute art of measured recompense, giving honour where honour is due, and pain where pain is due.

To subdue the passion, which is thought so often to be the sum of duty respecting them, is possible enough to a proud dullness.

NOT LIKELY TO OPEN BEFORE FEBRUARY 19

A large Number of Matters To Receive Attention at Coming Session of Parliament.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 3.—Parliament will not open until late in February, possibly about February 19. In well informed political circles, this view is prevailing.
Immediately following the general election on July 28 last and the subsequent formation of a new cabinet, a session was held in September. Disposition was made of emergency matters, such as unemployment relief, amendments to the tariff and changes in the dumping act, the two latter steps being taken to increase work among Canadians.
A large number of matters will be given attention at the coming session and active preparations in this connection are already well under way. Further revision of the tariff schedule will be included.
Rumor that Lord Irwin, now viceroy of India, may come to Canada as Governor General, is given little credence here. The appointment of a successor to Viscount Willingdon will be made on the recommendation of the Dominion Government; when that recommendation is made, it will be forwarded for approval of His Majesty the King and will naturally be regarded with great secrecy.
Some doubt exists as to whether announcement of the naming of a new Governor-General will be officially made from Ottawa or London. In view of the departure of Viscount Willingdon from the Capital on January 14 the feeling is that an early announcement of a successor will be made.

ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE ON INDIA

(By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff, Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Round Table Conference on India has taken a turn of promise. It is now speeding towards hopeful finality. Over the weekend the Hindus and Moslems are endeavoring to patch up their troubles in the new atmosphere resulting from Thursday's midnight meeting of the subcommittee on minorities. As the position stands the Hindu Liberals still pin their faith to joint electorates, but are willing for the sake of agreement to yield the point on separate electorates, which is the cardinal point in the Moslem demand. In the conference proper, events shaping themselves as forecast favor responsible government for India with safeguarding reservations on certain subjects. Hindu Liberals want full responsible government under a Prime Minister, but are willing to agree to reserve the army and foreign affairs to the Crown for a period of years in the all day discussions arranged for the coming week.

GREAT SOLDIER PASSES AWAY IN FRANCE

Marshal Joffre, One of Greatest Generals of All Time, Dead in Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Death came yesterday to Marshal Joffre, last of the chief French military leaders of the Great War after a fortnight's illness in which it was necessary to amputate his left leg.

The Marshal would have been 79 years old January 12th. The end was peaceful, three members of his family, Mme. Joffre, his son-in-law M. Latite, and his brother Ferdinand, General Issaly, his chief of staff, Colonel Desmazes of his staff, his doctors and a few others were present. He died without coming out from the coma which closed over him at noon Thursday, his life gradually ebbing since. The announcement was made at 8:30 a. m. a member of his military household, Captain Saint Germain, pale with emotion, emerged.

The news spread rapidly through Paris where death had been expected for more than a week. Bells tolled and official circles made preparations for honors in death, due the man who in 1914 turned the invaders back from the very gates of Paris in the epic battle of the Marne.

His death removed from the world stage all, save three, of the great military leaders of the war, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Eric Ludendorff of Germany, and General John J. Pershing of the United States.

Of the French leaders of note only Marshall Pétain, defender of Verdun, still lives, but, unlike Foch or Joffre he never was in supreme command of the French armies.
One by one, Haig, Cadorna, Foch and others have passed from the scene.
Madame Joffre, stoic as her hero husband, kept watch at the bedside until the end.
Joseph Jacques Cesaire Joffre, Marshal of France, was born Jan. 12th, 1852 at Riveroltes, at the edge of the Eastern Pyrenees. According to a tradition preserved in the family, his stock is Spanish and noble, and its proper name is Goffre. His great-grandfather fled from Spain for political reasons, came to France, gave his name the French spelling of Joffre, and became a merchant. The grandson of this first Joffre adopted the trade of a cooper. He had 11 children, one of them being the future victor of the Marne.

AT LOSS TO KNOW WHAT CAUSED DEATH

Mystery Surrounds Death of Man Who Succumbed During Fist Fight.

(Canadian Press)
SYDNEY MINES, N. S., Jan. 4.—Although three sittings of a Coroner's jury were held today the authorities were still at a loss to know what caused the death of James Bonner, aged twenty five, who expired suddenly during a fistic encounter with Harry Young, of Little Brasdor, on the station platform there on Friday night. Dr. A. C. Guthro, of Little Brasdor, who pronounced the young man dead a few minutes after he had dropped to the ground apparently unconscious, suggested at the third sitting of the coroner's jury Saturday night that disease of some type might have been responsible. Dr. Guthro who performed an autopsy this afternoon, said he was unable to give any definite decision as to what had caused the young man's death, having found no conclusive evidence upon examining the body. The skull and jaw bone showed no signs of fractures and all other organs appeared to be in normal condition, the medical man said. He added that he was not in a position to say whether or not shock might have caused Bonner's death.

Trans-Atlantic Plane Lands At Hampton Roads

(Canadian Press)
NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 4.—The Trans Atlantic freight plane the "Trade Wind" landed at the Hampton Roads naval air station here last night at 9:55 o'clock.

NORFOLK—Lieut. MacLaren and Mrs. Hart explained to officers at the naval base that as a result of some difficulty with their instruments, they missed Bermuda and turned back for the coast of United States, making for the naval air station here, as the nearest available field with night landing facilities. The Trade Wind left New York Saturday morning had last been reported about 375 miles eastward of New York, bound for Bermuda the first scheduled stopping point.

World War, that of Marshal Joffre stands out as one who, though the glory that was his at the beginning of the conflict faded before the end, nevertheless retained in his own country and abroad a popular admiration and affection that can be held permanently only by great characters. Fame was first attached to Joffre's name when, in 1894, he distinguished himself in the Sudan as commander of a force which made a brilliant and audacious
