

Abegweits Lose A Heart-Breaker To The Hawks 1-0

Moncton Clan Forced Into Eighty Minutes Of Hockey Before Carrying Off Victory — Burrage's Freak Goal At The 72 Minute Mark Decides Issue.

On the short end of one of the toughest breaks ever experienced by a hockey team, the Abbies last night were forced to witness Moncton Hawks scamper off with the opening tilt of the Big Three loop by the orphan count of 1 to nil, after 80 minutes of heart-breaking hockey, which was crammed to the hatches with a splendid early season exhibition of the National pastime. The pace set by the Abbies at the outset was bewildering and as Moncton spread themselves to match strides with Gardner's Red Shirts, the speed increased to such an extent that the firing lines of both squads were changed at every whistle and the defencemen were also forced to seek the haven of the boards for a brief breathing spell.

Referring to the above mentioned tally, it may be chronicled here that this count came at a most unexpected time. During a lull in the battle as the clock pointed to twelve minutes of the overtime, Len Burrage grabbed an intercepted puck just outside his blue line to coast through centre ice, swerve to the left as Oliver and Gross got set. The former struck close in to the right of Bubar's cage, where he took a shot, and was the most surprised man in the world when the disc ricocheted off an Abbie player into the net. It was a tough break for the Abbies, but still more disappointing to Bubar, who shone last night with all the brilliance of a star of the first magnitude. Just when the Hawks no doubt were beginning to think that "Daddy" was unbeatable, the lucky shot had to come and spoil for the little goalie an otherwise perfect evening—or was it a perfect evening for Bubar?—We are inclined to think so.

Both teams showed more than ordinary class and condition than was expected for such early season hockey. In fact it is doubtful if the end of the first section of the schedule will see them going any faster than they went last night. Playing cagey hockey from bell to bell, each and every puck chaser marked his man so closely that only on one occasion was there a breakthrough and this occurred in the opening minutes of the first overtime when McManus gave Bubar a bad scare when he coralled Tommy Oliver's overskated puck to slip past Oliver and Gross to the mouth of "Daddy's" cage. The colorful Bubar was on however, and outguessed the wily Sammy who scented a score, but was turned back when Bubar refused to be coaxed from his citadel. The above was the only real threat, but a dandy at that, as the fans slid to the edges of their seats to later relax with apparent satisfaction.

The local team as a whole seemed to be a rejuvenated band of hockeyists in comparison with the form shown last week against Ottawa Rideaus. They clicked off more on the front line and skated faster, while the Gross, Oliver, Ferguson defence left little to be desired. These three horsemen are due to play a very important part in Maritime hockey this season. Bubar, as usual was excellent. The sniping lines worked like Trojans and had Foster, the great little Hawk goalie working equally as hard to keep rubber from getting behind him. Yes sir, it was a great game and a fitting opener for the Big Three Loop. If last night's calibre of hockey continues, then it is only a matter of breaks as to which team will win the Maritime title.

Abbies leave here on Wednesday for Moncton, where they play the Hawks, later going to Halifax, where they will hook up with Wolfers on Friday night. The speedy Red Shirts have two large ice rinks ahead of them this week, and if feeling right, should make the home fans still prouder to be called followers of the Abegweits.

NOTES

Faced Puck Off

Acting Premier, Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan faced the puck off and officially declared the 1932-33 Northern Senior Hockey League open.

Percy Nicklin, Moncton Hawk leader was the first to shake hands with Jimmy Gardner, Abbie coach at the conclusion of the game. "Two smart teams," was Nicklin's greeting to Jimmy. "A great game of hockey," was Gardner's rejoinder.

The winner of the lucky program number last night was Mr. Milton Mellich, Montague.

About 2,500 fans attended the tilt. A real turnout and a well deserved compliment to the Abbie hockeyists and the management of the Charlottetown Forum.

The Abbie exhibition against Hawks last night has served notice that the Red Shirts are going places this season.

The presence of the Legion Band at local hockey games certainly adds to the color and glamor of the affair. Live music before the game and between periods is much enjoyed by the fans and at the same time fills in the short intervals while the teams are resting.

The "Forum News" and "Official Program" edited and produced under the management of Mr. E. F. Aorn went like hot cake at the Abbie-Hawk game last night. The "News" is an interesting booklet giving not only illustrations of the personell of the Abegweit hockey team, Forum directors, etc., but contains newsy notes, rules of the game and at the same time is profuse with attractive advertising of a great number of our leading business houses. Mr. Aorn is to be congratulated on his ingenuity and really progressive spirit. Let's see this attractive booklet offered at every local game.

Addressed The Gyro Club

Miss Mona Wilson, of the Red Cross Society, was the speaker at the Gyro dinner at the Canadian National Hotel last evening. Mr. W. D. Gillis was in the chair. Miss Wilson discussed the subject of T. B. Seals which have been sold for six years in this province. During the four years prior to 1926, Canadian Red Cross Seals were sold in aid of crippled children. $300 of the amount raised is used for the crippled children's fund, for chest examinations, and for Red Cross general administration fund. A fund is also set aside for preventive work.

With the establishment of the Department of Public Health, it was decided that T. B. field work be financed by the seal sale fund. $500 is contributed to the crippled children fund. Some of this latter appropriation is used for x-rays of clinic cases, where patients could not afford the expense. The remainder is to be used only for prevention and education, not for treatment. A lantern has been purchased to be used by Dr. Creelman in giving lectures on T. B. throughout the province.

There are 21 cases of bone T. B. under treatment at the present time. These take two or three years to cure.

The speaker described some cases of bone T. B. $1,600 has been used this year on treatment.

The crippled children fund is used in dealing with paralysis, spinal curvatures, club feet, etc. Corrective clinics are held three times a week in Charlottetown, and periodically throughout the province. 453 children attended the clinics and 1,148 treatments were given. It has been decided that henceforth the fund will be termed Handicapped Children's Fund, as 610 children have required attention to throat, eyes and teeth. Money is required to purchase braces, crutches, wheel chairs and other equipment and for massage and muscle training. Since 1922, there has been spent on handicapped children, $8,000, all of which was raised by voluntary subscription. The Junior Red Cross raised the bulk of the money.

This year's seal depicts the three wise men from the east heralding the birth of the greatest Healer of all.

Mr. Reuben MacDonald was the guest. A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. K. M. Martin and seconded by Mr. R. C. Chandler, was tendered the speaker.

Tomorrow, teams composed of members of the Gyro Club will make a personal solicitation of the business and professional men of the city for the seal sale fund.

To Conduct Advance Research

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—(C.P.)—Under the direction of Henry Bigelow, director of the Harvard University Institute of Oceanography, Dr. Georges Prefontaine, professor of biology at the University of Montreal, will conduct advanced researches into the nature and habits of animal life in the St. Lawrence. Dr. Prefontaine will take with him several hundred specimens of rare microscopic animals which live in the St. Lawrence.

For some time the microscopic life of the St. Lawrence has been the object of study by biologists of the University of Montreal and Laval University, Quebec. Laval will shortly publish the result of investigations conducted this summer by a staff of experts who pitched camp at Trois Pistoles and made detailed observations of marine life. Dr. Henry Pratt, director of the faculty of biology of the University of Montreal, and Dr. Prefontaine also expect to publish the result of their investigations.

A NEW JUVENILE LAW

FERNDALDE, Mich., Nov. 21.—(G.P.)—There is a juvenile "law" here carried out by juvenile traffic cops, prosecutors, judges, and juries.

Schools have established juvenile patrol officers who "arrest" such offenders as speeders on scooters and reckless riders on roller skates. The offenders are taken before the "court" and tried before children trained in their "legal" duties.

Washing inkwells and cleaning blackboards are among some of the penalties meted out upon conviction.

Artful Burglar Puzzles Police By His Methods

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Systematic burglaries of fashionable boarding-house sections were recently cleared up when Sir Montague Sharpe, chairman of the Middlesex Sessions, sentenced "Frederick Johnson", whose real name is said to be John Ronald Gay Rowlands, 29, to penal servitude for four years.

Johnson pretended to be the worst sufferer at the houses afflicted, and he frequently changed his abode. Police noticed the robberies invariably followed Johnson after four years of this. When he left Bulgavia for Golders Green they placed a detective in the boarding-house selected by Mr. Johnson and awaited for signs of the epidemic. But this time when Johnson wished to move because he could no longer stand the expense, the detective went with him, and escorted him to the police station as his next stop.

Another address was found on him, which proved to be a flat where he lived under his real name. His plunder was stored there until he could dispose of it, police said, and there was a laboratory on the premises where he reset some of the jewellery, altered gems, and melted gold and silver. Fifty-five master keys were also found—of all sizes and descriptions—with which all doors opened before him. Locksmiths say this is the maximum number of master keys made.

Johnson was prosecuted on only 14 of the hundreds of cases because the spoils of these cases were intact and easy to identify. In passing sentence Sir Montague said: "Your method is very unusual; your exploits are extraordinary. The talents and patience you have displayed are worthy of legal employment: in the next four years, in which you will be the non-paying guest of His Majesty, the King, I hope you will decide so to employ them in the future."

But Johnson still remains a man of mystery, for the police reports on him conflict and he declined to set them straight. Documents were found in his flat apparently showing that the D.C.M., the military medal with bars, the 1914 Star, and five wound stripes had been awarded to him. The War Office would vouchsafe no information. Other documents seemed to show that while he was supposed to be annexing war honors in France he was employed in a San Francisco saloon and had then been a waiter in Australia. The police also said they could prove he had once been sentenced at Manchester to hard labor for larceny and he was born in Peking, China, but they were not required to do so.

QUALITY IS ASSURED

One of the important safeguards of value for the farmer is the tag which appears on each bag of fertilizer sold in Canada showing the name and address of the manufacturer, the brand name, the registration number, and the guaranteed analysis. The administration of the Fertilizer Act by the Dominion Seed Branch provides assurance to the farmer that is getting real value in fertilizer.

India's Problem Not Yet Settled

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A Ruter News Agency despatch from New Delhi today said the Indian Moslem League had summarily rejected tentative conclusions reached at a Hindu-Moslem conference at Allahabad Friday respecting settlement of communal differences in connection with proposed electoral reforms.

A cable received here Friday from Nandia Malaviya, Hindu champion of the Untouchables, said final settlement of the differences had been reached at a joint conference held in Allahabad between Moslem and Hindu political factions.

Reuter's reported a statement issued at the end of today's session of the all-India Moslem conference with the Moslem League declared emphatically that no settlement was acceptable to the Moslems which failed to concede fully all demands made at the Moslem conference of New Year's Day 1929.

Opponents of the Allahabad decisions were reported as saying the findings would be injurious to Moslem interests and that they were impracticable and unacceptable. The statement as reported by Reuter's said the Moslems were prepared to accept the solution of the problem proposed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, "despite its defects," as no further progress toward responsible government appeared possible except on that basis.

A LAW WELL CARRIED OUT

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Two shopkeepers who were summoned by the London County Council under the Shops Hours Act were, at Westminster, fined a penny each.

In one case a small quantity of cheese was sold at eight p. m. and in the other case a purchase was made of a small quantity of peas and mint. The Magistrate, Hopkin Morris, in imposing the fines said he did not like to stop people earning a living.

Counsel for the London County Council said the Council's view was that the law had to be administered. To this the magistrate replied: "I have administered it."

CORN RESISTS DROUGHT

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—"Established airways, intermediate aerodromes are necessary at intervals of approximately 30 miles," says a return tabled by the Minister of Defence in the House of Commons today.

The return answered questions raised by Hon. Peter Veniot as to the necessity of two proposed landing fields at Cambridge and Havelock between Saint John and Moncton, a distance of approximately 90 miles.

Adjournment At Ottawa At End Of The Week

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—With the task of ratifying the Canada-United Kingdom trade treaty now well advanced, prospects are good for an adjournment of Parliament before the end of the week. Unless some extended debate develops on some question apart from the treaty, the work of the House of Commons should be completed before Friday.

All the tariff changes arising out of the treaty have been approved in committee of the whole. There remain 13 articles of the treaty to be passed and some of these may give rise to contentious debate. Apart from the treaty the House still has a few estimates to pass. Two of these, calling for outlays of money for unemployment relief and penitentiaries, may cause discussion.

MADRID, Nov. 21.—Senorita Marita Salaverria, daughter of a well known essayist, presented an application to the ministry of state for a place in the reorganized diplomatic corps. She is the first Spanish woman to attempt a diplomatic career.

Two hundred and seventy-two male applicants also are candidates for positions.

CORN RESISTS DROUGHT

One of the interesting conclusions made from the studies of drought resistance of crops at the Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current, Sask., is the ability of corn to survive even an extended period of drought. This crop of course makes its best growth when ample supply of water is available, but it will respond under conditions too severe for other crops to survive. Corn gives the highest yields of several crops tested for drought resistance at Swift Current.

Eden Bridge Is Officially Opened

(Canadian Press)

CARLISLE, England, Nov. 21.—The Eden Bridge, Carlisle, which was officially opened on Oct. 23, 1932, is known as the Gateway to Scotland. Through the centuries various bridges have existed at this point, the modern one being the work of Smirke, a distinguished architect of this day. It was erected between 1812 and 1815. All the immense traffic passing from the Lake District into Scotland has to pass over the bridge.

The new scheme has adapted the existing bridge to modern use. One side of the bridge—the west side—has been left untouched; the other was demolished and reconstructed to the original design. In effect the cast wall of the bridge has been knocked down and re-erected on a broader span. The new bridge has five arches across the Eden as in the original design. The cost of reconstruction was $300,000, and it is stated that $125,000 had been devoted to wages almost the whole of it being expended in the city.

Fear For Abbey Voiced By Dean

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(C.P.)—Fear for the safety of Westminster Abbey if any large buildings are erected near it has been expressed by the Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. Dr. W. F. Norris. The Dean, speaking at the annual dinner of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers in London, said it was in the range of probability that he might have to come to them before long for help.

"I hope it won't be with a kind of S. O. S.," the Dean said. "I am a little apprehensive if large buildings come anywhere nearer to the Abbey." He went on to say that he was not sure if the designers of the great building recently erected on the Embankment really understood the subsoil. He had positive evidence that the machinations of those who prepared the way for those buildings had distributed certain other buildings. He did not want the Abbey to stir.

As they had seen in the papers recently, Dean Norris continued, a large piece of stonework fell for no apparent reason from the roof of the Henry VII chapel. They were going to have the roof thoroughly examined, but at present they had been unable to discover the cause.

"In the last few months," he said, "owing, I suppose, to the opening of the new Lambeth Bridge, the traffic along the east end of the chapel has enormously increased." The Dean added that one could not take a service in the chapel without feeling a vibration which they never felt a few months ago.
