Glory to God in the Highest, and on Earth Peace

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The German delegates signed the Armistice Terms dictated by the Allied War Council and presented by Generalissimo Foch, Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies. Hostilities ceased at 2 o'clock today.

GREAT REJOICING IN CHARLOTTETOWN

"Rejoice, for I bring you glad tidings of great joy! The world is at peace once more." Such was the predominant sentiment yesterday expressed in diverse ways but ringing with intensity of feeling and sincerity. Four weary, heart-rending years of blood-shed and butchery transformed in the twinkling of an eye into a world at peace.

The news first reached the Guardian about eleven o'clock in a telegram from Montreal to the effect that Lord Shaughnessy had received a cable that the Germans had signed the armistice, and about two hours later another bulletin was received confirming this epoch-making announcement. Immediately the Mayor was informed and the city bells were set ringing. The glad chimes were taken up by every bell and horn in the city and for upwards of four hours the populace gave themselves up to making a joyful noise in every conceivable shape and form. The city went wild with ecstasies of joy and all work ceased by common consent. The Mayor and City Council met and speedily arranged an impromptu celebration for four o'clock which took the form of an automobile procession through the principal streets. The procession was headed by the Fourth Regiment Band, a detachment of soldiers from the depot, the Fire Brigade and the Mayor and City Councillors, and was taken part in by hundreds of automobiles all gaily decorated and filled with happy citizens blowing horns and tooters which made a deafening albeit delightful noise to the patriotic ear. The city was ablaze with flags and bunting while every second person carried a flag or musical instrument. The scene was indescribable. People were mad with joy.

The Mayor and City Council arranged for another popular celebration to take place in the Market Square at half past seven and extended an invitation to United States Consul Pierce, Premier Arsenault, the Chief Justice, the clergy and other leading citizens to take part. A torch light procession was organized hurriedly and about a quarter to eight it started from the City Hall. It was headed by the Fourth Regiment Band followed by the Draft Detachment from the Armourie, the Mayor and City Councillors, the League of the Cross Band, the Fire Brigade, the Boy Scouts, and hundreds of gaily decorated autos. It proceeded along Kent St. and when the American Consulate was reached a halt was called and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Col. Leigh and Major Fullerton then waited upon Consul Pierce and formally exchanged congratulations on the great and glorious conclusion of the four years' bloody struggle. The procession then reformed and proceeded through the principal streets to the Market Square where the formal speech making took place.

His Worship Mayor Wright presided, and on the platform were the Premier, Hon. A. E. Arsenault, His Lordship Chief Justice Mathieson, Mr. Justice Fitzgerald, His Lordship the Bishop of Charlottetown, Rev. Dr. Fullerton, Rev. Canon Simpson, Rev. C. R. Freeman, Mr. James Paton, M. L. A., Colonel Warburton, Councillor Smith, and Captain Dawson.

Brief speeches were made, the condition of the weather not being the most favourable.

The first act was the execution of the Kaiser, who was hanged, unfortunately only in effigy, and many willing hands assisted in the ceremony.

The Premier was the first speaker. We rejoiced, he said, not so much because the Germans were beaten but because "the flag that braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze" still floats over victorious Britain and with it in close and friendly alliance the flags of France, Italy and the great neighbouring Republic to the south of us whose gallant men have rendered such valiant service to the cause of freedom.

After a ringing speech which was cheered to the echo he announced that at the final settlement of the terms of peace there will be a grand Provincial celebration of which the Government will take charge.

The other speakers each received a hearty welcome, fitting reference being made to the part the United States has taken in the war. The work of the Canadians was also dwelt upon by each speaker. At the close of the addresses tremendous cheers were given for the Empire and her Allies, the Navy and the Canadian soldiers and the proceedings were brought to a close by the playing of the National Anthem by the band.
