Solos by Mrs. Ewen MacKinnon, Mrs. Fred Nash, Messrs. Charles Earle, and P. D. Williams were delightfully rendered and enjoyed. Mr. George DeBlois extended hearty congratulations to Mr. Henry Aitken who that day was celebrating his 80th birthday.

Messrs. Percy Pope and Col. Charles Leigh also spoke and warmly complimented the choir upon their loyalty and self sacrifice in the interest of the church. The name of Earle has become a household synonym for all that is best in music and song. Prof. Earle has the satisfaction of knowing in this instance that the prophet is not without honor in his own country.

The thanks of those present was extended to the ladies by Mr. H. Palmer in his inimitable manner. After the singing of the National Anthem the banquet to the choir was declared a most successful affair.

The death occurred at Iris on April 12th, 1927, of Mr. John McDonald, aged 78 years. He was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church at Caledonia and would never miss a service while health permitted him to attend. He was also an honorary member of Jubilee, O. L. No. 1551, having joined that order about 30 years ago, and was Treasurer for over twenty years. The funeral which was held on April 14th was conducted at the house of Rev. There passed peacefully away at the home of Nicholas Landrigan, Cardigan, on April 8th, Frank Smith. The deceased was 65 years of age being in failing health for a long time. He received the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church by the Parish Priest, Rev. Father Rooney. All that tender nursing and care could do was done for him till the end came Friday morning when God seen fit to call him. He was well known throughout Boston where he resided for a great number of years having been employed at plastering at which he completed many jobs with his partner Allan McLean. He leaves to mourn besides his sister Mrs. Ronald McCormack with whom he resided two sisters in Boston, Mrs. John Rogers and Mrs. Peter McDonald, one sister in Rollo Bay, Mrs. Hughie McDonald and three brothers living, Daniel and Jack of Boston and Angus in Little Harbour. A cloud of sorrow and gloom was cast over Cross Road, Lot 48 and vicinity when it was learned that Ernest Colin Farquharson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Farquharson, a bright young fellow of that place, had suddenly passed to his eternal reward on Sunday, April 10th after a very short illness of a few days of Scarlet Fever, in which he had been, medical skill and tenderly nursed by willing hands, and hopes were looked forward for his recovery, when that dread malady, convulsions, set in and his young spirit passed quickly and quietly to Him who gave it.

Ernest, who was just entering into his 17th year had he lived this month of May, was well loved and a favorite with his teacher and school-mates as a lovely wreath of flowers from them was mute testimony, also by all who knew him and he will be very much missed in the home and the community for he endeared himself to all by his cheerful smile and jovial disposition which we will see no more, and just why one so young and full of vigor and bright prospects for the future should be so suddenly taken is beyond human nature to understand but we must leave it to God who knows best and doeth all things well, and can only hope to meet him up yonder "when the mists have cleared away."

He was very fond of attending Divine Service when weather permitted, and liked "listening in" to sermons on the Radio of a kind neighbor every Sunday morn. He leaves to mourn their great loss his sorrowing Father and Mother, also one brother George and three sisters Mildred, Margaret and Beulah at home, another sister Myrtle in Brockton, Mass., besides his large circle of relatives and good friends.

On account of the seriousness of Scarlet Fever the funeral was held on Monday afternoon at 2.30 (privately), and despite this and the stormy weather quite a number were present to pay their last respects to the departed who was tenderly laid to rest in Mermaid Cemetery, by four of his chums, namely Lorne Jenkins, Jack McKinnon, Lloyd Carver and Willard Pippy. Rev. Mr. Littlejohns of Pownal kindly officiating at the home and grave. His loved ones will often sigh for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still.—Com.
