Trenchant Review Of Saunders Government's Mismanagement By Dr. W. J. McMillan In Budget Debate.

Following is the speech delivered in the Budget debate by Dr. W. J. P. McMillan, senior Conservative member for Fifth Queens. Dr. McMillan followed Hon. Dr. McNeill in the debate. He began his address on Thursday evening April 3rd:

FALCONWOOD HERD

I wish to refer to the Department of Agriculture for a short time. My hon. friend the Minister of Agriculture tells me that I know very little about this subject. Perhaps he is right. I am not posing as an authority, but at the same time a man is entitled to his own opinion, especially when he has some reason for it. Now we have heard a great deal about Falconwood Farm in connection with Agriculture since my hon. friend took office. This is what it all comes to: Falconwood Farm; Holstein Cattle; the Hon. Mr. Lea. There you have the direct chain of agriculture in this Province, Falconwood Farm; and the principal thing on there—Holstein cattle; and the man who put them there—the Hon. Mr. Lea, who has the last word to say in Agriculture, whose opinion is paramount. Some Liberal members, in discussing the budget, said: "Look at what they are doing at Falconwood Farm. Look at how much they made on that Farm last year." But wasn't it the same in the days of the Stewart Government? Take the balance sheet of the Farm, and you will find that the net surplus on operating expenses last year was $3,071. In 1928 it was $5,800. In 1929, when the Stewart Government was in power it was $4,836. In 1924 it was $4,037. In 1918, before the present Minister of Agriculture had anything to do with it, we find a profit in operating that farm of $7,049 and in the year 1916 a profit of $6,244.

DISPUTE WITH SUPERINTENDENT

That, Mr. Speaker, gives you an idea of what was behind the procuring of this Farm when the Agricultural Department was about to dispose of it. But the present Minister of Agriculture, when he assumed the reins of power in 1919, decided to do more; he decided to make this a model stock farm, so he built it up on those lines, and today, if you want fine pigs, horses or cattle, you go out to Falconwood Farm. Unquestionably there is good stock there in those different lines; but the point is whether that is the place to have a model stock farm. This was one of the great differences of opinion that always existed between the present Minister of Agriculture and the late superintendent of Falconwood Hospital. They never agreed on that point, and probably that was one of the reasons why Dr. Goodwill wanted to have control of that farm. He wanted to be boss. He said the farm was an adjunct to the hospital and my hon. friend the Minister of Agriculture disagreed with him.

HON. MR. LEA: My hon. friend surely knows that he resigned under my hon. friend's administration.

DR. MCMILLAN: Certainly; and what was done with his resignation? Nothing. The Stewart Government did not accept his resignation; but it was dealt with under my hon. friend's administration, after a series of conferences at which the Government of which my hon. friend is Minister of Agriculture would not agree to his proposition.

HON. MR. LEA: He wished to resign.

DR. MCMILLAN: Because you couldn't agree.

HON. MR. LEA: Not at all. Surely you paint me bad enough without adding that. He resigned under your administration, and you left it for us to deal with.

DR. MCMILLAN: But he didn't want to resign when you came in; he wanted to hold on.

HON. MR. LEA: That is a compliment to me.

DR. MCMILLAN: It may be. You had better take that one, because you are not going to get very many more. The difficulty was that you couldn't agree as to the management of that Farm. You needn't feel too badly over it; I am not blaming you; because there is an excellent man there now, a man who is doing good work. I have consulted with him on many occasions, and I wish to commend you for your appointment. But what I object to is that when you are dealing with the Falconwood institution one would imagine that all you are thinking about is the Falconwood farm. I have gone back to the inception of it, when it was acquired for the specific purpose of giving recreation and exercise to the patients who were physically fit. But my hon. friend changed all that when he became Minister of Agriculture. He made it a model stock farm. That was the point of disagreement, which finally resulted in the resignation of the former superintendent.

STILL IN THE BARNYARD

Falconwood Farm seems to be the whole thing in connection with Falconwood Institution, so far as the Minister of Agriculture is concerned. I never heard him address this House in a manner that would indicate that he ever got out of the barnyard at Falconwood. I have yet to hear him say that Falconwood is an institution to take care of those who are mentally ill and that the farm should be kept for the purpose for which it was acquired, namely to afford some place for recreation and employment for those of the inmates who are physically fit. That was the idea in acquiring this farm. In his report issued Dec. 31, 1924, Dr. V. L. Goodwill, who was the superintendent of Falconwood for many years said:

"The operations of the farm have been carried on satisfactorily.... The object in securing the farm, when the Agricultural Department were about to dispose of it some years ago, was to provide a healthful occupation for male patients, to assist toward rehabilitating them, and at the same time to help keep down the expenses of the Hospital. The idea seems to prevail that it is still a government experimental station and stock farm. It is well to be up to date in our methods, and breed good stock, but there is a tendency to saddle on the hospital and its under-paid staff, work of that nature. With this idea, continuing to influence its operations there is less regard

POLICE COURT—At the Police Court yesterday morning a man charged with a breach of the customs act was fined $50 or two months. A drunker was fined $5 and costs, and a speaker and incapable sentenced to five days in jail. A vagrancy case was dismissed, and a man charged with assaulting a police officer was remanded in custody till Monday. A man, charged with obtaining money by means of a worthless cheque, was given a suspended sentence, having made restitution. The man had presented a cheque for $5 in payment for a bill which he owed a tailor, and received $4 charge. It was found that he had no bank account.

RENEWING FRIENDSHIPS

Among the first visitors to this province this season, are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Crichton, who are spending a most enjoyable vacation at their old home in Murray Harbor South. Twenty-five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Crichton left this Island and during that time, many changes have taken place. Nearly all the old people have passed on, and only here and there do they find a familiar face. The surroundings however, haven't changed, and to be back once more on the old homestead, with its many familiar haunts, is indeed a joy, not soon to be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. Crichton are comfortably settled in Petaluma, California, where Mr. Crichton is engaged in chicken raising, a business carried on quite extensively in that State. They report a great many Islanders in California, who are all doing well, and are giving an added lustre to the name this province enjoys for turning out men of high calibre. Mr. Crichton is greatly interested in the seed potato growing, and is pleased to note that the farmers have adopted a modern and more scientific method of farming. Mr. and Mrs. Crichton will spend considerable time on the Island before returning. Mr. Crichton is a brother of Mrs. W. A. Johnstone, of Montague.

YORKSHIRE MILL OWNERS REBUFF MISS BONDFIELD

BRADFORD, Eng., May 22.—Yorkshire mill owners have replied to appeal of the minister of labor, Hon. Margaret Bondfield, who urged compromise on wage reductions, that no good could result from a meeting of both sides to the dispute. They point out that the wage reductions were recommended by the royal commissioner who enquired into conditions in the industry. This inquiry was instituted by Miss Bondfield.

A Stop for the Spark Lever

A car owned whose car was used by different members of the family, discovered that some difficulty was encountered in locating the spark lever in the proper running position, one member running continuously with the spark lever only partly advanced, while another member constantly kept the spark too far advanced. In order to make it easier for all to find the correct running position, the owner drilled a hole in the quadrant and inserted a bolt at the correct position. The members of the family now know that when the spark lever is against the bolt, the spark is correctly timed.

KEEP GROWING PULLETS HAPPY AND COMFORTABLE

Chicks should be furnished heat until they are well feathered, and the season is such that they are able to keep warm by themselves. This may vary from six to twelve weeks. As the heat is taken away, the chicks should be taught to roost.

One of the best ways to get growing stock to roost is to build a sloping roost at the rear of the house. Put the roost in before the heat is taken away. This will simplify teaching them to take to these temporary roosts. Getting the birds to roost at an early age will avoid crowding, and they will grow more evenly.

Crowding of the brooder house very often results in a heavy mortality, and the birds are apt to sweat because of lack of air. Young stock needs plenty of air. There should be cross ventilation in the brooder house during the warm weather after the birds are well feathered. Try to make the pullets as comfortable as you can by giving them ventilation in hot weather when they need it.

MRS. W. H. HORNE

On Wednesday April 30th, the community of South Milton was deeply bereaved in the passing to her great reward of Mrs. W. Hamilton Horne. In failing health in recent years, the end came after weeks of serious illness and severe suffering, which were borne with Christian fortitude, and in which everything possible was done for her relief. The burial service was held on Friday May 2nd at her late home and at St. John's Church Milton. Reverend C. F. Johnson, the Rector officiating assisted by Rev. H. D. Raymond of Charlottetown. The large attendance at the service indicated the respect and affection in which she was held by the community.

The late Mrs. Horne was an active member of St. John's Church, and of the W. A. and zealous in every good work in the community.

Honorary pall-bearers were H. H. Horne, H. Winchesler, Thos. Foster, Hammond Hooper, Morton Willams, Walter Curtis.

Active pall-bearers Geo. Richards, Chas. Coles, Roy Coles, John R. Neill Lemuel Horne, Gerald Hooper. Floral Tributes, Gates-A jar from Brothers and Sisters in the West. Pillow, Vera and Daddy, Crescent Sister Bertha and Oswald, Spray; Fannie and Gordon, Lois and George, Richards, Spray; Lorrie and Aetha, Spray; Aunt Margare, Coles, Spray; John R. Neill and Family; Spray; the Foster Family, Spray; Aunt Sophie and Reagh.

Left to mourn are her husband and daughter Vera at home two sisters Mrs. Oswald Newson and Mrs. Gordon Newson of Kingson, and one brother John Otto Coles of Campbell Mass. also her step-mother Mrs. Stephen Coles of Milton, and two half-brothers Lee Coles in the United States and Lorne Coles of Milton.

It was reported here that Mrs. McPherson had attended the Passion Play but the pilgrims said they did not see her.

Ice Plant Engineer Was In The City

Thursday the promoters of the new Charlottetown Forum spent the better part of the day in consultation with Mr. McCuspie, ice plant engineer of the Canadian Ice Machine Co., Montreal.

They announced later that much technical information had been gleaned from this expert, and that the negotiations were proceeding satisfactorily.

Ice machines, Mr. McCuspie explained, along with other matters, are of several types, and the selection of the one which will serve local conditions best is one of the minor problems of the city rink directors.

While the ground is thus being cleared here, Mr. J. E. Harris is in Halifax on a special mission to inspect the Forum there, and also the Dartmouth arena on the far side of the harbor.

It is understood that Mr. Harris and Mr. E. S. Blanchard, will jointly prepare the final plans. The sketch of the rink now in Henderson and Cadmore's window is the work of Mr. Blanchard. The latter architect is securing quotations on the steel spurs with which it is proposed to carry the immense roof.

Nothing further was divulged by the directors yesterday regarding a site beyond the statement that options were held on a quiet centrally located piece of land, and that by day options would be taken on a second or alternative site.

No definite date has been set for the commencement of building operations, but this will follow close to the energetic planning which is being carried on with all speed just now. Not a hitch has developed in the project so far to lessen the prediction of the Forum sponsors that the new ice palace will be ready for a gala opening at the last of October or early November.

MRS MCPHERSON MARKED ABSENT

PARIS, May 22.—The failure of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, California evangelist, to join her pilgrim band here after a visit to the Holy Land puzzled both the pilgrims and their tourist agency today.

Mrs. McPherson and her daughter, Roberta, were last seen at Constantinople, the 40 pilgrims who arrived here said. The pilgrims who came to Paris via a visit to the Oberammergau Passion Play, said they saw little of the evangelist leader on the trip to Palestine, where Mrs. McPherson and her daughter were preparing with two guides for expeditions at Constantinople but apparently they were supposed to join the rest of the party here. The Montmartre cafes, which Mrs. McPherson visited and described as "The last pots of sin" on a previous trip here, were visited by the shepherdesses of pilgrims, who were not particularly alarmed by the absence of the evangelist.

Charlottetown Golf Club Opens Sat. Afternoon

Blick, mashie and putter come into their own on May 24th, when Charlottetown adherents of the Royal and ancient game, officially open the golfing season on the Charlottetown Golf Club's beautiful links at Belvidere.

This notable eighteen hole course is in exceptionally good condition for this period of the year, sharing with the rest of the Island the benefits of the early spring. The greens keeper has been grooming the course faithfully, with an eye to the commencement of scheduled competition.

Carded for Saturday are the ladies' and men's singles, and on Monday, June 2nd, the weekly five o'clock matches will commence, and continue throughout the month.

Sometime next week, Mr. Tom Tonks, professional golfer, arrives here from Upper Canada to give his services to all desiring them.

Mr. Tonks offers his instructions to beginners and any golfer who wishes to improve his game.

The tea hostesses for the official opening on Saturday are: Mrs. V. L. Goodwill, Mrs. J. A. Mathieson, Mrs. J. D. Stewart, Mrs. J. O. Campbell.

IMPROVING REAL ESTATE

Often a well planned garden will mean the difference between a sale and no sale of a house as certainly the average person prefers a residence with a good lawn, trees, shrubbery, climbers and flowers about it. But even the owner of an apartment house or a string of modest residences to rent, or summer cottages will find it profitable to make some attempt at decoration of this kind. Shrubby at the corner of the apartment house and rows of brilliant annuals along do with, perhaps, window boxes at the living room windows at least will do much to beautify the building and attract tenants. Not very much care is needed, the janitor who must be around the building anyway, being able to look after the whole thing. In the more settled summer resort districts of this country owners are turning more and more to flowers and even vegetable gardens to attract visitors. Two or three beds of flowers in a group of half a dozen cottages will supply all the summer tenants with daily bouquets for the table.

Use Minard's for Rheumatism.

PASTEURISING MILK

The Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has recently distributed copies of an address on the Pasteurization of MILK. It is a particularly satisfactory presentation of an important subject and, for that reason, reference to some of the statements made are of general public interest.

After pointing out that the provision of a supply of thousands of quarts of a perishable food each day requires real business organization, it is stated that "It is generally conceded that milk and milk products are the most important factors in the food supply of the family."

Concerning the necessity for pasteurization, it is pointed out that to supply a city with a population of 250,000 people requires the output from 850 average herds. Allowing say five persons to each farm means that 4,250 persons on the farm have something to do with the milk supply of the city. To control such a number of farms and individuals by a system of inspection is impossible. A great deal may be done by education and inspection, but a safe milk supply cannot be secured by such means.

"Pasteurization will not make dirty milk clean; it does make milk safe." In answer to those who object to the heating of milk it is said that "It must be remembered, however, that though cow's milk is a natural food, people do not get milk directly from the cow." Moreover, it might be stated that milk is the only animal food used in the raw state. Like all other animal foods, it is highly perishable, and, like all other animal foods, its food value is not destroyed by heat.

The only real criticism of pasteurization is that vitamin C is weakened or destroyed, but as it is generally agreed that orange juice or tomato juice should be added to the child's diet, an abundance of vitamin C is thereby provided.

It is brought to the attention of the reader that "careless handling in the home" is shown "to be one of the weakest links in the chain of efforts to insure a safe milk supply." Milk must always be kept "Clean, Cold, Covered."

"It is clear, then, that inspection and controlled pasteurization is the only solution of a safe milk supply. The provision of pasteurized milk is a step which leads to the glowing health of children and the sturdy physique of the future men and women of this glorious country."

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

For alleged illegal fishing off Iceland the authorities there recently fined the owners of the trawler Kaspar nearly $3,400 and costs and have confiscated the gear.
