SUNLIGHT'S

"EXTRA-SOAPINESS" for the extra dirty parts

Aprons and smocks get dirty in front where you brush up against furniture or the stove.

Few things get grimmer than children's school clothes. And the dirt sticks tight!

CLOTHES get badly soiled in the same difficult places week after week. Any soap—flakes, powders, or bar—will remove the ordinary dirt. But you need Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" for those special places where the dirt sticks tightly. The reason is that Sunlight Soap is exactly suited for giving an extra soapiness to the very dirty spots. Its wonderful "extra-soapiness" allows you to get right on to the real dirt at once—and without hard rubbing. Just apply Sunlight lightly—scarcely more than a mere touch—and you leave a film of soap right in contact with the dirt. As the clothes are washed this soapy film lathers instantly into rich suds that speedily loosen the dirt and remove it entirely. That's the Sunlight method of washing—a positively sure way of getting your clothes spotlessly clean all over with perfect safety. You don't have to scrub a bit.

You'll find house cleaning, the weekly and the day-to-day washing, all the easier when you have Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" to help you. And you'll save money, as well, for Sunlight's purity safeguards the finest and most delicate materials—protects your hands, too.

You can't do without

Meeting Yesterday Discusses War Services Auxiliaries.

The council of the Summerside Board of Trade and the Summerside Town Council held an emergency meeting yesterday to meet Mr. George Pfeiffer of the budget board of the Canadian War Service Auxiliaries. Mr. Pfeiffer was accompanied by Mr. Pervis Wood, assistant on the board, and Mr. Walter Grant of Charlottetown on the advisory board of the Canadian War Service Auxiliaries. Flying Officer Lew was the pilot in charge of the plane that brought them to Summerside.

The meeting was called at the request of Mr. Pfeiffer so that he could explain the new situation with regard to the financing of the war services, and how it would affect the three Summerside war services auxiliaries. Mr. Pfeiffer explained that last year it took seven million dollars to finance the war services of Canada, which was the proceeds of the war services drive. When the budgets were gone into this year it was found that it would take 21 million dollars and the government decided that a drive of this kind would be detrimental to the sale of war savings certificates and other essential war work. It was therefore, decided to have the urban centres take over the financing of their own war services. There would be one central organization in each town which would be taken care of by a citizens committee and have the war services financed locally using as a nucleus the proceeds of the salvage campaign which is shortly to be inaugurated.

Mr. Pfeiffer stated that a Mr. Stainsbury of Halifax would come to the Island in the near future to organize the salvage campaign and explain the details in connection with the drive. Mr. Pfeiffer complimented the three war services organizations in Summerside for the work they have carried on and felt sure a suitable arrangement could be made to combine the three under one roof thus saving considerable money with regard to upkeep, etc. Mr. Pfeiffer explained that the Government would continue to finance the overseas Canadian war services as the boys overseas must be taken care of in this respect, also centres here there are large barracks such as Halifax and other military centres also the war services in Summerside.

BROADWAY LIMITED AT CAPITOL THEATRE, Summerside

Hal Roach's latest film production, "Broadway Limited," which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre, is a gay, fast-paced comedy, brilliantly directed by Gordon Douglas. Based on a screenplay by Rian James, "Broadway Limited" has in its principal roles Marjorie Woodworth, Dennis O'Keefe, Victor McLaglen, Patsy Kelly, Leonid Kinskey, Zasu Pitts and George E. Stone—a line-up of Hollywood's leading comedians and funsters. "Broadway Limited" unfolds a laugh-filled, swift-paced story of the vicissitudes in the life of the great film star, April Tremaine, who is en route from the west coast to New York, accompanied by her film director and a fan magazine publicity man. As a publicity stunt, the public is led to believe that Miss Tremaine is the mother of a baby girl. But at the time of this announcement, the baby of a socially prominent family is kidnapped, and identifying marks on Miss Tremaine's baby are similar to those of the child that has disappeared. This inevitably leads to a whole series of dramatic incidents, which are packed with suspense and surprise. How the picture finally winds up provides a tense and exciting finish. Gordon Douglas' direction of the merry story, some of which takes place aboard the famous Pennsylvania crack train between Chicago and New York, proves him once again to be a complete master of the comedy technique which demands zest, color and movement.

A Scout-built bridge. To save a three-mile walk, following an evacuation, Boy Scouts of Tisbury School, on the river Wye, near Monmouth, England, built this 167-foot suspension bridge. They did the entire work, felling trees, squaring them, and doing the knotting and lashing.
