Says U. S. Ostrich - like From War Fear

NEW YORK, May 1—(CP)—Robert E. Sherwood, the playwright, is quoted today in a copyright interview with the World Telegram as saying that the "isolationists today are really condemning millions of Americans to a horrible warfare" sometime in the future.

Sherwood's new play, "There Shall Be No Night", based on the Russian invasion of Finland, took New York by storm this week. It is a passionate declaration that the German aggressors must be stopped promptly and effectively or else the world must sink into regimented barbarism.

In the play, in which Alfred Lunt is a Nobel prize-winning scientist of Helsinki and Lynn Fontanne his American-born wife, Sherwood states the case for democracy and eventual peace with freedom.

Through the intermediary of a German attache, played by Maurice Colbourne, Sherwood seeks to establish that the Russian drive on Finland was engineered by Germany. This, he argued, was part of the Reich's ever-widening plan of destroying freedom and establishing the Germans as the superrace.

Sherwood in the last war draped what he calls his "grotesque height" in the uniform of the Canadian Black Watch and served two years with the Canadian corps. Since then he has become famous as a playwright, "The Petrified Forest," "Idiot's Delight," and "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" being among his best known works.

Talking with Frederick Woltman, World-Telegram staff writer, Sherwood said there is a "frightful conspiracy of silence" in the United States, "that is turning Washington into an orgy of unreality and paralyzing the legislative branch of the government by a fear close to panic."

"It is a 'peace hysteria" clouding all attempts at intelligent thought about the war," he said. "The United States is in exactly the same ostrich-escapism as England up to the insanity of Munich."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Urges Strong Presentation At Ottawa

The following telegram was recently forwarded to Mr. Rand Matheson, manager of the Transportation Commission of the Maritime Board of Trade:

"Considering the action taken by the federal government in establishing a set price on and Canadian quota for Wiltshire bacon for export to the British market Maritime farmers are placed at a disadvantage to the extent of the freight they must pay on mill feeds brought in from outside the Maritimes and used in pork production and adjustment of this discrimination either by elimination of such freight charges on feeds or a higher price to our producers is a reasonable demand. Instead of an attempt being made to adjust the unfair conditions existing we find that the price now being paid our producers delivered at Moncton, New Brunswick is one half cent per pound on live hogs below the Montreal price in spite of the fact that the Montreal product must be carried through Moncton en route to seaboard. Our local market is practically gone owing to importations of American pork and we are depending on you to present our case before the federal government in such a manner that these injustices will be remedied forthwith.

LEGISLATURE IN COMMITTEE

The Agricultural Products Marketing Act passed second reading in the Legislature yesterday. The bill had met with strong opposition when it was first brought before the House on a previous occasion. The act provides for the control and regulation of transportation, packing, storage and marketing of natural products within the Province.

Mr. Mustard, the promoter, explained that the bill had been redrafted and in its present form is a copy of legislation which had been passed in British Columbia and declared intra vires.

When the House opened at 11.15, the Speaker made the following announcement: "Gentlemen of the Legislature, it is my sad duty this morning to announce the passing of an honored and respected member of this Assembly. The representative of the Second District of Queen's, Mr. Angus McPhee, died this morning."

Commenting on the death of the late Mr. McPhee, Premier Campbell, "I am sure every member of this Legislature regrets to hear the announcement of Mr. McPhee's death. All the members knew him for a considerable number of years.

"He was long associated with the farmers, the business life and the public life of this Province. Not only was he a farmer but he had a wide experience in the business of trading in livestock and livestock products. He was intensely familiar, not only with the problems of the farmer, but also with the other problems connected with the livestock industry of the Province.

"The late Mr. McPhee was highly qualified to represent a district in which farming and production of livestock were stable and prominent industries.

"He first entered the Legislature at the time of the General Election of 1927, and with the exception of the period between the years 1931 and 1935, Mr. McPhee has represented the Second District ever since that time.

"He was very attentive, not only to his Legislative duty, but also to the interest of his district and constituents, at all times since his entry into public life.

"Mr. McPhee was a fine friend to all who knew him, a consistent supporter of the Liberal party but at the same time wide awake to the interests of his district and Province, and never hesitated to express himself strongly when his District was at stake.

"He was particularly interested in Temperance matters and an outstandingly good citizen in private or public good conduct.

"I am expressing the sentiments of every member of this House when I say that we regret the illness which caused the death of Mr. McPhee.

"I now, seconded by the Hon. Dr. MacMillan move that this House express its regret at the death of Mr. McPhee and offer our sincere sympathy to his family in their bereavement."

Pays Tribute

Hon. Dr. MacMillan, seconding the Premier's motion, said that all regretted the passing of Mr. McPhee. "We stood in the House with him for four years and found him a splendid man in every respect."

He referred to the heavy toll the grim reaper had taken among the members and past memoers of the present Legislature and stated that he had never been called on to refer to so many deaths of members.

He agreed with the sentiments expressed by Premier Campbell and paid tribute to Mr. McPhee as a "respected member of the greatest profession —the farming profession."

"He was a kind, sincere man and a helpful neighbor and a universal favourite with every member, and did not hesitate to express his convictions," Dr. MacMillan added.

He said that Mr. McPhee "belonged to the old school of splendid men, who unfortunately are getting scarcer year by year." They had proven their worth and value he added, and it is sad to see them answering the last roll call.

The following bills were given third reading and passed.

The Insurance Act.

An Act to Amend the Joint Stock Companies Act.

The Succession Duty Act.

An Act Respecting the Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages.

An Act Relating to Trustees.

An Act to Amend an Act to Authorize the Levying of a Tax on Certain Incomes

An Act to Amend the Game Act 1937.

"An Act Respecting Children," was referred back to committee and reported agreed to with further amendment. Mr. Hughes was in the chair.

Road Act

The House went into committee on, "An Act to Amend the Road Act 1936," with Mr. McKay in the chair.

Hon. Mr. McIntyre explained that the bill provided that any telegraph, telephone, electric light or power pole which was on any public highway of the Province would have to be removed at the expense of the company if the Government wished to widen the road.

The bill was reported agreed to without amendment.

The House went into committee on, "The Deaf and Dumb Relief Act," with Mr. Clark in the chair.

Premier Campbell explained that the purpose of the bill was to extend the time from five to seven years for the attendance at the School for the Blind, by pupils sent from this Province by the Government. The bill was agreed to without amendment.

The House went into committee on, "An Act Respecting Appeals," with Mr. Robinson in the chair. It was reported agreed to without amendment.

"An Act to Amend the Magistrate's Act," was withdrawn on motion of Premier Campbell. He explained that it would not be necessary as the amendment was covered by another Act.

The House went into committee on "An Act to Repeal Certain Acts Therein Mentioned," with Mr. McLean in the chair.

Premier Campbell said that the process of consolidating the Provincial statutes was reaching the closing stages. There were only two outstanding Acts which were not consolidated. The Land Assessment Act and the Election Act. He said it was proposed that these Acts be submitted to a committee which would study them during the year and bring them in for re-enactment and revision at the next session of the Legislature. The bill was reported agreed to.

The House went into committee on, "The Agricultural Products Marketing Act," with Mr. Foley in the chair.

It was reported agreed to with amendment.

S'side Rancher Loses Perfect Platinum Pups

Mr. George Bowness of Summerside, a well known fox rancher discovered two perfect platinum pups in his ranch yesterday. Unfortunately the pups were dead, but they were of interest on account of the fact that they were the purest platinums that have so far been seen here. Mr. Bowness had two freak foxes last fall, a light silver male and a short stub-by long haired silver, rather pale. Mr. Bowness thought he would keep them over to this year, thinking they might fur up. They mated and the perfect platinums are the result. The pups were shown to prominent fox men who were quite enthusiastic over them. They were sent up to the fox experimental farm for examination by Dr. G. Ennis Smith and his staff. There were no dark markings at all on the pups. S.

Seamen Recover

JORN, Sweden, May 1—(CP Cable)—Seamen from five British vessels sunk in Narvik harbor are recuperating in this isolated northern village from their ordeal following the German invasion of Norway.

Two of them are Canadians and one is a Newfoundlander.

Four captains and 123 crewmen were imprisoned 14 days and then compelled to make a forced march 30 miles to the frontier.

Among them was Lawrence Sickle and R. J. Smith of Toronto, and a Newfoundlander named Clarence of the vessel Riverton. Smith was aboard the Mersington Court. Other ships sunk were the Blythmoor, the Romanby and the North Cornwall. Fifty-six other crewmen from these ships are unreported.

The men are enjoying warm spring sunshine here, although they look tired and haggard. Some have blistered, swollen feet from their gruelling march.

British Strike

3. Forty survivors were landed at a British port tonight.

Cheering to the public which is eagerly awaiting the war statement promised by Prime Minister Chamberlain for tomorrow was the Air Ministry announcement that British bombs had pounded the Allborg air field in Denmark, a key point in German troop-ferry to Norway, and the airports at Stavanger, on the southwest Norwegian coast, and Fornebu, near Oslo.

The combined operations represented one of the bigest raids of the war with bombers operating throughout the night in relays. Great damage was done to runways, hangars, gasoline stores and German aircraft. At least four Nazi planes were shot down in air duels.

Go Through Defences

British planes went through intense anti-aircraft fire and assault by Messerschmitt fighters to reach objectives before dropping high explosives and incendiary bombs. At Fornebu the fire they caused could be seen for 30 miles, serving as a beacon for the next wave of bombers. Seven British planes did not return.

The Royal Air Force followed up the raids with a daylight attack today on Stavanger where hits were observed on the already-damaged airfield. All planes returned safely from this operation.

Statement Expected

Meanwhile the country as a whole sat back in anticipation of Mr. Chamberlain's first war statement since the land operations started in Norway. Its nature will determine political developments but already there are faint whisperings of the necessity of strengthening the Government.

The Press Association reported: "Different views are held as to the recent war policy and there has been a good deal of talk of the necessity of strengthening the Government—with some predictions of ministerial changes in the near future.

"The organization of the government also is being discussed. The view seems to have gained some ground that the War Cabinet should be formed of Ministers without departmental responsibilities."

Specific reference has been made to David Lloyd George, Prime Minister in the first Great War, for one of these non-departmental offices. There is also talk of including Liberals and Labor in the cabinet.

The big stumbling block to an "all-party government" is the inability of Parliamentary Labor men to take office without sanction of the full party conference which is scheduled to meet in a week's time. Liberals will not take office without Labor members so this possibility is shelved for the time being.

A great deal will depend upon the nature of the Prime Minister's statement and his ability to convince the House that the failure of the Allied land forces to halt the German advance through Norway has been due to geographical and strategic handicaps rather than the absence of governmental determination, zeal and initiative.

Budget Debate

Mr. Foley

Mr. E. P. Foley, 5th District of Prince, said that this Province was in much better financial shape than other Provinces and added that the only source of revenue was the gasoline. If the war continued the gasoline would be rationed and to counteract this loss the Province should foster the tourist industry.

Agriculture at present is in a bad state. Some farmers make good under all conditions while others cannot do anything in the same condition, he said.

Referring to Credit Unions in the Province he advised that they should stick to their own units, but not to get into the retail business. Their leaders are not trained for business and they should stick to buying clubs.

He spoke of the importation of horses into the Province and pointed out that years ago there were plenty horses here. He commended the Minister of Agriculture for his efforts on behalf of the farmers.

The unforseen expenditures of the Government occur in the Public Works Department, he claimed.

Mr. Foley claimed that alcohol was a stimulant and he did not agree with Hon. Mr. Wright when he said otherwise.

The British people have not deteriorated from the use of alcohol, he pointed out.

Temperance Vs. Prohibition

People get Prohibition and Temperance mixed, he claimed. As many people die from over eating as do from over drinking.

In conclusion he said that people should go to the polls and vote according to their conscience.

Mr. McKay

Mr. D. N. McKay First District of Queen's, expressed sympathy to the family of the deceased member, Mr. Angus McPhee.

Belief was expressed by the speaker that there could be no just criticism of the work in the different departments of the Government.

He claimed that the Minister of Public Works had been deluged with petitions from all over the country asking for more highways. The highway projects should be halted until the war is over, he said. The farmers cannot pay any more land tax and the only way to get more revenue was by placing an extra two cents on gasoline.

Speaking of the Prohibition Law, he said the Summerside did not train her men up to total abstinence.

He claimed the matter of introducing light wine and beer was up to the people in the forthcoming plebiscite.

He charged that there were 200 bootleggers in Summerside and the merchants were catering to them looking for their trade.

The speaker claimed that the Prohibition people would have an organization but added that it might be better if neither side had an organization.

Laxity In Ch'town

He maintained that the Mounted Police in Charlottetown were not trying to enforce the Prohibition Act. He said that the Mounted Police and City Police were not cooperating in the enforcement of the law.

"If Charlottetown was in earnest I believe it could be cleaned up in a short time," he said, and added it was up to the City Council.

"The Attorney General has done his duty very well," he said.

He charged that the doctors were largely to blame for conditions and their prescriptions should be curtailed.

He claimed that he had taken an active part in instituting the Prohibition Law into the Province.

The speaker argued that Falconwood Hospital was handled in a capable manner.

She had been sick only a few hours when she passed away quite suddenly. Her little twin brother Emmanuel predeceased her having lived only two weeks. Besides the parents there are left to mourn two brothers, Ray and Peter and four sisters, Georgette, Rosie, Theresa, and Joan. Sincere sympathy is extended to the sorrowing family.

On the evening of Wednesday April 24th the Borden Dramatic Club under the auspices of the Borden Credit Union presented their play, the comedy drama, "Petticoat Ranch," before a large and appreciative audience in Borden Union Hall. Despite many setbacks which occurred during the preparation of this play, the Club lived up to its reputation for producing dramatic entertainment of a high order. The cast of characters were as follows: "Bill Ewing," the sheriff, Reginald Rodgers; "B. C. Jackson," the local banker, P. J. MacInnis; "Ma Manning," proprietor of Petticoat Ranch, Mrs. Lorne McAleer; "Golden Manning," Ma's daughter, Olga Love; "Pedro Franco," the horseman, James MacAleer; "Don Gordon," a tenderfoot visitor, Gordon Jay; "Mrs. Harrington," a guest at Ranch, Mrs. Reg. Rodgers; "Barbara Harrington," her daughter, Mrs. Don MacPherson; Ellen Starr," daughter of a neighbouring rancher, Beryl Dorsey. Each of the actors performed his or her part in a very fine manner and altogether the play was a huge success. Specialties between the acts were also highly applauded and consisted of songs by Gordon Jay, the "Yodelling Islander," and tapdancing by Lorraine Richard.

The weekly card party of the Borden Womens Institute was held on Thursday last with a goodly number attending. Prizes were won by Mrs. Cecil Stewart and Mr. Neil Darrach, consolation prizes going to Mrs. L. E. Richard and Ralph Dorsey. After a delicious lunch had been served playing was resumed for the freezeout which was won by Mrs. P. J. MacInnis.
