Need for National Unity Stressed At The Bank of Nova Scotia 107th Annual Meeting

President J.A McLeod also views business outlook as quite favorable. Mining in the forefront of business activity

General Manager H.F. Patterson explains changing trends in bank assets. Comments on earnings and expenses

In addressing the 107th Annual Meeting of The Bank of Nova Scotia at Halifax on the 26th inst., Mr. J. A. McLeod, President, spoke, in part, as follows: "On this occasion we look back on a year of drastic change and of continued disturbance. Not since the Great War has there been a time when political and economic events have moved with such rapidity and intensity as these twelve months have witnessed.

most of 1938, it is not surprising that the construction industry was less busy than in 1937. A sharp decline in the amount of new industrial undertakings reflected postponement of plant expansion and modernization, and contracts for highway work were also much reduced.

national railway system, unbalanced budgets and construction. They have in varying degree been intensified as a result of the recession in business and while the immediate outlook is somewhat better, they demand our urgent attention.

Business in Canada Reasonably Good "When viewed against this unfavorable and disturbing background, the record of Canadian business for 1938 is reasonably good one. Like other countries, we have experienced a reduction in economic activity, but the setback in Canada has been moderate.

Carloadings Down "Among the industries which provide services, the most important of which are transport and merchandising, the railways felt the full impact of the recession. Total carloadings last year were 8% lower than in 1937.

The Importance of the New Trade Agreements "Canada's ability to take advantage of what further recovery may occur in the south of the bar is no doubt increased by the second Canada-United States Trade Agreement, which was recently concluded in Washington.

Retail Trade Maintained "One of the most encouraging aspects of the past year was the maintenance of retail sales which, in the eleven months up to February, were 1% higher than in 1937.

The Influence of the United States on Canadian Business "On previous occasions, speaking at this annual meeting, I have referred to the strong influence of the United States. Seldom have we been more aware, and at times more grateful, of the influence of the United States on our country's prosperity than during the year just past.

The International Trading Position "But apart from the new trade agreements, the year's developments in international trade could scarcely be described as favourable. According to figures prepared by the International Trade Commission, the second quarter of 1938 showed a drop of no less than 10% from the corresponding quarter of 1937.

Mining and Oil Production Forces Ahead "The mining industry, however, continued remarkably active. Gold production soared to a new peak, 14% higher than in 1937.

Factors Maintaining Canadian Business "This relatively good record was attributable in part to such factors as the continuance of fair export markets in Europe and the maintenance of an adequate volume of bank credit.

General Manager's Address "Mr. H. F. Patterson, General Manager, after reviewing the year's progress in the Balance Sheet, addressed the Meeting as follows: "I should like to say something about the broad picture of the banking business in recent times."

Crops Better but Prices Lower "From the standpoint of agriculture, the outstanding feature of the year was the harvesting of fair grain crops in the Southern Prairies for the first time in six years.

The Need for National Unity "In my earlier remarks, I attempted to sketch a broad picture of the present business situation in Canada but made no specific reference to the problems which will confront this country.

The Declining Trend in Commercial Lending "The diminished importance of commercial lending, however, cannot be entirely ascribed to the influence of the depression.

Manufacturing Activity Down Moderately "Most of the manufacturing industries experienced some reduction in activity. As might have been expected, the decrease was more apparent among the industries producing durable goods.

Recent Improvement in Building Activity "In view of the atmosphere of uncertainty which characterized the first half of the year, the outlook for 1939 is somewhat brighter.

Effects on Earnings "The fall in interest rates and the change-over from loans to securities have meant a progressive decline in the rate of return on bank assets.

Reduction in Operating Expenses Limited "Speaking on this topic at the annual meeting five years ago, I drew your attention to the difficulties of making any large reduction in the expenses of operating a bank.
