MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR DEAD HEROE

Who are Buried on Paardeburg Battle-field—Impressive Service at St James Kirk—also Monument in Queen Square Gardens.

"The good wife's sons come home again
With little into their hands,
But the lore of men that ha' dealt with men
In the new and naked lands.

"But the faith of men that ha' brothered men
By more than the easy breath,
And the eyes o' men that ha' read wi' men
In the open books of death."

A little over six years ago in St. James Church, Charlottetown, a service was held which was attended by the members of the First Contingent of Prince Edward Island Volunteers for the South African war. At that service the church was crowded by the comrades of the men under orders, and by hundreds of citizens. The memory of that impressive service, and of the earnest and prayerful "God-speed" with which the men were sent forth will long linger in the memory of all who were present on that occasion.

It was eminently fitting, and it struck a responsive key in many hearts, that yesterday, there should be a memorial service held in the same church in memory of the two lads who had so gloriously given their lives in obedience to that loyalty which prompted them as Sons of the Empire to go forth as representatives of this Province to take their place in the muster of the Mother-country's hosts when her cry came to them. And it was altogether part of the completeness of the whole affair that he who conducted the service, and who preached to the veterans who represented those who had marched and fought and won, should be Chaplain Fullerton: the pastor who had preached to them on the eve of their going forth to war, the comrade who had joined them for their campaigning, endured all their trials and triumph, and whose heroic conduct as their regimental chaplain had endeared him to every one of them.

There was a large congregation. A number of the surviving veterans attended in uniform, wearing their prized medal, its many bars showing how strenuously it had been won. There were also present a number of the officers of the different provincial militia corps.

The service was stirring and at periods affecting. The hymns sung were "Onward Christian Soldiers," "Fight the Good Fight," "Peace Perfect Peace," while for the anthem Kipling's "Recessional" was sung, Leslie Cook taking the soloist's parts.

Chaplain Fullerton preached from the text—"To obey is better than sacrifice." The sermon was impressive, and was made none the less so because the preacher stood up wearing the uniform of an army chaplain and wove from his text an address which was most convincing in imparting the lesson that the obedience of the soldier ends not till death.

The service closed with the National Anthem and then the sad but beautiful strains of The Dead March floating softly down from the organ loft reminded the departing congregation of the seriousness of war and of the sorrow and grief which overwhelm the glory of it.

Immediately upon leaving the church the veterans marched to the Soldiers' Monument on Queen Square, around which a large crowd of people had assembled. Here as the throng grew denser Chaplain Fullerton explained why they had come together to pay a tribute to the memory of the Islanders who had been killed in battle. Wreaths from the comrades of the dead soldiers, and from the Daughters of the Empire, and some other floral offerings were then laid upon the monument, and the hymn "God be with You till we Meet Again" was sung.

Next came the singing of the first verse of "God save the King" and after that Buglers Smith, Warburton and Fullerton, youngsters who may some day follow in the train of the warriors whose deeds they were celebrating, stepped to the front and sounded "Last Post."

DAGOES DIDN'T LIKE WOLVES

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—Because their shanty was surrounded by wolves and bears at night a gang of Italians hired in Toronto to work on the construction of the James Bay Railway at Sudbury have refused to work. Yesterday Mr. Michael Basso, who looks after the interests of the Italian colony in Toronto, received a letter from an Italian laborer, who resides in Sudbury, stating that eleven of the Italian laborers brought from Toronto to work on the railway had been put in jail. About 65 Italians hired here several weeks ago and all of them signed contracts.

COMMISSION APPOINTED

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 22.—The representations of the British Ambassador here, Sir N. R. O'Connor, on the subject of the evacuation of Tabah and the orders sent to the British cruiser Diana to support his demands have resulted in the appointment of a Turkish commission which will leave Constantinople immediately for the scene of the dispute and they are to arrange matters with the Anglo-Egyptian Commissioner. It is understood, however, that Great Britain demands as sine qua non the evacuation of the places occupied by the Turks before the commissioners commence work. An early and satisfactory settlement is anticipated.

Tabah is a port on the Turko-Egyptian frontier of the Sinai Peninsula. The Diana was ordered there on February 16 to enforce the British-Egyptian demands for its speedy evacuation by the Turkish troops who some time ago occupied the place.

DUST SHOWER ON OCEAN HIGHWAY

LONDON, Feb. 24.—"To talk of a 'dusty' ocean highway sounds absurd, but the expression is perfectly accurate," states a writer. "Everyone who is familiar with ships knows that, no matter how carefully the decks may be washed in the morning, a great quantity of dust will collect by nightfall. You say, 'But the modern steamship, burning hundreds of tons of coal a day, easily accounts for such a deposit.' True, but the records of sailing vessels show that the latter collect more dust than a steamer. On a recent voyage of a sailing vessel—a journey which lasted ninety-seven days—twenty-four barrels of dust were swept from the decks. The captain was a man of scientific tastes and made careful observations, but could not solve the mystery. Some, no doubt, comes from the wear and tear on the sails and rigging, but that accounts for only a small portion. To add to the mystery, bits of cork, wood and vegetable fibre are frequently found in this sea dust. Where does it come from?"

INTERCOLONIAL SHOPS DESTROYED BY FIRE

At Moncton, N B.—Completely Wiped out on Saturday—Fire Worst that Moncton has Ever Known—One Man Burnt to Death—Others Missing—Loss is About One Million Dollars.

MONCTON, Feb. 25.—(Special.)—The greatest conflagration in the history of Moncton and one of the costliest which the Province has ever experienced, the splendid Intercolonial shops, an immense establishment which gives employment to over one thousand men, were entirely destroyed on Saturday evening.

The loss is about one million dollars.

The fire broke out about nine o'clock and in less than two hours everything was wiped out.

One life is known to be lost and others are missing.

The unfortunate man is Abraham Jones, an employe of the paint shop, where the fire is believed to have originated.

The paint shop, freight car shed, old electric light station, boiler room, brick car shop, brass foundry, and master mechanics office were burned.

In the car shops were a large number of passenger cars.

Some were saved but the dining car Yamaska, valued at $17,000, the Pullman car Cascapedia, $18,000, General Manager Pottinger's official car $15,000, and three first class cars valued at $10,000 each were destroyed.

Six second class, postal and colonist cars were burned, valued at about $3,000 each.

Without the railway shops the City of Moncton would be but a hamlet, and great anxiety is expressed lest the Government will not rebuild here.

LABOR PARTY IN MONTREAL

Strong Party to be Formed—Viroulle Elected on Saturday—Labor Encouraged.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25—(Special)—As a result of the victory of Alphonse Veroulle, the labor candidate in Maissonneuve yesterday, it is announced that a strong Labor Party will be formed in Montreal with the intention of putting three candidates in the field at the next general election.

These candidates will be brought forward in the three divisions where the labor vote is predominant, Maissonneuve, St. Marys, and St. Anns.

All workmen irrespective of their party leanings will be invited to join the movement, and it is proposed to raise a strong campaign fund by a levy of a penny a week on members.

FOOLISH ACT OF FOOLISH PRINCE

NAPLES, Feb. 24.—Price Pignatelli Strongoli, aged 19 years, son of a lady-in-waiting to Queen Helena, committed suicide today by shooting himself. He was to have been married in a few hours to a daughter of the Duke of Cirgliano. He left a letter to his father saying he killed himself because he was sceptical about life, and another letter to his fiance saying she would have been unhappy with him. The affair has caused a great sensation, both families being among the most aristocratic in Naples.

CIRCUS RIDER IS A PRINCESS

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—A romance surrounds Princess Fehim, who is appearing in Schumann's circus here as a bareback rider.

The Princess, an American named Margaret Morgan, was a member of a German circus troop which visited Constantinople. Among the spectators was Prince Fehim, an exalted dignitary of the Turkish court, who fell in love with her and married her, according to the Mohammedan rites.

The Sultan, on discovering that a Mohammedan Prince, related to the imperial family, had married a circus rider, banished Fehim to a remote desert spot in Arabia.

The Turkish police arrested the Princess and expelled her from Turkey penniless.

She was compelled to resume her former profession. But her matrimonial adventure has increased her value as a circus performer, and as a Princess she now commands a princely salary.

LORD NELSON'S MEMORANDUM

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Daily Telegraph makes the interesting announcement of the discovery of the original draft in Lord Nelson's handwriting of his historic "General memorandum," to his captains at Trafalgar. The document, which was supposed to have been lost, was in the possession of a private family living near Merton Abbey, the home of Lady Hamilton.

LORDS DEBATE FISCAL QUESTION

LONDON, Feb. 24.—In the House of Lords today the Duke of Devonshire provoked a debate on the fiscal question. In opening he announced that he and his friends would oppose to their ability the proposals made by the Unionist leader. The Duke said he remained Unionist, but would not accept a leadership which involved him with the opinions expressed by former Premier Balfour and Joseph Chamberlain.

Former Foreign Secretary Lansdowne defended the policy of Mr. Balfour while Lord Goschen, the former Chancellor of the Exchequer, associated himself with the Duke of Devonshire, in repudiating it.

A SUNDAY FOR TEMPERANCE

TORONTO, Feb. 24—The Bishop of Toronto has issued a circular to the clergy of the diocese appointing the first Sunday in Lent to be observed as Temperance Sunday, in accordance with a canon of the synod of the diocese of Toronto, which enacts that a certain Sunday in each year be set apart for temperance, and that a sermon be preached on the subject of temperance. In the circular the Bishop says in part: "In view of the fact that drunkenness is on the increase, not only in the city of Toronto, but in the province of Ontario generally, I would remind you once more of the need of persistently keeping before the minds of your people the evils arising from the abuse of intoxicating liqurs."

SULTAN MAY CONTROL POLICE

PARIS, Feb. 24—The foreign office confirms the Algeciras report that France has offered to concede the control of the Moroccan police to the sultan if the latter will select French officers. An accord is considered to hinge upon Germany's acceptance of French officers. If this is not accepted a crisis will still be possible as the French official view is that France has reached the limit of her concessions.

The newspapers including the semi-official Temps and other government organs discuss the French concessions regretfully, even coldly, maintaining, that they foreshadow further German demands tending to humiliate France. Public sentiment while continuing calm is gradually becoming impressed with the belief that Germany is seeking to impose impossible terms upon France.

A GOOD MAN FOR INSPECTOR

Raids a Golf Club Ball—Finds Crowded Bars and Liquor—Summons Those Caught.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 25—(Special.)—During the progress of a fashionable golf club ball in Kirby House in this city last night, license inspector John McCann called after hours and found the bar room crowded with men in evening dress and liquor flowing merrily.

He had all the doors locked before any person was aware of his presence and the names of all were taken.

They will be summoned to appear in the police court as witnesses next week.

The officials of the golf club are most indignant at the lack of courtesy on the part of the inspector, saying such an occasion might readily have been allowed to pass unchallenged.

However, McCann says he had to do his duty.

NIGHT SHELTER ON LARGE SCALE

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The latest undertaking in connection with the Salvation Army's social work is a new night shelter and working men's hotel, which is situated in Middlesex street, and almost within a stone-throw of Bishopsgate street without. The building was formerly a boot and shoe warehouse, and cost between £14,000 and £15,000 to build. The Salvation Army acquired the premises for £10,000, subject to a ground rent of £300 for ninety-one years. In order to convert the place to the use of the Salvation Army's social work £5,250 has been spent in alterations and furnishing, and the whole of that charge has been generously defrayed by George Herring. Occupying a capital position, the building of four floors has been admirably arranged for the accommodation of 450 men, there being a superficial area of about 23,000 ft. Two classes will be catered for, the "hotel" visitors being charged 5d a night, which includes a good bed, supper, and breakfast, ample lavatory accommodation, with hot and cold water, and facilities for washing clothes, whilst in the "shelter" portion 315 men may obtain a comfortable sleeping bunk for 2d, and for another 2d an evening and morning meal will be supplied, plain but wholesome, food being charged at cost price. The income from the beds is expected to meet the whole of the working expenses, with the exception of the ground rent.

It penetrates though the pores of the skin, relieves inflammation and thus prevents serious consequences. For sore throat, weak chest and tendency to colds no prescription is better than Polson's Nerviline. For nearly fifty years it has been Canada's great household remedy. Twenty-five cents buys a large bottle.

Ice was reported heavy at Pictou, but the wind having changed, the conditions are probably different for today.

BRITISH PREMIER AND HOME RULE

Irish People Will Not Allow Him to Escape From a Consideration of the Question.

DUBLIN, Feb. 22.—The Irish evidently do not intend to allow Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and the Liberals to escape from a consideration of Home Rule the moment Parliament is fairly in session. A pamphlet has just been printed showing the speeches of the Prime Minister upon this important proposition. This pamphlet recites that while still Leader of the Opposition at Stirling on November 23, he dealt very fully with the Irish question, saying:

"My opinion has long been known to you. It is that the only way of healing the evils of Ireland, removing the difficulties of her administration, of giving contentment and prosperity to her people, and of making her a strength instead of a weakness to the Empire, is that the Irish people should have the management of their own domestic affairs, and so far from this opinion fading or dwindling as the years pass, it is becoming stronger, and what is more, I have more confidence in its realization.'

"If I were asked for advice by an ardent Nationalist, I would say my desire is to see the effective management of Irish affairs in the hands of a representative Irish Parliament. If I were a nationalist I would take it any way I could get it, provided it was consistent with, and led up to their larger policy. Undoubtedly it will take time. But I trust that the opportunity of making a great advance on this question of Irish Government will not be long delayed, and when this opportunity comes, my firm belief is that a greater measure of agreement than hitherto as to the ultimate solution will be found possible, and that a keener appreciation will be felt of the benefits that will flow to the Irish communities and British people throughout the world, and that Ireland, from becoming disaffected, impoverished and discouraged will take its place, a strong, harmonious and contented portion of the Empire.'

HORSE THIEVES ARE NOT EXTINCT

CHICAGO Feb. 23.—A despatch from Helena, Mont., says: George W. Duncan, of Taylorville, Alta., Victor Conley, of Browning, and George Wilson, alias Kleinschmidt, were arrested yesterday by the sheriff of this county. They are accused of horse stealing and the capture is considered by the authorities as important. Wilson is well known in Wyoming Canada, North Dakota and Minnesota. Thirteen horses said to have been "swiped" were recovered. Duncan and Conley are but nineteen years old. They are reported to have made a confession that they ran seventeen horses off the Blackfoot Indian reservation at the instigation of Wilson. They sold some of the stolen animals and put others in pasture till buyers could be found. The suspicion of the owner of the pasture led to the rest of the trio.
