Pre-War Baseball Returns Today

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Genuine pre-war baseball returns to the major leagues Tuesday with all the hip, hip, hooray of a welcome home parade in the streets as Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Johnny Vandermeer, Terry Moore and hundreds of other come back from the armed services to their old jobs.

With the golden sports boom already spiralling toward a new peak, record crowds are expected all around the National and American Leagues. Last year 101,593 fans turned out on opening day, but this probably will be exceeded in view of the large attendance at exhibition games in the south.

Although more than 11,000,000 customers watched the willing but often inadequate wartime players last year, even more are due this season according to the pre-opening day jams at the ticket windows. Brooklyn reports over $400,000 in the till and the New York Yankees may well have $600,000 before they open the gates with their new stadium club plan for selling season boxes.

Soviet Women in Industry

By A. SHELEMAN

The Great October Revolution completely emancipated the working woman. As a result, Soviet women are doing splendid work in industry and science, in agriculture as well as in the government of the country.

To show the role of woman in the USSR we need but give the following figures. Before the Revolution 90 per cent of all working women in Russia were housewives or charwomen, 25 per cent were employed in industry, education and public health.

Typical Woman. One of these women, Valeria Ponomayeva, was born in 1902 into the Ukraine. Her parents had five children. She was the first to go to school. Her father had to go to Russia to maintain a large family.

Her Discovery. Owing to its chemical peculiarities, synthetic coal was made at any temperature. But the iron and steel production in the Donbas required ever more coke which had to be brought to the Donbas from other places situated many thousands of miles away.

Predicts Greatest Season in Baseball's History

BY WILL HARBIDGE, President of the American League

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—The 1946 baseball season, from a standpoint of fan interest alone, should be the greatest in the game's history. After four wartime seasons, major league baseball returns to peacetime callus, with scores of great stars resuming their careers and with numerous newcomers making their bids for recognition.

Less than a year ago, the American League had almost 300 of its players in the armed forces. Some have returned to civilian life, 200 have returned to regulars, the rest in various capacities.
