

Prince Edward

Matinee—3.15 Night—7 and 8.45.

A drama of boyhood among the hill folks of Kentucky.

Not a word was said as he opened the door and left his home to his father and new "mother."

"BILL APPERSON'S BOY" Leaves Home. A JACK PICKFORD PICTURE

Out into the world he went, turning his back on his home and father, because he could not bear to see his dead mother's place taken by another woman.

Away from the home nest he faced the world of stern facts—suffered from hatred and envy, fought them with a fierce young enthusiasm and came at last to manhood's realization of life.

CAUSE OF DAMP CELLAR.

A great mistake is sometimes made in ventilating cellars. The object of ventilation is to keep the cellar cool and dry, but this object often fails of being accomplished by a common mistake. A cold place should never be ventilated, unless the air which is admitted is cooler than the air within. At least it should be not less than of the same temperature. The warmer the air, the more moisture it holds in suspension. Necessarily, the cooler the air, the more this moisture is condensed and precipitated. When a cool cellar is aired on a warm day, the entering air being in motion appears cool. But as it fills the cellar, the cooler air with which it becomes mixed chills it the moisture is condensed, the dew is deposited on the cold walls and may often be seen running down them in streams. Then the cellar is damp and soon becomes moldy. To avoid this the windows should be opened only at night and late, the last thing before retiring. There is no need to fear that the night air is unhealthful. It is as pure as the air of midday and is really drier. The cool air enters the cellar during the night and circulates through it. The windows should be closed before sunrise in the morning and kept closed, and shaded through the day. If the air of a cellar is damp, it may be thoroughly dried by placing in it a peck of fresh lime in an open box. A peck of lime absorbs nearly seven pounds of water, or more than three quarts.

SOME THOUGHTS ABOUT HATCHING EGGS.

No matter how carefully eggs for hatching are packed, there can never be any certainty that they will hatch if they are to be transported a long distance, and the main reason for this is the delicacy of the thin membrane that separates the white from the yolk. When one eats a hard-boiled egg, the membrane has disappeared; there does not seem to be anything between white and yolk. If there was a tough skin-like that which encloses the white and separates it from the shell, the microscopic male germ cell could not penetrate it and unite with the female germ cell on the yolk, as it must to form a chick.

FASHIONS AND FADS

Thin women find the very long close fitting tailored sleeve most becoming with day dresses.

Nothing is better for tiny girls than the plainest of little beaver bonnets, slightly poke-shaped. Striped colors swomo

Striped fabrics are made to trim themselves delightfully by simply turning the stripes the other way.

PILES

MCCARTHY—STEELE — A quiet but pretty marriage took place at St. Joseph's church, Halifax, on the morning of November 12th when Miss Loretta Gertrude Steele, daughter of Mr. Peter Steele of Tracadie, P. E. I. became the wife of Joseph Loyola McCarthy the son of Capt. and Mrs. McCarthy of Souris West, P. E. I. The bride wore a travelling suit of navy blue serge with black picture hat with red fox furs, a gift of the groom. The bridesmaid wore taupe with hat to match. The groom was supported by Mr. Wilfred Steele a brother of the bride. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on a short trip to New Glasgow. When they return they will make their home in Halifax. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl and ruby ring, and to the groomsmen a set of gold cuff links. The numerous presents showed the high esteem in which the young couple were held by their friends.

WEDDING BELLS.—The following is taken from a Calgary paper and may be of interest to a number of Islanders: A very pretty wedding took place at St. Stephen's Church, Calgary, Alberta, on October 16th when Rev. Cannon James, united in marriage Miss Fannie Louise Moose, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Moose, of Kensington, Prince Edward Island to William John Proffitt, of this city and formerly of P. E. I. The bride who was given away by Mr. Frank Farrow, was charmingly gowned in white satin with pearl and crystal trimmings and over dress of Irish lace, with hat to match. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Frances Glenn Leslie also of Kensington. Miss Leslie wore a dress of pink satin with picture hat of the same colour. Mr. A. Verne Farrow of this city very ably supported the groom. After the ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of Mrs. W. F. Farrow where a reception was held. As the newly weds entered the house Miss Lillian McPhail and Mr. A. Farrow sang a "Perfect Love." Mr. and Mrs. Proffitt left the following day for a honeymoon trip to the coast after which they proceeded to their new home in Hespio, Alberta. They travelled in a tawn colored suit and hat with blue trimmings. Mr. Proffitt has recently returned from overseas where he has spent the past three years and has seen much fighting in France and Belgium. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Proffitt, Kensington, P. E. I. The bride received many valuable presents, such as china, silver, linen and a quantity of money also a crib and baby manure set from Elctric Rebekah Lodge, No. 73.

SAVED THE ANTHEM

Old Mrs. Jones, who, at the best, was certainly not musical, attended church one recent Sunday morning when an anthem was sung by the choir. During which a certain Mr. Wood rendered a solo.

On returning home, the old lady remarked to a friend:

"Dear, dear! What a mess they made of the anthem, to be sure; why, if it had not been for Mr. Wood, they would have broke down entirely in one part."

Project to Dam Strait of Belle Isle

The November number of "Shipbuilding and Harbor Construction," published in Montreal, reproduces a letter from Mr. F.W. Hyndman which appeared in the Guardian some weeks ago on "the plan to dam the Strait of Belle Isle." In this letter Mr. Hyndman vigorously opposes the project. The following editorial comment, accompanied by a photograph of Mr. Hyndman, accompanies the letter in "Shipbuilding and Harbor Construction."

"In the last issue of 'Shipbuilding and Harbor Construction' there appeared an article describing the revival of an old time project to dam the Strait of Belle Isle, which it was claimed would divert the Gulf Stream, keep the St. Lawrence ice free all the year, round and give Eastern Canada a semi-tropical climate. Mr. F.W. Hyndman, the well known hydrographer of Charlottetown, P. E. I. has been good enough to send some arguments on the other side of this problem originally published in the Charlottetown Guardian. Mr. Hyndman's qualifications to speak with authority on this subject may be gauged by the fact that as a member of the Hydrographic Survey of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Newfoundland, he actually surveyed the Strait of Belle Isle as far back as 1861. He has also conducted hydrographic surveys for the British Government in various parts of the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal. He has also acted as Nautical Assessor of the Admiralty Court at Prince Edward Island and has held the position of Lloyd's Agent, American Vice Consul and other important appointments.

DIED IN HALIFAX.—The death took place in Halifax on November 22, of Miss Sarah Morgan daughter of Mrs. James Morgan of this city. The remains will arrive in Charlottetown tonight. The funeral will take place from her mother's residence 69 Bayfield Street on Wednesday morning at 8.45.

DRIVING ACCIDENT.—As the result of another carriage colliding with the carriage in which she and a little girl were driving along the road one day last week, Miss Kathleen McDonald of Cornwall had her back seriously injured by being thrown out of the vehicle. The little girl escaped being seriously hurt.

STREET WORK.—The work of laying asphalt on Grafton Street has now been completed from Davis & Fraser's corner almost to Weymouth Street. The work will be completed this fall as far as the concrete has been laid. The new street surface laid on Water Street is a decided improvement to that part of the city and a great boon to the teamsters who have so much hauling to do there. The great pity is that the cement and asphalt could not have been laid right up to the edge of the railway shops. As it is the deep mud runs down on the street and greatly mars the appearance of the new street and will require constant attention to keep it clean.

Prince Edward

Wednesday and Thursday

Mary Pickford proved in "Daddy Long Legs" that she knows better than anyone else the kind of picture and story people like her in.

What Amy Burke, the heiress, found in the slums

A lot of dirty faced girls are happier than clean ones.

A heavy purse doesn't make a happy home.

A real sleeping baby is more wonderful and beautiful than a thousand dollar French doll.

Shooting craps in the gutter is more fun than a tea party with silk clad snobs.

Robbing one's own million dollar mansion is the most thrilling experience in life.

Helping others brings more pleasure than waited upon by hordes of servants.

A tenement fire-escape row between Cohen and Murphy is funnier than any theatre.

That putting honest men in jail makes some men sick.

That a hurdy-gurdy makes jollier dance music than a jazz band.

That a fire-escape is an airier lounging place than a marble veranda.

That her great wealth had been robbing her of most of the joys of life.

"Men, Women and Money"
A Paramount Picture

She had no money, yet men pursue her for it. Penniless though she is, women try to fleece her. She loves money for the things it will buy. She detests it because it will not buy the love she craves. What kind of a woman is she? The question is answered in this vivid story of the upper crust of society.
