Soviet-Italian-Balkans Pact?

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Diplomatic circles here disclosed tonight that negotiations are under way for a Soviet-Italian-Balkans pact designed to insure against spreading of war to southeastern Europe.

The negotiations, initiated by Turkey, aim at arranging mutual guarantees of the Balkan status quo.

The Foreign Minister of Turkey, Sukru Saracoglu, who is in Moscow, was reported by diplomats to be discussing the final terms of the proposed pact with the Premier and Foreign Commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov.

This stage was reported reached after extensive diplomatic soundings during which a tacit approval of the plan was said to have been received from all interested nations.

Germany's Foreign Minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, was reported here to have decided to fly to Moscow as soon as he heard of the subject of the conferences between the Russian and Turkish diplomats.

United Church Presbytery Workers Meet

About 70 delegates from the United Church of Prince County attended the Conference of the Presbytery Institute which was held in Trinity United Church on Wednesday afternoon and evening. Rev. L. M. Murray presided at the Conference which included ministers and laymen. After a short devotional period led by Rev. L. E. G. Davies, a discussion on the theme of the Conference "the Sunday School moves forward" which was conducted by a group from Bedouin, Mr. J. H. MacFarlane, Ralph Calbeck, Mrs. Charles Henderson and Miss Doris Muncy.

Rev. W. S. Godfrey led the opening prayer. The Department Groups were then arranged and the following had charge—Boys work, Mr. Ralph Young—Girls work, Mrs. R. E. Wood, Summerside; Young Peoples Work—Rev. P. M. Young, Adult Work, Rev. G. A. Christie.

The closing period was in charge of Rev. K. G. Beaton, who spoke in the Promotion of Missionary Education in the different Departments of the Church.

An intermission period for supper was proposed and the delegates adjourned to Epworth hall, where the ladies of the Social Club had prepared supper.

Rev. W. S. Godfrey led the social hour which followed the supper hour.

Evening Session

The opening period of devotion at the evening session was led by Rev. B. C. Salter, Kensington. Sectional Groups were then formed by Rev. Mr. Beaton and the discussions were led by Rev. W. A. Patterson, Leadership Training; Religious Emphasis, Rev. L. M. Murray; Effective Christian Leadership, Rev. W. S. Godfrey; Improved Quality of Work, MacFarlane; Responsibility of Home, Rev. L. E. G. Davies; The Entire Constitution, Rev. D. Hoddinott; Rev. H. G. Beaton concluded the session with an excellent address on "Mission Endeavour." Rev. Mr. Beaton introduced his subject of Missions by emphasizing the fact that present generation does not think so much about missions as older generations, for the simple reason that they have so many other things to think about.

There are four fundamental reasons for the need of missions in the Western World: firstly, the necessity to relieve suffering and to interest the young in those things; secondly, the greatest areas for the relief of suffering is not in the Western World, but in the East; and lastly, the need for personal religious living; as it is generally agreed on the continent that man cannot live his best life apart from Jesus Christ, and if that is true in a Christian community it must be more true in places where there is no strong established church.

Sightseeing Cyclists Use Railways

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 28.—Since the free checking of bicycles in baggage cars for passengers of the Canadian National Railway was inaugurated two years ago, there has been a noticeable increase in the use of this handy means of locomotion for sightseeing purposes, according to A. A. Gardiner, assistant general passenger traffic manager of the company.

"While the bicycle does not take the place of rail transportation over long distances, its use for side trips to off-line places of interest has become particularly popular among young people travelling in the West," stated Mr. Gardiner. "In addition to its use by various youth hostel movements who travel annually across Canada, the bicycle is also a favorite medium for sightseeing by other people who wish to take upstays leading to scenic areas away from the railway line," added Mr. Gardiner.

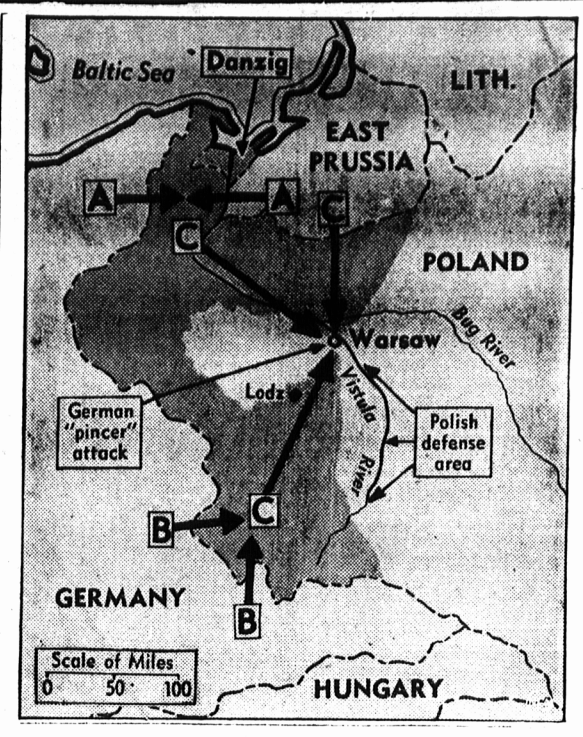

Quebec Airways Plane Reported Missing In North

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—(CP)—A Quebec airways plane carrying a pilot and two passengers from Moisie, Que., on the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Lake Melville, near the Labrador coast, has been unreported since Sept. 12. It was announced here tonight.

W. H. Coates, assistant manager of Quebec airways, said the plane, a new De Havilland dragon twin-engine machine, was piloted by Joseph Fecteau of Montreal and carried as passengers C. H. Davison of Montreal and O. C. Cote, Three Rivers, Que.

Although there had been no word from the men since they left Moisie Sept. 12, "we don't anticipate any serious difficulty," Coates said. He added that mechanical trouble probably had forced the plane down.

Davison and Cote chartered the plane to fly from Montreal to the Hudson's Bay Company's North-west river post on Lake Melville. Coates said they left here Sept. 10 and took off from Moisie at noon two days later.

The fundamental German military tactic—the flank attack—as exemplified in the Polish campaign. The arrows (A-A) show the flanking movement from east and west in the initial campaign. The same type of movement (B-B) from west and south were used in the attack on Silesia, and the subsequent campaign (C-C) on Warsaw followed a similar strategy. Shaded area shows German gains.

Helping to build air raid defenses in British cities is vital wartime duty for British women. Those above are at their daily chore of filling sandbags in the Kensington section of London.

Here are optimistic British Tommies carrying a sign "Bed and Breakfast," as the march toward an embarkation point in England for service in France. This photo cabled from London, proves the troops are not worrying about what the accommodations will be like when they reach the other side of the English Channel.

Eighty-two And Wants To Enlist

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Sept. 27.—(CP)—Minus an eye but carrying his 82 years lightly, John O'Sullivan of Indian River wants to go to war if only as an officer's batman.

Born in County Kerry, March 17, 1877, the "overlucky" of the Irish has stood O'Sullivan through a kaleidoscope of careers.

In the last war, which he entered only by lying about his age, O'Sullivan escaped death four times when ships were torpedoed and sunk from under him.

At Dunkirk in 1917 he was a boatman on the "Polstar" when a 17-inch shell struck it. All sailors between decks, with the exception of O'Sullivan, were killed. It was then that he lost his eye.

FRENCHMAN'S QUANDARY

NEWMARKET, England (CP)—Brought to England to run in the St. Leger, Pharis II, owned by M. Bussac, now seems to be stranded in the Channel. The war in the west has produced a fair number of air fights as German planes attempt to drive off Allied planes from their own territory and vice versa.

Daily War Survey

(By The Canadian Press)
Aviation activity increases as the war on the western front gains momentum but so far operations have failed to disclose whether the air arm will play a greatly extended role in the present conflict as compared with the first Great War.

In that conflict the air force found its chief usefulness as the eyes of the army. Such has been its principal role on the western front in the present conflict although the German air did much more in Poland.

French planes in recent days have been ranging far into German territory, gathering information for the Allied High Command upon which shrewd guesses may be made about German intentions regarding an offensive in the west.

Air fighting is incidental to air operations of any kind wherever both sides are equipped with planes. The two defences against aircraft are more aircraft and anti-aircraft guns. The war in the west has produced a fair number of air fights as German planes attempt to drive off Allied planes from their own territory and vice versa.

So far, however, little has been attempted in the way of air attack on ground forces, cities, or warships, which would bring air-men within the range of anti-aircraft guns. Hence the degree of improvement in anti-aircraft gunnery achieved since the last war has yet to be tested.

The British air force made one raid on German war vessels at Cuxhaven and Wilhelmshaven and the German air arm attacked British vessels in the North Sea. The other day reports on both attacks are conflicting but apparently the air arm suffered loss in each case.

TIDE AWAITS NO MAN

MORECAMBE, England.—(CP)—Two fishermen almost had enough of the sport when they were stranded on a rock in a rising tide here for two hours. One could swim but would not leave the other, who could not.

CLIMBING MISHAP

GLENNHITTLE, Scotland.—(CP)—At the end of a day's climbing on Skye two Englishmen were badly injured when 500 pounds of rock tumbled down the Colliu mull. One had a leg broken, the other his toes smashed.
