The Grandson Of U. E. Loyalist

The recent visit of Rev. Dr. Wightman to Montserrat and other parts of the Island happened to be at the time a reference to him appeared in The Fredericton Daily Gleaner. An inquiry in that paper concerning the possibility of there being still living any grandchildren of the United Empire Loyalists who came to New Brunswick in the big migration of 1783. Following is a synopsis of the Gleaner's story:

The inquiry showed that so far it is known that there are at least nine of such grandchildren still living of whom Dr. Wightman is one. This would also be true of a brother and two sisters. In the case of Dr. Wightman it is made possible from the fact that his grandfather was a child at the time of the celebrated landing and because his father was the youngest son of a large family. This youngest loyalist, John Wightman, died an late as 1871, when nearly 88 years of age. With this child loyalist came his parents Lieut. John Wightman, subsequently with this group also came the father of Lieut. John Wightman, Col. George Wightman who raised and commanded a regiment called the Loyal New Englanders during a period of the war. This Col. George Wightman, subsequently went to England where he continued to live till his death. All these Wightmans were among the original grantees of the city of Saint John and were in addition given a large grant of land a mile and a half square near the city where the village of Bayswater now stands, and where some of the connection still live.

Incidentally, it may be stated that Dr. Wightman's grandfather the youngest member of this family of loyalists in later years had a brief though stirring part in the war of 1812-14. In early life he followed the sea and soon became a qualified captain. Early in the war H.M.S. Brig of War Boxer, Capt. Blythe, came into Saint John for the purpose of replenishing her stores and securing a sailing master preparatory to cruise along the American coast to harass American shipping. Young Capt. Wightman was chosen for this difficult task and in a few days they set sail. American prize of war and Capt. Wightman with a special crew was directed by Capt. Blythe to deliver the prize ship to the admiralty in Saint John, which he did. But the next day the Boxer came in contact with an American war frigate of superior tonnage and with colors nailed to the mast immediately engaged her in a terrific battle. The issue was practically a draw as both captains were killed and many of both crews. The dead captives were buried beside each other near Poland, Mo., with military honors. It is quite likely had young Wightman not been sent to Saint John with the captured prize he would have been among the slain. When this youngest of the Wightman loyalists retired from the sea he continued to live on his Bayswater estate and for many years filled the position of Justice of the Court of Common Pleas for Kings County. As noted, he died in July 1871 and was buried in the Wightman burial ground at Bayswater.—H.

EDMUND J. BLACQUIERE

For sometime the Angel of Death was hovering around the bedside of Edmund J. Blacquiere and on August 4th he gently bore his lovely soul away from death's pangs and worries leaving many hearts sad and lonely because he had passed away whilst in Heaven there was much joy lived another child of Adam and loyal and faithful to God's decrees had bravely fought and won, had crossed the dark valley without fear, had safely reached his Home, Sweet Home.

Edmund was born in Rustico, P.E.I. and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Blacquiere. He will be missed not only in home but also in the community in which he made his acquaintance. He was of a kind and jovial disposition, always manifested vigorous vitality and energy, until three years ago, August, when his health failed him. During that illness he underwent a serious operation, from which he recovered and it was thought for a time that he would soon be able to be ardent again, but God willed otherwise and on the 4th of August he suffered a recurrence of the attack from which he failed to respond and his gentle spirit fortified by the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church winged its way from the temple of clay that guarded his mortal remains to his Eternal Home at the early age of 37 years. He was always prepared for the Heavenly call, and when it came he answered it and faced death with a smile on his lips and a prayer in his heart and went bravely out into Eternity.

He leaves to mourn besides his heart broken father and mother, three brothers and four sisters, namely: Amos, Urban, and Ernest, Angelina, Donah, Theresa and Mrs. Harry Redmond, of Charlottetown.
His funeral which was held on Thursday morning to Stella Marie Church, Rustico, was largely attended by a large concourse of people who came to pay their last tribute to their dear departed friend. A Requiem High Mass was celebrated by his pastor, Rev. Father McNeill who also conducted the service at the grave, after which all that was mortal of a loving son and brother was tenderly laid to rest to await the hour of the glorious resurrection morn. Although no longer among his acquaintances he leaves to them the consolation of happy memories and a vivid example of true manhood.

Chelton Women's Institute Annual Banquet

On Armistice evening, Nov. 11th, the members of Chelton Women's Institute with their husbands or friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell for their annual birthday goose supper.

The table was very prettily arranged in yellow and white a dainty yellow chrysanthemum being used as a centerpiece. After partaking of a bountiful repast in which much merriment was intermingled, and the dishes being cleared away all gathered in the living room where two interesting contests were carried out: the first being a letter of the week what we had previously had to eat and the second being what is found on an ordinary cent. A monologue by Miss Jean Schurman and a reading by Miss Annie Lowther were much enjoyed.

A jolly sing-song then followed with Mr. Lewis Pearson playing the violin. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the host and hostess and after singing "God Save The King" all dispersed to their homes thinking Nov. 11th, 1938 seemed a long piece away.

MISS HELEN GRAHAM ROGERSON

On Oct. 22nd, 1937, there passed away at the Deaconess Hospital, Boston, Helen Graham Rogerson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Rogerson, of Victoria, P.E.I. Quietly as the falling leaves of that beautiful autumn day the young life closed on earth, and her gentle spirit took its flight to the Home above—that sweet and blessed Country, and though in sadness here, and longing for one who will no more return, there is no sorrow there—in the land of the dead.

During the summer Helen had visited her home after a few years' absence during which time she had been engaged in the nursing profession—her chosen career. To this end she had studied, first in her native Province, and later in training in the United States, receiving her R.N. Degree from Miller's River Hospital, Mass in 1933, followed later by a Post Graduate course and diploma from Providence, R.I. Since then her time had been devoted to ministering to the sick and suffering until her short life was brought to its earthly close.

She gave of her best, always and everywhere, and the memory of her beautiful and unselfish life remains in the minds and hearts of all.

She leaves beside her father and mother, five sisters, Jeanette, Mrs. Lockwood, Mrs. Adams, and Mary. Mrs. MacNeill, Roxbury, who were with her during her brief illness, as were also her father and her Aunt Fanny, Belle, Frances, and Hattie and one brother Willard at home, all of whom is extended sincerest sympathy.

The funeral service at the home of her parents, Oct. 28, was conducted by Rev. Mr. Morrison, and at the Anglican Church of which she was a member, by Rev. Mr. Bridgewater.

MRS. HARVEY J. MCEWEN

On Saturday, Oct. 23rd, there passed away at the Prince Edward Island Hospital, Charlottetown, Mrs. Harvey J. McEwen (nee Blanche MacCallum), in her 41st year. Up to three weeks before, she had been about as usual, though perhaps not feeling the very best. On Sunday, Oct. 3rd, she became ill in church and had to leave the building. That week she seemed to rally some. Then a second setback after removal to the hospital her condition continued until a final attack came from which she never rallied.

Her passing has been deeply lamented, and much sympathy is felt for her husband and relatives. Her disposition was of the quiet type and her hand was ever ready to help.

St. Peter's was the home of her girlhood, but after marriage she lived for several years at Elrose, Sask., where her two children, Robert, 9, and Joan, 8, were born. About four years ago she returned to P. E. Island, followed shortly afterwards by her husband, who came back to reside.

She leaves to mourn beside her husband, Harvey J. McEwen, and two children, her mother, Mrs. Eben MacCallum, five sisters, (Helen) Mrs. E. A. Batten, Chicago, (Gladys), Mrs. W. R. Bennett, Saskatoon, (Adele) Mrs. J. A. MacKenzie, (Cloverdale, B. C. (Edith), Montreal, and (Maude) Mrs. G. L. Sanderson, St. Peter; also three brothers, Robert John and Kenneth MacCallum. Her father, Eben MacCallum, predeceased her.

The funeral service was held at the church St. Peter's on Monday, Oct. 25th, at 2 P. M. Rev. W. E. Aitken, officiated. The church was filled by a sympathetic community.

The pall-bearers: Messrs. John James MacKinnon, Joseph Morrison, Roy MacLean, Lloyd Anderson, William W. Anderson, and Alton Anderson. Hearse was driven by Mr. Milton Waye.

From immediate friends there were gifts of flowers.

Meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. A dainty lunch was served to the hostess and a social time enjoyed by all.

The following is the address of the retiring President, Marion Blonden.

Dear Fellow Members of the W. I. Another year has rolled around and once more we have the opportunity of assembling for our annual meeting.

I wonder if we ever stop to think what a privilege it is to be alive in such an age as this; when we see on every hand ample opportunity for service for lending a helping hand to those less fortunate than we, not only in our own community but throughout Canada and the world, with such a need we cannot help but get away from the petty self-centredness and avarice which eventually leads to war on a smaller or greater scale.

Our motto for Home and Country conveys in a very few words what should be the object of our organization. Our field of activity is unlimited and the compelling force in the Institute is a general desire on the part of the members to improve their lot and that of all in the community by doing these things and affording those opportunities through united action which cannot very well be accomplished or provided through individual effort. What citizens we would be if only we lived up to our creed and after all it is that not which a Creed is for. Let us try in the ensuing year to do just a little more to improve ourselves and in that way be a benefit to our social and public life.

Reviewing our work from a financial standpoint, many would say we have accomplished little, but I feel that our meetings together in the spirit of our Creed has enriched our lives even in a very small way, we have accomplished something, which is far more essential in my estimation than mere mercenary gain. For the past two years I have enjoyed working with you and tried to merit the confidence you placed in me when you elected me president. Now another will take up this work and I feel sure that you will give her your undivided support and co-operate to make the coming year a splendid success.
