B. C. to Open Out Drive For Queen's Fund Rotary Gives Leadership With Plans for Big Events

Big developments for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims are expected in British Columbia, according to Sholto Watt, Executive Director of the Fund, who has just returned to Montreal from a visit to the Pacific Coast. A leading part in the work for the Fund is being taken by the Vancouver Rotary Club, an active and powerful body. It has extended an invitation to all the Clubs of the Province to join in making a special effort during the next Rotary year for the Queen's Fund. The Vancouver Club has set up a committee to organize events on a large scale in aid of the Fund. Mr. Watt, who addressed the Rotary Club of Vancouver on behalf of the Directors of the Fund to thank them for their generous endeavour, stated that the Club expects to raise at least $25,000 in the year. "They were talking in larger figures still," he said, "and I am confident that with the enthusiasm and ability shown by Rotarian members, they will readily exceed their minimum objective. Favourable responses are being received from other Rotary Clubs in the Province."

"In Victoria," said Mr. Watt, "I was fortunate in securing the co-operation of Mayor McGavin, under whose auspices the Lord Mayor's Fund in Victoria has already collected considerable sums. The Lord Mayor's Fund in Victoria was opened at the beginning of the air raids on Britain, several months before the Queen's Canadian Fund was organized as a national fund, and for some time Victoria was making the highest per capita contribution in Canada."

Mr. Watt said he was most grateful to receive the assurance that Mayor McGavin would co-operate in every way possible with officials of the Queen's Fund and support all efforts on its behalf. He looked forward to an increased effort by Victoria on behalf of air raid victims.

"Newspapers in British Columbia have been promoting the Queen's Fund in a very generous way," he added. "While I was in the Province, I received gratifying evidence of the newspapers' success in publicizing the Fund. I was notified of a contribution of $3,000 from the Trail District Patriotic and Welfare Society and another of $400 from Kimberley and District Patriotic Society."

The Queen's Canadian Fund operates in all parts of the United Kingdom through the Lord Mayor's National Air Raid Distress Fund. Contributions to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown.

More Ribbons Wars Product

OTTAWA, June 29—(CP)—One glance into "Ribbons and Medals," a book by Captain H. T. Dorling, D.S.O., R.N., is enough to suggest that few Canadians can read what he describes as "a tolerably complete summary of a man's fighting career from the color stripes of silk on his coat of tunic."

British subjects, he says, must wear their ribbons and decorations and medals in a certain sequence on their breast. The sequence is: the Victoria Cross, British Orders, British medals, Foreign Orders in order of date, Foreign medals in order of date and so on. There are 114 British Orders in all topped off by the Most Noble Order of the Garter. With the issue of the George Cross and medal two new ribbons were added. The George Cross, designed by Percy Metcalfe, unlike the Victoria Cross which is of bronze Maltese design, is of silver in plain cross form of equal limbs. The design—St. George slaying the dragon—is taken from the George Kruger Gray model in turn taken from the Gooden bookplate for the Royal Library of Windsor Castle. On the reverse side is the crowned effigy of the King.

Blue, Red and Stripes With the new cross is worn a dark blue ribbon; with the medal a red ribbon with five narrow vertical stripes of blue. "For Gallantry" marks the Cross instead of "For Valor" as on the Victoria Cross. Medals for war services were not generally issued to officers and men until well after the beginning of the 19th century. There was one exception, after the battle of Dunbar officers and men of the Parliamentary Forces were awarded medals by the House of Commons. Oliver Cromwell was behind the idea.

Senior officers received medals in the interval but the men went unrewarded until the Battle of Waterloo (1815) when special decorations were given. Royal Navy men fared little better than the army though admirals and captains sometimes received them. It was 1848 before the junior officers and men were first recognized.

Soldier charged With Manslaughter HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 29—(CP Cable)—A soldier in a British Highland Regiment was charged with manslaughter here Saturday after the death of Thomas Dennis Mitchell, native of Halifax who had lived here 13 years.

Mitchell died Friday night after a scuffle the previous night at Waterloo Inn, Southampton, and the soldier, Pte. William Mackey, was arrested the next day. Mitchell, 27 years old, came here from Nova Scotia in 1928 as a cable operator. Later, he joined the staff of a firm of wine merchants, for whom he had worked 10 years.

Police said that on Friday night a man had broken into an out-building at Waterloo Inn and Mitchell and another man were thrown out of the place. In an argument and a scuffle followed and, while they wrestled, Mitchell toppled over a wall. An autopsy has been ordered.

TINTED FLUFFY FROSTING 3 egg whites, unbeaten 2-4 cups sugar 1-2 cup water 2 teaspoons light corn syrup Red coloring 1-2 teaspoons vanilla Combine egg whites, sugar water and corn syrup in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 10 minutes, or until the frosting will stand in peaks. Add coloring to hot frosting to give a delicate shell-pink tint. Just a tiny speck of coloring on the end of a knife or a few drops of liquid coloring are enough. Remove from boiling water, add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of three nine-inch layers with about 1 cup extra frosting for special decorating.

The water in which fresh vegetables are boiled makes excellent stock for soups.

Canadian figures placed exports of Canadian wheat overseas since the beginning of the 1941 crop year at a little over 150,000,000 bushels compared with about 140,000,000 during the same period of the previous crop year.

Coarser Grains Much of the land formerly used to grow wheat was converted to grains this spring. Government surveys estimated that the 1941 oat area increased 1,539,600 acres in 1940 to around 2,000,000 for all Canada while the barley area was estimated to have increased 1,051,500 to more than 5,000,000 acres this spring.

The swing to coarse grain-feeding grains—has improved greatly the interest of prairie farmers in livestock production. With prices practically stalemated on the glutted wheat market—July wheat has not moved for some time from its government-fixed minimum of 77 cents a bushel on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and the Canadian Wheat Board, with its initial guaranteed price to producers of 70 cents a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern, is almost the only market open to farmers—more and more grain growers are watching the fluctuations on the livestock market.

Bacon for Britain Aided by the agreement under which Canada has undertaken to ship $18,000 pounds of bacon to Great Britain weekly, hog marketings and prices are leading the livestock boom. Marketings of hogs throughout Canada for the first five months of the calendar year totalled 2,610,000 hogs against 1,999,000 for the same period last year. Bacon is a principal fodder for hogs and since the beginning of the grain increase as hog prices climbed to $12.75 a hundred pounds late in June compared with $10.55 at the same time a year ago. Sheep and lamb deliveries jumped 8,000 to 141,000 during the same period and prices are about $4 above last year's mid-year levels of around $9.

Cattle marketings and prices also improved while calf deliveries dropped to 317,000 at the end of May this year from 333,000 last year though prices were a little better. C. E. Bain, Dominion livestock inspector at Winnipeg, said it was likely the drop was caused by farmers preferring to fatten animals up from stocks of grain stored on the farms. N. B. Catch Boosts Scallop Landings Increased scallop landings, particularly along the New Brunswick coast where new areas have been under fishing since 1939 brought a rise in both catch and dollar return from the fishery during the 1940-41 season. In the period October, 1940 to the end of April, 1941, scallop catches for Nova Scotia and New Brunswick reached an aggregate of 60,322 shelled gallons with a landed value of $107,951 compared with 52,269 gallons worth $102,926 to the fishermen in the similar period in 1939-40.

Prices received by the fishermen were, on the whole, a little lower during the period which has just passed than in the previous season. In New Brunswick catch increase was most noteworthy, advancing from 8,729 gallons in the 1939-40 season to 14,577 gallons in 1940-41.

Nova Scotia scallop fishing centres mainly off Digby, and fishermen in that district were somewhat hampered by bad weather this season. Catches in the October-April period, in Nova Scotia, totalled 45,815 gallons as compared with 43,540 gallons in the corresponding period in 1939-40. A ten day extension of the fishing season in Nova Scotia yielded some additional landings.

Practically all of the Canadian scallop catch, nearly all of it from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick though scallops are present also in the Quebec and Prince Edward Island waters is marketed fresh though a small quantity is occasionally canned. Only the adductor muscle of the shellfish is used for food. Most of Canada's scallop production is ordinarily marketed in the United States, though in recent years a considerable quantity has also been purchased by Canadian markets.

GREAT GRANDMAS OUT TO WIN WAR LONDON July 1—(CP)—Seven Sussex women, whose ages total 577 years, are each helping the war effort in some way; the youngest is 73 and the oldest 85. "We may be old but we're not too old to help to beat Hitler," one of them declared. Mrs. Christina Percy, 95, of Worthing debites part of her day to knitting for the forces and has knitted a number of comforts. She is as active as some women many years younger. Her father, Thomas Pettigrew, was on the royal staff when Queen Victoria was born. Miss Jessie Bond, 88, last of the original Savoyards, finds she still is able to entertain wounded soldiers at the piano and the 73-year old Baroness Mayle de Fyfe, whose father was a friend of King Edward VII, is staging vaudeville shows for the troops. Every morning she gets up between four and five o'clock to run her private "canteen" for the troops coming off night duty. Another Sussex woman of 80 is devoting much of her time to ar- ranging shows to raise money for war purposes, and a woman of 84 is busy making clothes for air raid victims in London and other big cities. Miss M. Robinson, whose family have been Sussex Quaker farmers since the time of William Penn, now is 81 and is doing war work again for the fifth time. Her first such job consisted of helping her mother to sew for needy babies during the American Civil War. Now she is making bed quilts of her own design for Channel Island refugees, and toys for refugee children. Mrs. E. E. Purkiss of Burgess Hill is 76 and totally blind. She learned recently to knit and now spends her time making comforts. Just over the Sussex border is a woman of 102 who is playing her part in a similar way.
