The Late Mr. John Chappell

There passed away in the Prince County Hospital Sunday Mr. John Chappell of Locke Road near Sherbrooke. Mr. Chappell had been ill for some time and had been under treatment in the hospital but had returned home.

He was taken suddenly ill last week and was taken to the hospital on Saturday afternoon but in spite of the best medical attention passed away on Sunday morning. He was the son of the late Alexander Chappell and came at eighteen years of age with his father from Grandville and later bought a farm on the Locke Road. He was a quiet unassuming man and was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of neighbors and friends.

He married Mrs. Jenny Crossman daughter of the late Artemas Crossman of Travelers Rest, who survives him, there are also left to mourn one daughter, Libbie, Mrs. Charles Mountain of Summerside, and five sons, Ralph of St. Eleanors, Preston, George, James at home and Alexander in Sherbrooke, also four brothers Calvin of Carleton Place and James of Sherbrooke, Weymouth, Mass., and four sisters, Mrs. Guy of Boston, Mrs. Cussack of Truro, N. S., and Mrs. Russell of Charlottetown to whom sympathy is extended.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

and France toward the close of the 15th and during the first half of the 16th centuries. Summed up in three words: Renaissance, Reformation, Discovery, they are, as it were, the frame-work and primer of this whole phase of modern history.

Cartier will be pictured in the making, both as man and sailor with his Celtic ancestry in Cymric Brittany as a background, and his French environment and culture in and about St. Malo. It will be seen how his home surroundings and early frugal habits, while keeping him in touch with the court and leading men of the nation, in-creased the hardships and perils of the sea.

The greater part of the address will be a critical review of the doings of Cartier on his first official voyage to Canada in 1534, and an appraisal of the data collected and the results secured by him in the cartography and general knowledge of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and adjoining country, as compared with those supplied by his so-called predecessors on our shore.

Leon Gerin, president of the Royal Society, will point out some fundamental facts pertaining to political and economic conditions in Spain, Portugal, Italy, England.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

At the morning service, the Rev. H. D. Raymond, spoke on "The Lord's Day." The observance of the first day of the week was not commanded by the Lord Jesus Christ, but has been the outgrowth of a custom observed by the early Church. The early Christians had been accustomed to a religion which commanded by law a day of rest, the Sabbath; and they were also accustomed, particularly as regards the observance of the Sabbath, to the interpretations of the law given by the Jewish Rabbis. They had defeated the purpose of the law of Moses by the addition of numerous detail regulations. One of the chief charges of the clergy against Jesus was that of Sabbath breaking. The early followers of the Lord found themselves compelled by the law of love to keep another day, in memory of the events of the Saviour's life. Being unable to observe two rest days in one week, they had to abandon the old Sabbath. The Rev. H. D. Raymond, speaking on the necessity of keeping God's law of one day's rest in seven from all standpoints, including that of efficiency, and mentioned the unsuccessful attempts of the French and Russian revolutions to substitute a rest day spaced at a different interval.

The talk to the children was on the lesson of the cultivation of plants and their protection against destructive insects by spraying, etc., drawing the parallel as to our lives and their protection against evil influences by prayer, Scripture study, etc.

The Scripture lessons read at the morning service were Numbers 22, 1-35, and Acts 2, 22-end. The Offertory Solo was rendered by Mr. Percy Williams.

At the evening service, the Rev. H. D. Raymond, spoke on the life of St. Mark, the author of the second Gospel. Treating of the question of his identity as probably the John Mark mentioned in Acts 12 (possibly the son of Simon Peter), it was shown that we have very little information regarding him, that he was probably the young man who fled naked from the garden on the night of Jesus' betrayal; that he started with Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey, but turned back after they left the island of Cyprus because of some falling out with them; that he had to go to Rome; that on a later missionary journey, Paul refused to take Mark, while Barnabas insisted on taking him, thereby causing the separation of these apostles; but that the later Epistles of Paul show that Mark was again accepted and beloved by him, and had the wonderful privilege of writing one of the Gospels. The life of John Mark certainly shows how God uses poor, weak human instruments to accomplish His greatest purposes, and how they may be redeemed to do their greatest work after a fall.

The lessons in the evening were Numbers 22, 36 to 25, 26; and John 11, 1-44.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH

Yesterday the feast of St. Joseph, Patron of the Universal Church, was celebrated at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer. This feast came during Lent, and was transferred to yesterday. Masses were celebrated at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. Father Enright. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Alfred Doucette, rendered a special Mass. Rev. Father O'Hara preached powerful sermons on St. Joseph at all the Masses.

In the evening, the services consisted of the Rosary, Vespers, and an eloquent and inspiring sermon, preached by Rev. Father Connolly, after which the sacrament was given by Rev. Father O'Hara.

It was announced yesterday that a Retreat, consisting of "Timely Talks on the Home" will be held during the month of May. The sermons will be preached by Rev. James A. Cloran, C.S.S.R., of Woodstock, Ont.

N. S. Brokerage Firm Awarded $136,000

HALIFAX, April 22—(Canadian Press)—The Montreal brokerage firm of McDougall and Cowans was awarded $136,000 by the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia Saturday in its $146,000 suit against T. C. Glennie, the Nova Scotia farmer who had won and lost a small fortune in the wild stock market of 1929.

Glennie was sued by the brokerage company for the amount of his losses on its books after the 1929 crash. He had run up a $10,000 debt, but had seen his huge paper profits turned swiftly into a deficit. Before a Supreme Court jury he successfully contested his claim that the losses were caused by inflation. But the full bench reversed the verdict in a majority decision recently, though the judges differed in their opinions as to the amount due the firm.

Saturday the company's counsel indicated they would be satisfied to have the amount reduced by $12,000 to meet the finding of Mr. Justice R. H. Graham, and an order to this effect was granted.

IMPERIAL SALARY CONTINUANCE PLAN

WOULDN'T it be fine if your employer would promise to continue your full salary to your family for a whole year after your death? Few employers will make such a provision, but you can make it for yourself under the Salary Continuance Plan of The Imperial Life.

The change to another scale of living after the bread-winner is gone is one of the most difficult re-adjustments which life can impose. If, for instance, you should die soon, would your estate provide an immediately available income sufficient to enable your dependents to carry on during that crucial "first year"?

An Imperial Life Salary Continuance Policy providing for the payment to your family of $100 each month for twelve months after your death calls for a saving of only about 10 cents a day on your part now—when you can spare the money—Imagine what a blessing the continuation of your monthly salary cheques for a whole year would be in helping your family gradually to change to ways of living within the income from whatever estate you may bequeath to them.

thrown at churches and convents as Extremists continued their demonstrations against the convention at Exeter.

Rioters Armed

At Puerto, police attempted to disperse a demonstration by firing into the air. Rioters fired at the guards, killing one and wounding several. Nearby, a bomb was thrown into a hotel wrecking the building.

Allow Meeting

Extremists had sworn to prevent the meeting at Exeter, but the Government decided it should be held anyway, under heavy protection from the authorities. Apparently there was no violence there. Another factor in promoting the disturbances was general dissatisfaction with the recently-passed amnesty law. Reports were circulating in the capital that President Aloca Zamora had withheld his signature. This could not be confirmed.
