Currie was united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Beata Maud Hatfield, St. John, N. B. The happy couple left by the evening train en route to St. John, the former home of the bride. WITH reference to a paragraph published in The Guardian recently claiming that W. F. Coyle—Buffalo Bill—was a native of P. E. Island has brought to us a rather emphatic protest in a letter from a gentleman in Earlham, I., who says that Buffalo Bill was born and raised at Walnut Grove Iowa. This explanation is gladly made especially as the laws of natural history impel the thought that Iowa, is a much more favorable place for raising buffaloes than our province.

THE many friends of P. A. Smith, driver on the P. E. I. Railway, will sympathize with him in the death of his wife which occurred Saturday evening at the City Hospital. THE fire alarm, rung at a quarter to ten Saturday night furnished the firemen with an exercise spin for the tournament. They sprinted down Queen Street with the hose reels and found that the alarm was without foundation. Then they sprinted back to the station—but not quite so quickly as, they came.

ARE JAPS TRYING TO DICTATE TO US? LONDON, Feb. 2.—The cablegram from Tokio announcing that the leader of the progressive party of Japan questioned the minister of war as to whether the Japanese government, in view of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, intended to urge upon the British government to reform its army organization, to which the minister replied that his government would do so at some future date, is likely to cause a sensation throughout Great Britain. For the moment most of the papers refrain from comment, under the idea that a wrong impression might have been conveyed through a close telegraphic summary or by a telegraphic error. The Daily News in an editorial says that it is not an agreeable pill for a proud people to swallow, and points with dramatic emphasis to the extraordinary story of the last twenty years since the Gilbert and Sullivan opera of The Mikado represented "our notions of Japan." The paper adds that "if this miracle happened in twenty years, what may not happen in fifty years?"
