Friend after friend departs. Who hath not lost a friend? Death, the ever busy reaper, visits the young and old, rich and poor and claims its victims from the stately mansion, as well as the humble cottage. The residents of High Bank were shocked to learn of the sad death of Miss Katie McKay eldest daughter of John McKay, which took place in the City Hospital, Boston, Mass. on Feb. 3rd. Miss McKay had resided in Massachusetts for the short period of five months when she was stricken down with pneumonia. She was conveyed to the above named hospital on Tuesday, and on the following Sunday, at five a. m. the silent messenger entered and her spirit winged its flight to the eternal shores. Her grief-stricken sister accompanied the remains to Picton, where she was detained until the 19th, as a crossing could not be effected. The remains were taken to her former home at High Bank, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. Gillis, and amid choking sobs and farewell tears all that was mortal of her was laid to rest beside her mother. The writer had known the deceased from early childhood, and esteemed her for her sterling qualities possessed of a kind and generous disposition she was indeed an amiable girl. Her sojourn with us here was of short duration, being only in her 22nd, year.

When purged from every stain and guilt I soar with angels up to Thee, I know dear Saviour, that thou wilt, Open the pearly gates for me. Much sympathy is felt for the father brothers, sisters, and aunts to whom the deceased was deeply attached in this hour of sad bereavement.

For the Cure of Catarh.

A physician now retired from practice, but who still keeps abreast of the times, in speaking of the advance made in the last ten years says: One of the most obstinate and baffling diseases is the very common trouble, catarh.

Nasal catarh is only one of its many forms: catarh of the throat, catarh of the stomach, bowels, liver and bladder are very common but the sufferer usually thinks it is something else than catarh and is treated for the wrong disease.

The best and most successful treatment for any form of catarh is now admitted to be by internal remedies through the stomach and the safest and probably the most efficient is the tablet form, sold by druggists as Stuart's Catarh Tablets.

I have seen many remarkable cures of catarh resulting from regular daily use of these tablets, which seem to act on the blood and liver, driving catarh poison out of the system through the natural channels.

I once had occasion to analyze these tablets and found them to contain no cocaine nor opiates, but simply a combination of harmless antiseptics like Eucalyptal, Guaiacol, blood root etc.

At any rate I have known of severe catarh headaches which were, cured by Stuart's Catarh Tablets, and catarh deafness, hay fever, asthma and catarh of the throat and stomach speedily show great benefit after a few days use of the remedy and when it is remembered how much more convenient a tablet is than inhalers, douches, salves and powders it is not surprising that this new preparation should so rapidly supplant all other remedies for catarh.
