Sport Echoes from Prince County

The Kensington Juveniles fought gamely in their first playoff game with the Summerside Kinsmen but it was pretty obvious to on-lookers that they didn't pack the speed and drive necessary to knock the Hogan-coached crew out of further contention in the juvenile Island playdowns. Not many of them seem to be good slick-handlers and they break far too slowly to get the necessary jump on back checking opponents. They're rugged and can swap bumps with anyone going in for that particular sideline. (Bobby Gay, the Kinsmen who didn't have that commodity didn't have to look far for customers) but they lack the smooth co-ordinated play that is typical of Summerside and Charlottetown minor hockey. If the Kensington boys show a reversal of form in Kensington and wipe out that six-goal lead we'll just have to eat our words most of which, according to one Kensington fan, are too big anyway.

The more we think of this fast-breaking in hockey, the better we like it. What we remember most about the old Victoria Unions was that the whole forward line was off like a trio of scared rabbits the instant one of them had poke-checked the disk away from an opponent. They seemed to get organized in a split second and that may have been because they had played together for a long time.

It was rather a coincidence that both goalies in the game at Summerside Tuesday night were listed as O. Rogers. The Kinsmen had Claude Rogers from Chelton in the cage and Layton Rogers' boy, Charlie, was stopping them for Kensington. Another interesting angle was that Charlie Rogers between the pipes for the red and white squad is the uncle of Layton Schurman, star forward for the Kinsmen. The way Layton was bearing down on the Kensington cage and firing shots from all angles was certainly no way to treat your uncle. But Uncle Chas. was Johnny-on-the-spot a good deal of the time and turned in a really fine game.

The Crystal Rink was the scene of the first penalty shot of the year Tuesday night when a Kinsmen defence player deliberately fell on a loose puck within the goal crease. We've seen this infraction of the rules go unpunished two or three times this winter and was glad to see the referees check up on it on this occasion. There was apparently a slight error made in the interpretation of the rule, however, as a further penalty was imposed, and rule 53, sec. (4) says: "For infringement of this rule play shall immediately be stopped and a penalty shot shall be ordered against the offending team, but no other penalty shall be given. It's easy to dig these things up after a game, but it's quite another matter when you are the referee and have to make your decisions at once without thumbing a rule book. We think the refereeing was A-1 Tuesday night in spite of this slip.

The interscholastic hockey crown may go east this year. Tignish is not defending its championship gained in 1947 and if you can go by early season games the Georgetown school boys appear to have an edge on the Charlottetown entries. Summerside High School's victory over West Kent School, Charlottetown champions again this year, was narrow enough to make it a toss-up between these two aggregations. So it's possible Georgetown will emerge as the pick of the lot. In any case, let us hope those games will be played before ice conditions in the natural ice rinks are no longer fit for the best type of hockey. Too many play-offs occur here on ice surfaces that are so bad that those who come out on top are perhaps the best shiny players but do not necessarily put up the best hockey because good hockey is not possible under such conditions.

The Kensington All-Stars took a sizable lead in the first game of the Prince County Intermediate finals handing O'Leary an 8 to 1 defeat in O'Leary Rink. The fans seem to be pretty unanimous, however, in the opinion that the O'Leary Maroons gave the local boys a much stiffer argument than the score would indicate. Reports have it that the Westerners are a rugged aggregation of pucksters that never give the opposition a breathing spell, but keep boring in sixty seconds to the minute. Their chances of wiping out the deficit Saturday night in Summerside are not very bright but they will be out to get at least a victory in one of the games and a bang-up game is expected.

Summer Camp For Air Cadets At Summerside

Summer camp for Maritime Provinces Air Cadet Squadrons will be held this year for the second time at the Summerside R.C.A.F. Station. It was learned yesterday from the R.C.A.F. officials, practically the same arrangements and the same syllabus of training will be in effect as last summer when about six hundred cadets trained here. About the same number will attend this year. Last summer there were four two-week camps with five squadrons present at each. The only thing that will be different is that this year the boys will be attending a camp at a station that is functioning in the manner for which it was intended with regular R.C.A.F. training in progress. Last summer the station had only recently been reopened after having been on a "care and maintenance" basis since the end of the war and the Air Cadet training was about the only activity that was taking place. - S.
