R.C.N.A. FORCE OFFICER COMING

Premier Arsenault has just received a letter from Lieut. Janney, officer in charge of recruiting, Royal Canadian Naval Air Force, in which he says that he expects to come to Halifax, shortly, and will visit Prince Edward Island with a view of securing a few men from this Province for the Royal Canadian Naval Air Force. This will give an opportunity for ambitious young men in this Province to join this very popular branch of the service. As there has been little opportunity, heretofore, for young men in this Province to join this service, it is to be hoped they will take advantage of Lt. Janney's visit here to make application. It would be well if they send in their names before hand in order that Lt. Janney may interview them here when he arrives.

Keep It in Your "Jeans"

Pay day again! Wonderful how the weeks fly around. And such pay days, too! Millions and millions more being paid in wage bills than ever before in Canada's history.
And you, Mr. Wage-earner, how much are you saving against the day when wages will drop back to normal? If you don't bank for the future, you may go bankrupt and Canada will suffer.
When you open your envelope, just strip off a five, or a ten, and say: "I'll keep that in my jeans!" If you can manage to save and you don't, you are a slacker. Canada calls on each and every one of her sons and daughters, too who are not fighting, but making big money at home, to Save for Victory. THIS MEANS YOU!

Island Officer Goes to Siberia

(British-American, Chicago.)
Four popular officers of the Chicago British-Canadian Recruiting Mission will leave in the near future to join the Canadian Expeditionary Force in Siberia. These are:
Col. John S. Dennis, C. M. G.
Lieut. Col. F. C. Jamieson.
Major A. Wallace Owen.
Lieut. S. Macdonald.
Col. Dennis, who was decorated last week by King George with the title of Commander of St. Michael and St. George, is to be "specially employed," according to the Ottawa order. He opened the Chicago Mission over a year ago, and when it was successfully launched, took charge of recruiting in other states, his executive work evoking many complimentary comments from the commander-in-chief, Brig. Gen. Sir W. A. White. Before the war, Col. Dennis was assistant to the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Col. Jamieson has been in charge of the New York Mission of late, and has also achieved notable results in securing fresh material for the British and Canadian ranks. He was a lawyer in the Canadian West, and saw service in France early in the war.

Owen Back to fighting.

Major Owen, officer commanding the Western Division, was a worthy successor to Col. Dennis and Col. Jamieson. He also hails from the Prairie Provinces and has seen service in the trenches. After a spell of semi-civilian life, he is eager for more active warfare against the Hun.
Lieut. Macdonald, another veteran of France, has done splendid work as a recruiting aid at the Chicago headquarters.

Gen. Elmsley in Command.

The commander of the Canadian Siberian Force will be Brig. Gen. J. H. Elmsley, D. S. O. He is an intrepid Torontonian, with a long and brilliant record of military service. His brother, J. H. Elmsley, formerly of Chicago, now of Boston, is well known to many readers of this paper.

Other Officers.

The selection of staff officers has been left largely to Gen. Elmsley, whose recommendations have been accepted.

LAST MINUTE FLASHES

(Special to The Guardian)
Anglo-American troops captured more than 5,000 prisoners and have cleared the right bank of the Seltz River, occupying all high ground.

though war clouds still hover over us, we believe that the end for which you were willing to fight or give up your lives, if need be, is about to be realized. And as we civilians read daily of the triumphant advance of Britain and her allies, it should not fail to make us feel that the obligation we owe our brave boys who have gone out from our midst to uphold Liberty and Democracy against the tyranny and barbarism of the Hun, is one that is beyond our power to repay. And, therefore, as a very small mark of our regard and esteem for you boys, we are gathered together for a little sociable time to-night, and we hope that our humble effort of welcome will be received in the spirit in which it is given. Further, it is our sincere desire that in all your future experiences of life your actions, under God's providence, may be stimulated by motives as noble in their nature as those that prompted you to leave home and country to do your bit on the battlefields of Flanders.

Czecho Slovak troops administered a crushing defeat to Bolsheviki forces in Siberia killing 1000 men, capturing three armored trains, eleven locomotives and other booty.

Belgians have passed the Bruges Ghent canal and are making progress towards Aeltre.

A Paris despatch says Allied armies have reached the Dutch frontier. German newspapers say the German reply to Wilson will announce an immediate suspension of submarine warfare and will offer political guarantees.

Two Soldiers Get A Hearty Welcome

Thursday, October 10th, was the date of a very special and enjoyable event, when the members of Prince Albert Lodge, I. O. G. T., Murray Harbour and vicinity, assembled in the Temperance Hall to welcome home Privates Bert McKay and James McLeod from overseas.

After the programme an intermission was granted, and the ladies served lunch. Although war-times call for plain cooking, the delicacies served showed that the ladies had not forgotten their ability in the culinary art. Having satisfied the inner man, the entertainment was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Pte. McKay enlisted early in 1915, did duty for some time at Sydney, N. S., before going overseas, where he suffered the loss of the use of a leg in a motor accident. His brother, Gordon, who enlisted about the same time, made the supreme sacrifice on November 9th, 1917, in the fight for Passchendaele Ridge.

We Three.

Private James McLeod, who is not yet seventeen, went overseas with the 105th Battalion. He also had the misfortune to lose a leg in the battle of Arras.
The two young heroes were warmly received and greeted with hearty cheers and other expressions of welcome, after which the Chief Templar, Roy C. Brehaut, read the following address:
Mr. Bert McKay and Bro. James McLeod.

Dear Friends.—On behalf of Prince Albert Lodge, I. O. G. T., we take this opportunity of welcoming you home, and of expressing to you in a small measure, our appreciation of your noble endeavours in defence of our King and Country. We feel that we owe our freedom and even our lives to you and such as you, who were willing to stand between us and German tyranny. We are happy to know that your motives are in accord with those of our Motherland, when she entered this titanic struggle to avoid dishonoring herself to Belgium and for the emancipation of Europe and other countries from the thralldom of German militarism. We all sincerely regret the injuries you have both sustained in your noble work, but al-
