MESSRS. MURRAY, MCGOUGAN & CO., of Kensington, are at present busily engaged supplying the farmers of the surrounding country with what they require at this season of the year. This firm's business is growing fast and their patrons are not slow to appreciate the efforts of Mr. Murray and Mr. McGougan, to have everything of the right quality and at the right price. Just now they have an excellent lot of haying tools on hand, every farmer knows that unless these articles are of good steel they are never satisfactory and are in a short time worthless. This is the secret of the success the firm meets with in all the goods they keep in stock. They are farmers' sons and know exactly what the farmer requires, and thus keep only what will give every satisfaction. We advise all readers of this item to call and have a look through the firm's stock.

Mr. G. A. Devlin, wife and three children of Detroit, arrived in the City at an early hour yesterday to spend the summer months at Mutch's Hotel, Stanhope. On the way to the Island great inconvenience was experienced in consequence of the washout near Burz. The Engineer's attention to the washout was attracted by the water on the track and he stopped his train only a few feet from where the track was undermined. Owing to the strike the passengers were compelled to make the best of the situation on Friday and dined on bread and butter. On Friday afternoon teams were procured to take the passengers to Gould some 14 miles further on. On the way to Gould it was found that a bridge had been swept away and in consequence the baggage would have to be left behind. Mr. Devlin did not like that phase of the question and insisted that his baggage should be taken over. The horses were thereupon compelled to ford the river and the vehicles pulled over by means of ropes. Mr. Devlin says that the C. P. R. officials did all they could. A few Italians were at work making repairs, but inexperienced help is very unsatisfactory. The people at the point, where the wash out occurred were in sympathy with the strikers.
