RETURNS TO CHARLOTTE TOWN—An accident happened on the train which might have proved fatal on November 7th, 1927. When Mrs. Sims was returning from the West to the land of her birth she met with an accident on board the train at Sackville. She was asked by one of the train men to move into the seat above to allow a couple with two children to have her seat and go to the seat above occupied by a lady in doing so the train started giving a tremendous jolt throwing her backwards on the floor. Mr. A. G. Berry of Sussex, N.B., who was sitting opposite, caught her by the hand when she fell. She is still suffering from injuries received. Mrs. Sims is well and favourably known in Charlottetown and her many friends wish to hear of her speedy recovery. She is the widow of the late lamented Artemus G. Sims, who was one of the first city councillors for Charlottetown and a favourite with all whom he came in contact with. Mr. Sims was the son of the late Thomas Sims, merchant in Charlottetown, who did business on the corner of Queen and Sydney Streets. It is thirty-three years since Mr. Sims passed to the great beyond. Mrs. Sims is a daughter of the late Charles Bins, Attorney-at-law, and granddaughter of the late Charles Bins, barrister of London, England, who practised law in Charlottetown for a number of years. Mrs. Sims is one of those who always tried to do what she could in town and country as well as abroad to forward the cause of Christ. Mrs. Sims wishes through the press to thank those for kindness received when the accident occurred on the train and boat, and also Mr. Shelton for his promptness at the train. He is a courteous and obliging person—a friend.

Year 1927 Has Been Satisfactory

On September 8th, Grand River factory was completely destroyed by fire. Arrangements were made to open Wellington Creamery to take care of the Patrons' cream for the balance of the season. The company have rebuilt and expect to be ready for operation the first of June. The Valley factory was completed and they have a plant that is a credit to the industry. New vats, cheese hoops and several improvements were put in many of the factories.

Lot 16 put in a new cement floor. New Glasgow is putting in a new floor this spring.

Creameries

Our butter, graded by the Dominion graders, showed 98.1 per cent. No. 1, and specials. This is the highest percentage of first grade of any Province in Canada. Prices paid this summer were high. Butter was practically all bought for storage purposes, the prices were in excess of Montreal quotations and for the summer season, prices ranged from three to four cents higher than a year ago. Heavy importation of Australian and New Zealand butter, appears to have demoralized the market this winter, and prices are lower than producers think profitable for winter dairying. Some creameries started buying butter at stores, which was not conducive to quality, on account of the flavors usually found in a store, and which would be absorbed by the cream.

Special legislation was put through at the last session of the House, covering the building and equipment of buying stations. There was a buying station under the new regulations operating at Souris, where the cream was received and shipped to a central point for manufacture. We have three cheese factories also doing the same after the close of the cheese season. In this way, we hope to encourage winter dairying in these localities, where they let their cows dry off when the cheese factories close. We find that where there is winter dairying practiced the patrons send more milk in summer.

(Lists of prize winners for cheese and butter making were then given.)

General.

Rancid flavors appear to be our chief defect. Most of this developed with age and under the same conditions were none too good. Our principal trouble was in hot weather. We had very few physical defects and practically no trouble from gas or fruity flavors. One factory installed a septic tank and it proved very satisfactory. In front of all our "weedy tanks," there is a very unsightly and unsanitary mess from whey being spilled. There is only one way to overcome this; that is by cementing, and proper drainage. We noticed that following a sudden rise in temperature, a large quantity of sour milk is delivered to the factories, which means a serious loss to the patrons, apparently the sudden hot spell caught them unaware.

The care of the milk on the farm means a lot in the profits of dairying. It is estimated that about 10 per cent of the milk is not properly handled on the farms, and if this is mixed with the good milk, the entire lot is contaminated and 90 per cent of the shippers suffer on account of the 10 per cent careless ones.

Our makers are doing very effective work by eliminating the poor quality of milk on the weighstand, but some undeveloped flavors will get by the best makers.

Cream grading is now universal in all the creameries, and was largely instrumental in bringing the quality of our butter to such a high standard.

The average test of cream increased about 5 per cent, owing to a bonus being paid to cream testing over 25 per cent. Rich cream keeps sweet longer, takes less room at the creamery and leaves more skim on the farm. All cream was pasteurized excepting one small plant, but a pasteurizer will be installed there this spring.

The quality of our butter and cheese are now equal to any in Canada. Our quantity of cheese decreased. There is an increase in butter. The cause of the decrease in cheese was a loss of a factory by fire in midsummer, and the change over to the manufacture of butter by another. This combined with the late spring caused the farmers to get a late start shipping milk.

There appears to be renewed interest in dairying at present, as people realize that the market for dairy products is the most stable of any farm product. Winter dairying got a set-back this winter, owing to lower prices, but we hope this will be adjusted shortly, and our producers will find a price that will enable them to feed their milk cows properly and make a profit during the winter months.

The year 1927, has been satisfactory to the dairy industry. Those of us whose hearts and energies are enlisted in the dairy industry, have reason for continued faith in its continuance and prosperity. We are seeing results from organized efforts to enlarge the markets for dairy products. The National Dairy Council is authority for the statement that in 1926, for each dollar spent for food, twenty cents was spent for dairy products. In 1925, it had risen to 24.8 cents, or an increase of 24% in six years, and the possibilities are it will increase still further. Nutrition and health experts claim that, at least 30 cents of every dollar spent for food should be for dairy products. To bring this about, requires high quality products, intelligent co-operation amongst the several divisions of the Dairy Industry. Organized dairy cow improvement, cow testing associations, replacing unprofitable cows with money makers, will enable every one connected with the industry to make a profit without burdening the consumer.

I may say that I received the very best co-operation from all the makers which I appreciate very much.

I wish to thank the Department and the Dairy Association, as well as those private firms, which donated liberal prizes. The incentive afforded by those prizes, was in no small way responsible for our present high standards in quality.

Respectfully submitted, J. A. McDONALD, Dairy Superintendent.
