DOUBLE VICTORY SCORED THE KING AND THE KAISER $300,000 FOR DRAPING

The Conflict Between the Charlottetown and Summerside Hockeyists

RESULTED IN DEFEAT OF CITY TEAMS

The Score Stood as Follows: First Crystals 6, First Abbies 4; Second Crystals 6, Second Abbies 2; Great Enthusiasm Displayed as the Crystals shot their Goals

In Crystal Rink last night the champion Crystal Hockey team in the 3rd game of league series for the championship of the province crossed sticks with the ex-champions Abegweits of Charlottetown and won a brilliant victory. There was a large attendance though the wet weather kept many away. The mild weather did not affect the ice very much which gave opportunity for good playing. The game was called on at 8.10 by referee Roy McLean. After about ten minutes play the Crystals scored one goal and in less than five minutes another, and in the same space of time still another. This was quickly followed by a goal for the Abbies, and soon the second one was put to their credit. Goals were coming fast and it was again the Crystals' turn and they added a fourth. It was quite a hard fight for several minutes and the Abbies counted once more. The bell rang leaving the score at half time, Crystals 4, Abegweits 3. In the second half the play had gone but two minutes when the Crystals made it 5 to 3, but the Abbies soon got another. Now came a tug of war, the Abbies who during the first part of the game appeared to have lost their old time vigor seemed to get renewed strength and the light weight Crystals showed signs of fatigue. It was the hottest period of the hour. Time was flying fast and ultimately it looked threatening for each, neither team had a game to their credit in the series and a few minutes would decide a great deal. The excitement on the promenade increased as wild shouts pealed forth from the spectators. Hotter and hotter it grew until the game got a little rough and the suspense was broken only when two minutes before the end the Crystals multiplied the scores and thus it stood when over. Crystals 6, Abegweits 4. The game ended with long and prolonged cheers for the Crystals.

The second team then occupied the ice and in an instant after the puck was bullied the Abbies shot effectively and in a few minutes scored a second time, but the Crystals rushed the puck and soon made a goal. Just before half time they added another and the score stood 2-2. The second half was played for 15 minutes before a goal was scored and the Crystals took the lead, making a goal. This they quickly duplicated and now they appeared to have the best of the game. Although the Abbies kept the puck pretty well in their opponent's territory shooting fast and often, the almost impregnable barrier of the Crystals kept them from scoring. The Crystals were determined to win and during the last few minutes worked together well and succeeded in scoring two more goals in quick succession. This made the score 6-2 in favor of the Crystals. The tri-color had it, the bell rang and the band played Red, White, and Blue.

The games were over at 10.55. The train from Charlottetown brought about 50. The second Crystals can boast of a capital event and forwards who play well together. Mr. A. C. Saunders the captain of the Crystals having taken ill with a severe cold is confined to his house. Mr. Jas. B. Dempsey refereed the second game. Cheers for the Crystals were kept up until after the train left for Charlottetown.

Pledged to Perpetual Peace at the Dying Queen's Bedside.

AUGUST PROCLAMATION OF EDWARD SEVENTH

Countless Thousands Witness the Ceremony—Lord Salisbury's Absence from Osborne Excites Comment—The Queen's Funeral Will Be of a Military Character—Her Remains to Be Brought Over February 1, the funeral from Windsor on the Following Day.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(Special).—On Saturday, February 2nd, the official military funeral service will be held at the Garrison Church at Cowes.

The funeral of the Queen has been announced to take place at Windsor Castle on February 2nd. The body will be removed from Osborne on February 1st.

By wish of the Queen, the funeral will be military in character. At noon the Royal salute was fired in honor of the King. London was given a glimpse of medieval times by the quaint ceremonies of proclamation of the King by following the ancient precedent.

The entire way between St. James' Palace and the City was lined by troops. BAND INSTRUMENTS DRAPED IN CRAPE. All the officials wore crape and band instruments was draped in crape.

At 9 o'clock the King was proclaimed by William H. Weldon, King At Arms, who headed the procession of the officials of the College At Arms, who were dressed in their quaint and gorgeous costumes.

As the Herald's procession and Lord Mayor's entourage merged at Temple Bar and civic functionaries pledging obedience the cavalcade was allowed to pass.

The ceremonies were witnessed by countless thousands and many important personages were in the processions.

The members of the King's household witnessed the spectacle from Marlborough House and when the Herald finished the proclamations all shouted "God Save the King!"

The ceremonies were conducted with great pomp and blowing of trumpets, etc. At 11 o'clock the King and Duke of York left for Osborne and were warmly cheered by the thousands in the streets.

Warships will assemble on Feb. 1st, forming a double line through which the Royal yacht bearing the body will pass.

Considerable comment is made on Lord Salisbury's absence from the Queen's bedside and it is said to be due to the strained relations between the King and Lord Salisbury.

Before her Majesty's death the Queen secured a promise from the Prince and the Kaiser to do all possible to maintain peace and never to allow England and Germany to clash and to induce all nations to do likewise.

now devolves upon me, I am fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense; and so long as there is breath in my body work for the good and amelioration of my people.

"I have resolved to be known by my name of Edward, which was borne by six of my ancestors. In doing so I do not undervalue the name of Albert which I inherit from my ever to be lamented great and wise father, who by universal consent, I think, deservedly known by the name of Albert the Good; and I desire that his name should stand alone.

"In conclusion I trust to Parliament and the nation to support me in the arduous duties which now devolve upon me by inheritance, and to which I am determined to devote my whole strength during the remainder of my life."

French Canadians Express Deepest Sorrow for the Death of the Queen.

THE INFLUENCE OF HER MAJESTY'S REIGN

YESTERDAY Col. Moore received a telegram, ordering a royal salute of twenty-one guns to be fired from Fort Edward in honor of the accession of His Majesty King Edward VII, and that flags be hoisted to topmast and remain so until sunset. Today, and until after the funeral, flags are to be flown at half-mast. The royal salute was fired yesterday by No. 1 Co., 4th Regt., under command of Captain Bartlett, Lieut. Leigh and Peake, and composed of the following men: Sergt. Major Marley, Sergt. Garham, Bomb. Gillispie, Gunners Prout, Geo, McInnis, Ferguson, Dover, Ritchie, McGregor, Huggan, Hartz, Webster and McDonald. Sergt. Major Jenkins was in attendance, and Sergt-Major Hartz was in charge of the stores.

A VALUED correspondent writes from Hampton as follows: Alas! We did not think as we proudly (and not without cause) hoisted our flag in honor of the opening of our pretty little Hampton Hall that that flag should so soon—and so sadly—be lowered to half mast in deepest sorrow at the sudden death of our beloved Queen. The breeze is gentle to-day, and the flag floats simply in accordance with our inmost feelings of bereavement, and there is a cloud over Hampton to-day, despite the bright sunshine—our Queen is dead! Happy voices, mingled with heart and will, at the close of our concert on Monday evening, in that much loved anthem, "God Save the Queen," not knowing nor thinking that it would be the last time we would be called upon to sing it in connection with our Queen Victoria. For the time being our own bereavements seem a little lighter.

Peace perfect peace, our future all unknown!
Jesus we know and He is on His throne.
Peace perfect peace, death shadowing us and ours!
Jesus has vanquished death and all its powers.
