GOOD FEATURES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

There are a number of features which characterise the present political campaign in Prince Edward Island that we believe our best citizens will commend and approve.

Another commendable feature of the campaign is the courtesy and good feeling which has so far characterised the meetings between opposing candidates.

Still another commendable feature and one new to the present campaign, is the many admirable addresses delivered by the representatives of the Moral and Social Reform League.

ished texts for the well disposed candidates, who have in many cases endorsed and commended the League advocates' plea for honest and pure elections.

Whether it is better or worse to have our federal and provincial Governments both of the same party, or one Liberal and the other Conservative is a debatable matter and much might be said on both sides.

The leaders and the party papers on both sides profess great confidence of victory. They must needs hold to this attitude. To admit defeat in advance would be to court defeat.

So far the boring for coal has not been fruitful of result. At a depth of eleven hundred feet, we are told, no mineral of value has been found.

Here in Prince Edward Island we have eight candidates, each one, as far as The Guardian can learn, confidently expecting to win, but four of them doomed to defeat.

Where are the fire escapes with which our schools were to be equipped before winter? The building season is almost past.

After all, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not elected by acclamation in Quebec East. His majority there was 2,109 at last election.

Five days hence the opposing armies of electors will meet. Each polling booth a little fort. An all day battle beginning in Cape Breton, ending in the far-off Yukon.

We think the e suitings are better quality, better patterns, and better colorings than can be had in any other shop in Charlottetown.

And then when it comes to making them up you know that our suits have the distinctive cut, that gives to the wearer that smart stylish appearance so much designed by good dressers.

If you have never worn a suit made by us, you have never had the satisfaction that only high class tailors can give you.
