

Welcome Baden Powell Campaign

The funds are being raised to extend Scouting in Prince Edward Island for the next five years and not to put on a grand display for the Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, at the time of his visit. To extend Scouting means more organization, more trained leaders, more better camps, literature, correspondence, etc. All of which requires funds. It is interesting to know that the contributions to the Scouts in this province have been very small in the past. Last year $238 were received from associate membership fees, and in 1930, $185. All the other necessary funds were raised by the Scouts themselves by means of Apple Days, concerts, etc. This allowed practically nothing for extension work.

Last year more than one hundred Scouts and Cubs attended camps and this year there will be many more. Quite a few of these boys were unable to pay their way and went free. The remaining paid $1.00 which covered the cost of food only.

So far reports have been received from only five of the ten teams working in Charlottetown. Team 3, with Mr. William Warren as captain, is leading with $108.77, with Mr. Ian Burnett as captain, who has $105 pledged to his credit, and then by Team 10, with Mrs. A. B. Cosh as captain, who has pledged amounting to $95.

So far no reports have been received from Montague, Summerside, Alberton and Bedeque, but they have started on schedule time.

The Provincial Council is being assisted in the campaign by His Excellency the Governor General, who is soliciting from a special list. All funds raised, whether by the special list of the Governor General or by local teams, is to be used for Scouting in Prince Edward Island.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) NEW DENBIGH, Feb. 26.—(C. P. Cable via Reuters)—Another sanguinary encounter with the notorious frontier outlaw Fakir of Alingar was reported to the government today.

A northwest frontier column engaged Fakir and forced him to retreat after a sharp engagement in which the rebellious tribesmen suffered 23 casualties. Of the government force one was killed and two wounded.

The government column then advanced into Agra, which the rebels had been terrorizing, and were "cordially welcomed," said the despatch.

Famed European Criminologist Enters Case

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Feb. 26.—A new and surprising theory that the human legs found wrapped in a brown paper parcel in a railway coach at Waterloo Station belonged to a woman masquerading as a woman was advanced tonight by Sir Bernard Spilsbury, Europe's most publicized criminologist.

The case sleuth of Scotland Yard, called into Britain's newest mystery today, said after examining the gruesome find that there were indications peroxide had been used to whiten the flesh and remove hair from the legs.

He also pointed out that the toes were abnormally cramped and the insteps arched, as if deformed from wearing a woman's shoes.

Scores Liberals For Playing Party Politics

Unemployment Subject Of Heated Debate In Parliament.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—Trouble lies ahead unless the government solve unemployment in Canada, James S. Woodsworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation warned in the House of Commons today.

"Can we expect these people to remain loyal and law-abiding," asked the leader, grey-haired third party leader as he pictured distress among the unemployed, the lost hopes and shattered ambitions. Present-day conditions could not continue another two or three years, he warned the government, insisting every man and woman among the jobless had a claim "for adequate maintenance" in lieu of work.

Liberal Attitude

The Liberal platform of 1919 contained clauses pledging unemployment insurance, the eight-hour day and other advanced social measures. Since 1919 the Liberals had been nine years in office and boasted of the prosperity of those years and of the co-operation it enjoyed from the provinces, and yet nothing had been done to give effect to the platform.

Mr. Rinfret, a former mayor of Montreal, said the Federal Government cut down its relief payments to Quebec from $1,000,000 to $400,000 a month. This forced the province and municipalities to carry the extra load but when Premier L. A. Taschereau offered to split the costs 50-50 with Ottawa it was turned down.

"The policy of public works of the government in my city (Montreal) has been a policy of excavations," said Mr. Rinfret. A huge excavation had been made for the Canadian National Railways terminal and work stopped.

It would be just as reasonable to blame Mr. Rinfret as a former mayor for the unemployment in that city as to blame the Federal Government, said T. L. Church (Cons. Toronto East). He strongly deprecated considering the problem from a party angle when so much disorganizing and suffering was involved. Yet the Liberal party in making the present move showed nothing but party zeal.

Economic Liberalism With Its Campaigns For "Free Trade and Semi-Free Trade," Said Mr. Church, Must Bear a Large Share of Responsibility For the Present Unemployment.

Robert MacKenzie (Lib. Assiniboia) blamed the government's fiscal policies for distress. While unemployment increased trade fell off and the country never would recover its feet until people were put to work.

Ever since the high tariffs were erected in 1930, unemployment had been gaining and trade falling, said Mr. MacKenzie.

Laid Groundwork

The Government, said Dr. Morand, had laid the groundwork for the present conditions and would continue until the job was finished. A front-bench Liberal, Hon. Fernand Rinfret, former state secretary, said his party would co-operate with the government but could not do so long as the administration was like a doctor who promised to cure a patient a year hence if the patient lived that long.

It was time the people were made aware of the true state of unemployment, said Ross W. Gray (Lib. Lambton West). The government hoped for something from the eight-hour day and the 48-hour week. Yet in the city of Sarnia where employment was falling forward and large numbers had the eight-hour day in operation the number of unemployed was steadily increasing. It was United Farmers of Manitoba, a regular in 1934 than in 1935.

Why, asked Col. H. A. Mullens (Cons. Marquette) the United Farmers of Manitoba ask the abolition of relief camps so they could secure cheap labor?

"I cannot accept any responsibility for resolutions passed by the Tories Mr. Woodsworth."

There were some lazy, shiftless misfits among the unemployed, continued the C. C. F. leader, "but the great majority of the unemployed are there because there are no jobs available."

Mr. Morand said Mr. MacKenzie's proposals were interesting particularly as they were steady and in the absence of and without a word of support from Liberal Leader MacKenzie.

Toronto Gunmen Arrested

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, Feb. 26.—Three men, one of them out on $15,000 bail on two charges of robbery, were arrested here today soon after the Pope and Samson Avenue branch of the Imperial Bank was robbed of between $200 and $450 by two armed gunmen.

The trio, George Smith, George Leese, 30, and Arthur Connelly, 40, were charged with robbery while armed.

Basil B. Vale, manager of the branch, was shot in the thigh and hand but not seriously injured when the robbers fired four shots at him after he whipped a revolver from a cash drawer. Vale shot twice, neither shot hitting the bandits. After being treated by a physician, he was taken to hospital.

She will speak in various Nova Scotia towns and may possibly extend her tour through Canada to the Pacific Coast.

Captain J. C. Kelly, skipper of the R. C. M. P. patrol boat Acadia, was called to the stand and testified to boarding the Gertrude Jean in the Bay of Fundy in 1933. There were three men on board not belonging to the crew, but one of them a man named Alby Mason and another named Heister.

HEAVY SNOW FALL

Prince Edward Island was blanketed by snow yesterday as rail workers struggled hard to keep tracks cleared and service unimpeded. The Borden-Charlottetown express was delayed two and a half hours owing to late connections on the mainland. About six inches of snow fell in Charlottetown and motor vehicle traffic proceeded with difficulty on city streets. The regular Canadian Airways passenger plane scheduled to hop-off from Hillsboro River, Charlottetown, for Summerside and Moncton at 12:45 o'clock noon was unable to get away until 3 o'clock and was forced to turn back near Victoria. P. E. I. Pilot Walter Fowler found ice coating thickly on the wings. Yesterday's air mail will be brought over early this morning if flying conditions are favorable.

King And Queen To Rest Prior To Celebrations

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) EASTBOURNE, England, Feb. 26.—(C. P. Cable)—The King and Queen, after a drive from London during which they were constantly greeted by cheering crowds, were at the residence of the Duke of Devonshire tonight, prepared for a rest before the Silver Jubilee celebrations.

Along the whole route the Royal cars encountered cheering throngs of spectators as they travelled in springlike weather and another throng was awaiting at the gates of Compton Lodge, the old mansion on the estate of the former Governor-General of Canada at which they are expected to spend a quiet stay of at least a month.

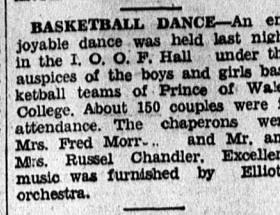

There was no official reception however and Eastbourne will observe their Majesties' wishes that they be assured all possible privacy. The King however will continue to transact state business here and may receive some official visitors, while Queen Mary will travel to London occasionally to fulfill official engagements.

As far as the first objection was concerned, Mr. Edwards was convinced the courts were ready at all times to give reasonable and proper recognition to changes which take place in the development of the country, in the development of its economic and national problems.

"If the purpose be to enable this Parliament to deal with matters which perhaps in former days were regarded as purely provincial, but which have by reason of recent experiences become national in scope," said the deputy, "I would anticipate a very careful consideration on the part of the courts to that question, and I would expect to see supported in the view that anything which can be shown to be national in scope will be held to belong to this Parliament."

Amendment To Insurance Act Opposed

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—Canadian insurance companies were anxious to remain under the jurisdiction of the federal department of insurance, Hon. Wesley W. Rowell told the House committee on banking and commerce today. Representing Canadian companies, he opposed an amendment to the Insurance Act proposed by C. G. Coote, (U.P.A. Macleod) on the ground the change might make the act unconstitutional.

Mr. Coote was seeking to limit the interest rate life insurance companies could charge on loans to policy holders to four percent. The usual rate now was six percent. It was explained. He contended that these loans were secured absolutely by money the companies had already paid in and therefore the rate could not be higher than on well-secured Government bonds.

Further, the bill proposed to regulate the manner in which companies should deal with policies in which the insured had defaulted on premiums. In the old act there had been a clause to prevent insurance companies from ending the policies as soon as a premium was in default.

Should Canada decide to seek authority to amend the constitution, the method of procedure would present a delicate problem. Whether it should be that by plebiscite a certain stated majority vote would prevail, or that the provinces should vote and a certain majority of them should carry the decision was something for statesmanship, said Mr. Edwards. He would not venture an opinion.
