ABANDON HOPE OF RESCUING TRAPPED MEN

Vast Volume Of Water Will Be Sent Skyward By Atomic Bomb Explosion

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ABOARD THE U.S.S. APPALACHIAN, July 19—One spectre of the atomic bomb, whether it can flood a coastal city when exploded underwater in a harbor, will be settled Thursday (Wednesday, Canadian time) at Bikini.

This devastation of a city by water was one of the first scientific predictions laid before President Roosevelt on a day in 1939 when he made the decision to back the atomic bomb.

There still is uncertainty. The highest wave prediction, by Vice Admiral William H.P. Blandy who commands the task force, is 100 feet. But this means from trough to crest, and a wave that looms only 50 feet high as it starts shoreward from the centre of the burst.

Admiral Blandy's figure at three miles from this centre is only 10 feet high. No one here names a prediction on how wide this 10-foot wave will be. If it should be a quarter of a mile wide that would mean disaster in low areas.

On the bright side is the fact that the nuclear fission bomb wave is concentric. It starts in only a small circle. That may mean not enough volume of water to do much damage.

More unpredictable, and more fearful, are the possible effects of the expected water column. By official prediction, the explosion will push a tremendous quantity of water to one side and down to the bottom of the lagoon.

The water then will rush together from all sides to fill this hole. The smack of closing the hole will, by official predictions, send skyward a vast volume of water. Extreme predictions are two miles.

Probably, a more sensible prediction is only 1,000 to 2,000 feet. But if a 2,000-foot column of solid or nearly solid water drops down with a big splash the results are quite unpredictable.

Because water is virtually not compressible, it acts like a hard projectile when shot at high velocity, as it may be shot by the splash of a falling column.

In the recent war, ships had flight decks bent by the water thrown by bombs or torpedoes. Gun galleries were ruined by water hitting like a sledgehammer.

It appears certain that the underwater nuclear fission bomb will move more water farther and faster than water has ever moved before.

Holds Out Hope For Austria And Germany

WASHINGTON, July 19 —(AP)—Senator Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) held out hope today to Germany and Austria for a "real and enduring peace" in which their people will have the opportunity "to rebuild their shattered fortunes and to restore their economy."

The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee told the Senate in a review of the Paris conference that while "the council of foreign ministers has travelled a hard road," the American delegation "this time . . . did not come home empty-handed" from the negotiations with Britain, Russia and France.

Conceding that the Paris statesmen thus far have merely skirted the edges of Europe's peace problem," Mr. Connally declared that the calling of a 21-power peace conference for July 29 on five proposed treaties was an "outstanding achievement."

The United States will oppose there and elsewhere," he said, any "cruel and brutal terms of peace" but will insist upon "terms that shall mean real and enduring peace and the extirpation of armed aggression."

Concerning the Austrian and German problems to be settled later, Mr. Connally said:

"We want the peoples even of the enemy states to have an opportunity to rebuild their shattered fortunes and to restore their economy. We want to take arms out of their hands and replace them with implements and tools of industry and agriculture.

"We want to drive from their minds dreams of aggression and conquest and turn them to the adoption of free and democratic institutions and to respect for the rights of other nations and their peoples."

The statement was regarded as indicating that American leaders are not seeking for the principal Axis enemies the "hard" peace under which some persons have urged that these countries be reduced the status of almost purely agricultural states.

Cigar Prices Up Two More Cents

MONTREAL, July 19 — (CP) — Canadian cigar-smokers who puff their way through 200,000,000 cigars a year are paying more now for the privilege—or luxury—but manufacturers look for no decrease in consumption.

Price increases, averaging in the neighborhood of two cents, have been in effect during the past week or so as new stocks moved from manufacturers to dealers. The increases followed changes in taxation methods announced in Finance Minister Ilsley's budget address June 27.

A spokesman for the cigar-making industry said today that the former six-cent cigar, now two for 15 cents, is by far the most popular cigar. Seventy per cent of Canada's cigar smokers are in this class.

Under the price changes the 16-cent cigar now sells for 18 cents or two for 35 cents; the 21-center is 23 cents, and the three-for-fifty variety is 20 cents straight.

If you want to go real ritzy your former $1.02 variety, something of a novelty in itself, will cost you $1.10.

Cigar smoking has increased since the war started except in 1944, the last year for which Government figures are available. In 1939 it was close to 128,000,000 annually. In 1943 it had jumped to well over 204,000,000, but fell off to 196,000,000 in 1944.

Sentenced To Hang For "Mercy Deaths"

(By The Associated Press)

VIENNA, July 19 — Dr. Ernest Illing, 42, a psychiatrist, pleaded for mercy today after an Austrian court sentenced him to hang for murder in the deaths of 250 mentally or physically handicapped children in a provincial hospital.

Defence lawyers argued that "mercy deaths" were ordered by Hitler while Austria was a part of Germany and that the doctors were bound to carry out his program.

DEFEAT PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, July 19—(AP)—The Senate today defeated a proposal to submit to the states a constitutional amendment granting women equal rights "under the law."

Says Immediate Release Of Zionist Leaders Necessary For Palestine Settlement

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON, July 19—Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Federation, declared today the Palestine situation can only be settled by the immediate release of Zionist leaders and other detainees, and by opening the doors of the Holy Land to 100,000 European Jewish refugees.

In a statement made public by the Jewish agency, Dr. Weizmann said tension is "severe" in the Jewish community of Palestine and that a positive solution to the controversial situation must be hastened.

The Zionist leader, who arrived by air from Palestine Thursday, will not seek an interview with Prime Minister Attlee or Colonial Secretary George Hall as long as Jewish leaders are detained, a spokesman said.

With the end of the hunger strikes in the prison camps of Palestine and of a general strike for one day the scene of the Holy Land's problems shifted to London.

The Government in Jerusalem, meanwhile, issued a statement saying that "everything is being done to speed up the release of more than 1,000 prisoners still held for identification."

Another Jerusalem Government announcement took pains to deny a report published in London that British reinforcements were proceeding to Palestine. Origin of the report was not made clear.

Government spokesmen in Jerusalem said any action was currently suspended in view of the London visit of Lt.-Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, High Commissioner for Palestine. Sir Alan will report personally to the British cabinet on public order in Palestine.

Deliberations of British and American negotiators, discussing long-term policy involved in implementation of the Anglo-American report on Palestine, proceeded meanwhile under a continuing news blackout.

Churchill Sees Threat To Freedom Of Press

LONDON, July 19—(CP) —Winston Churchill and Attorney General Sir Hartley Shawcross swapped verbal blows tonight over a proposed government investigation into the ownership of British newspapers and newspaper chains.

The leader for the Conservative opposition, in a by-election rally speech at Bexley, said the Labor Government was "already reaching out their hands against the freedom of the press."

Mr. Churchill charged that the Government leaders "do not like to be criticized. I am for free speech and think that everyone should say what they like. I do not think our masters and rulers ought to be so thin-skinned as they are."

Sir Hartley, supporting the investigation proposed by the National Union of Journalists, in a similar speech at Bexley, assailed what he called "the campaign of calumny and misrepresentation which the Tory party and the Tory stooge press have been directing against the Labor Government."

"All that we can do is make sure that everybody understands just how the press is organized, that everybody realizes that behind many of the great national newspapers and an increasing number of the provincials there is merely a handful of men who represent nobody but themselves, who are unable or unwilling to express their views publicly or personally in the legislature, but who use their newspapers as a vehicle of propaganda to foist their views upon the public."

No decision has been announced by the Government on the holding of an investigation.

2,000 Men Working In Hamilton Plant

BY TIM DICKSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HAMILTON, Ont., July 19 — (CP)— The United Steelworkers of America (C. I. O.) tonight ordered its pickets at the Hamilton works of the Steel Company of Canada not to engage in scuffles or clashes with anyone unless they were attacked.

Officials of the union, which called a strike Monday against Canada's three basic steel plants said the order was intended to prevent repetition of incidents similar to last night when 24 men who attempted to leave the plant by climbing over or crawling under the high wire fences were roughed up" and sent back into the plant. A few union men suffered bruises in these encounters.

Police said the disturbance was slight and said they believed the men from inside the plant may have been trying to get out to visit their families.

The company says more than 2,000 men are at work in the plant, out of its normal working force of about 4,800. The union estimates the force at 1,200.

Considerable bitterness has arisen between the men in the mills and the men on the picket lines and several families of steelworkers who stayed at their jobs have reported cases of insults and other abuse being directed at them.

There are indications that the Hamilton situation is becoming a war of nerves.

E.J. Stretton, chief of the Steico police, said: 'Last night a gang of strikers came over the company's fence along the east side, ripped wiring off some of the parked cars and put sand in their gas tanks."

Said Eamon Park, publicity director in Hamilton for the union: "Company statements that unionists attacked parked cars are without foundation. As a matter of record, the cars of all strike-breakers are kept inside the plant gates, on company property. The gates and the fence are patrolled by armed gaurds under the direction of an ex-R. C. M. P. official."

"The company statements are part of a campaign of lies aimed at getting military intervention in the strike which they cannot win without armed force."

Prime Minister King Leaves For Paris Peace Conference

HALIFAX, July 19 — (CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King embarked on the liner Georgic tonight bound for the Paris peace conference which he hoped would "be the beginning of a series which will bring about the final peace."

Mr. King arrived here on the first Montreal-Halifax boat train since the pre-war years.

In a brief press conference aboard ship he expressed himself as "sorry to leave Parliament at the present time" but he said the country's domestic problems were "settling themselves pretty well."

Mr. King said he was confident the Paris conference would be successful. He added that further conferences concerning Germany and Japan would follow but he could not say when these would be held.

He also expressed himself as "very glad personally to have a chance of getting first-hand information on the situation in Germany." He intended to talk with Allied leaders in Berlin and visit the European battlefields after the conference.

"It's been a year of conferences," Mr. King said, "and it's been hard for either government ministers or officials to remain at home."

He expected Health Minister Claxton to join him in London next Saturday while Finance Minister Ilsley would be in Geneva next week discussing Canada's financial obligations to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration. Justice Minister St. Laurent will be acting Prime Minister.

Mr. King's private car was attached to the first of two special trains bringing 1,000 passengers who embarked on the Georgic under what steamship officials described as "austerity conditions."

The liner was a burned-out shell three years ago when Axis bombers caught her in the eastern Mediterranean. The Royal Navy repaired her to serve as a troopship.

Mr. King had the cabin normally occupied by the officer commanding troops when the ship was used as a transport but most of the passengers were accommodated in dormitories for 15-18 occupants.

Capt. T. A. Fraser, with whom Mr. King posed for newspaper photographers, said he hoped to reach Liverpool Friday. Mr. King expected to be in London Saturday and in Paris next Monday in time for the opening of the conference.

To Limit Sale Of Penicillin

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, July 19—The Commons today gave third reading to a bill giving the health department authority to limit the sale of penicillin to persons using it under doctors' orders.

Health Minister Claxton said the department now did not have such authority although the United Kingdom and United States departments had.

Mr. Claxton said penicillin was not injurious in itself but it might be used in an injurious way by a person not under a doctor's care, for instance, it might be used improperly by a person in an effort to cure gonorrhoea or syphillis. Used the wrong way, it might prevent the proper use of penicillin from affecting a cure.

It might be necessary to use similar authority over subsidia drugs. The bill would allow passage of regulations protecting the public respecting the sale of any drug.

The present act limited the department's authority to a substance which might be injurious to health. This was not sufficient protection inasmuch as new drugs were being discovered which, until their full effect is known over a period of time might or might not prove to be injurious to health when used indiscriminately.

GEN. DE GAULLE
Former head of the French Government, now in retirement. His enemies, the Communists, claim he has dictatorial aspirations.

Speculate On Future Of Gen. de Gaulle

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PARIS, July 19—In Paris cafes these warm summer days Frenchmen argue one of the most intriguing political questions in France —whether or not Gen. Charles de Gaulle will return to public life—and there are many who are convinced he will.

The General's present retirement is only temporary, they say as they sip their aperitif. He will serve France again in a high capacity when the right time comes. The General's abdicaton from the Premiership was only a phase in his political career.

Nobody, however, expects Gen. de Gaulle to emerge from his self-imposed retirement for some time. His come-back, if one is made, would be a long-range proposition depending on many factors.

While he has many supporters in France even when out of office, he also has many enemies who bitterly oppose his return to politics. They say he has dictatorial aspirations.

His surest friends are largely in the Mouvement Republicain Populaire, the party of the present Premier, Georges Bidault, and while the Socialists have supported him in the past they have become somewhat lukewarm in their attitude towards him recently.

The Communists are the General's fiercest enemies and blast at him at every opportunity.

There are two developments which might bring him again into public life.

1. The present constituent assembly probably by the fall will have a new constitution drafted and ready for presentation to the electorate in a referendum. If this constitution is in line with the General's point of view in respect to the office of president, there seems to be a strong possibility even now that he would be chosen president of France. This view would be strengthened if the M. R. P. made further gains in the general election which will follow the referendum.

2. A crisis which shook France to her foundations would probably result in popular demands for General de Gaulle's return. There are prospects of grave economic difficulties ahead.

He likes his old war-time role of the "Saviour of France" and it would suit his dramatic sense to emerge from retirement at such a time.

Trappist Novitiate Destroyed By Fire

MISTASSINI, Que., July 19—(CP)—The Trappist novitiate in this village 10 miles north of Lake St. John was destroyed by fire early today. The novitiate staff, aided by the fire brigade from nearby Dolbeau, fought the flames in vain for nearly five hours. With the students on holiday, the building was virtually deserted when the fire started and there were no injuries. Damage was estimated at more than $40,000.

Britain Will Cater To Foreign Tourists

LONDON, July 19— (CP) — Britain proposes to open her doors to foreign tourists next year, and hopes to do business with them amounting ultimately to £100,000,000 ($400,000,000) annually, Sir Hartley Shawcross has told the British Travel Association.

Rather than cater almost exclusively for wealthy visitors requiring luxury accommodation "we shall have to provide facilities competing with those obtainable on the continent for visitors with a modest purse," the attorney general said.

Four Buried At Beattie Mine

Bodies Interred After Cave-in 900 Feet Below Surface.

DUPARQUET, Que., July 19—(CP)—Four men were trapped about 900 feet below ground today by a rush of clay at the Beattie Gold Mine here and hope of rescuing them alive was abandoned.

Harry McGowan, manager of the mine, said there was little hope of recovering the bodies of the men for at least a month. They were buried beneath approximately 180 feet of clay.

The men were trapped by the slide as they were coming up the "skip" (elevator) between the sixth and fifth level of the mine.

Shifts consisting of 15 men each were set to work immediately to remove the earth in order to retrieve the bodies.

The men, all of this northwestern Quebec municipality, were:

Paul Matish, shift boss, a widower without dependents.

Scott Clark, 24, married with a wife and child.

John Hemovic, 45, unmarried.

Joseph Bedard, 24, unmarried.

Sixteen men on the mine shift had been at work, but 12 men engaged on higher levels were able to get out of the mine ahead of the clay slide.

However, Paul Matish, the shift boss who was working on the fifth level, got into the "skip" and descended to the level below in an effort to warn the three other victims. The clay poured into the shaft as the four men were coming up in the "skip."

It was estimated that they were about 50 feet above the sixth level which is 900 feet underground, when the clay hit the "skip".

Cause of the slide was not known immediately.

Found Not Guilty Of Manslaughter

Kenneth Joseph MacDonald, Soufis, was found "not guilty" of manslaughter by a petit jury at Georgetown yesterday afternoon.

Mr. H. F. MacPhee, K.C., addressed the jury for the defense in the morning and was followed at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by Attorney-General F. A. Large for the Crown. After the charge by Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, which lasted for one hour and 25 minutes, the jury retired. They were out an hour before returning with the verdict.

The only evidence submitted for the defense was that of the accused.

The charge arose as a result of the death of three and a half-year-old Elaine Cheverie of Souris who the Crown charged was struck in August, 1943, by a car operated by MacDonald. Owing to the accused having been absent with the Armed Forces, no action could be taken until recently.

Judgment Reserved By Privy Council

(By Norman Cribbens, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, July 19—(CP Cable)—Canadian and British lawyers filed solemnly out of the oak-panelled Privy Council chamber in the House of Lords today after judgment was reserved by the council on arguments for and against the Canadian Government's authority to deport Japanese.

The lawyers in a four-day session heard an appeal against a Supreme Court of Canada ruling that the Canadian Government has the power to deport undesirable Japanese nationals and "male adult persons of Japanese origin desiring to go to Japan."

F. A. Brewin, youthful Toronto lawyer, appeared in the first 2 1-2 days of the hearing on behalf of the Saskatchewan Government and the co-operative committee on Japanese Canadians, which appealed the Supreme Court ruling. Gordon Wismer of Vancouver, Attorney-General of British Columbia, closed the case for the Attorney-General of Canada today with the argument that orders-in-council authorizing deportation could be put into effect "even if certain sections (of the orders) were considered beyond the power of Canada."

Mr. Wismer said that because the Canadian Government considered Japanese might be disloyal to Canada in wartime they "deported" them from strategic coastal districts into other parts of the Dominion.

Mr. Wismer maintained that the Canadian Government had power to deport from coastal districts all Japanese regardless of the different categories to which they may have belonged.

LONDON — (CP) — Walter Headley, D.S.O., K.C., has retired after 20 years as Metropolitan police magistrate at Marylebone.

P.E.I. Reported "Undecided" Re Ottawa Proposals

OTTAWA, July 19 — (CP)—Premier Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia and some of his colleagues are expected in Ottawa this week end to discuss with Finance Minister Ilsley and his officials the terms of the Dominion-Provincial agreements as proposed in the budget speech. If Mr. Ilsley has left on his holidays Defence Minister Abbott will be acting Finance Minister.

Saskatchewan government members will be here on Monday, New Brunswick next Wednesday and Manitoba on July 29.

Official sources here declined to say if all the provinces who have appointments with the Minister had accepted the budget proposals. Any announcement should come from the Provincial governments.

As the budget proposals gave each province the option of accepting or refusing the Dominion's offer, the Finance Minister and his officials will deal with each Province separately.

Unofficial sources here say Manitoba, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick have accepted the proposals in principle and Nova Scotia is prepared to talk matters over. Prince Edward Island is undecided.

No step has been taken by Quebec, Ontario or British Columbia it is learned.
