The Guardian's correspondent at the eastern part of the Province writes: A vast amount of sickness prevails here at present; the gripe gets the credit or the blame, but it is largely owing to the changeable weather.—Laughlan J. McDonald died recently, leaving two daughters.—Mrs. Albert, Steele, Baltic, has also passed away, leaving an adopted daughter, Minnie; her husband and son having predeceased her by a few years.—Mrs. Ronald McDonald, Greenvale, has also joined the great majority, leaving a sorrowing husband, three sons and two daughters.—Jason A. Ching, Lester L. Jarvis and Robert Bruce have returned from the lumber woods of Maine. Want of snow there accounts for the shortness of the trip. A number of our eastern boys are working there this winter.—A southerly gale of unusual violence, accompanied by snow, prevailed here on Saturday. A part of the roof of Alex. Scott's barn and a shed owned by John A. Bruce are the damages reported so far.
