National Immunization Week

National Immunization Week comes again this year early in the fall—September 30 to October 6. During this week the Health League of Canada cooperates with the health authorities throughout the Dominion in calling special attention to the need for protecting children against the communicable diseases—notably whooping cough, diphtheria, smallpox and scarlet fever.

Vaccination has been so effective in Canada that today a case of smallpox is rare. But eternal vigilance is the price of security and failure to vaccinate would mean more smallpox. Diphtheria has disappeared in some parts of Canada and in others the rate is still disgracefully high. Whooping cough, largely preventable, causes the most deaths among contagious diseases of early childhood. There were 333 deaths from this cause last year.

Infection by the serious communicable diseases of childhood results largely from failure to immunize. Facilities to immunize every child in the Dominion are available if only parents would take advantage of them. Forty thousand cases annually of scarlet fever, diphtheria and whooping cough alone mean many unnecessary deaths and many children damaged for life by unnecessary disease.

National Immunization Week is an effort to call attention to the need for protecting children by utilizing all publicity methods in a co-ordinated and intensive fashion which would be impossible to maintain throughout the year. This does not mean that efforts to get children immunized should cease at the close of National Immunization Week. This is an all-year job and an every day duty for health officers, physicians and nurses throughout the Dominion. This particular effort is a means of vigorous reminder to parents especially, of an important obligation which, assumed generally, would save many lives now sacrificed because of apathy and indifference.

ELLEN'S DIARY

By an Island Farmer's Wife

monial intent, which to my match-making mind is something of a pity. He came in to "kayley" with Angus and me. We talked about mostly of the harvest weather and the grain crop; of the potato situation—crop and price prospects; of births "they take a long time before they are much help (I found it the very opposite, it was really no time). We spoke of a death and he told us of a farmhouse where a faithful dog mourned when the cortege bearing the body of his master left the yard. We touched on the subject of marriage "It's all a gamble, you never know what you're getting," and how was I to try to explain to him that at the time neither party concerned ever care. We spoke of religion for he has an admirable philosophy of his own. "Heaven will be a mighty queer place if only your Church people or mine are there—it'll be fairly empty." And the three of us lunched around the kitchen table. We discussed the recent arrest of some undesirable "aliens" visitors to the Islands, and I suspect only by circumstances. "Well, soon be as noted for crime as the big cities." As I remarked, a prowling bank robber or two will not detract any from the glory of our Autumn woodlands and their capture will perhaps serve to teach a young generation who have grown up in the instability of war time that crime never pays.

And now James and I are alone—back to old times again. He is in his old arm chair smoke wreaths rising in miniature clouds above him. "Isn't it great, Ellen," he says presently "that now there's no disturbing war news to listen to?" He is remembering back to nights when the late news was coming in and silence was in the kitchen. He sighs for those he once knew, then rises to lay aside his pipe. "Well let's go, Ellen, if we make an extra effort, we may finish the threshing in the morning."

Until tomorrow — Diary—Good-night.

POLICE COURT—Yesterday at the Police Court a drunk and incapable was fined $10 and costs or 20 days. Two men charged under the Excise Act had their cases adjourned until Saturday the 22nd and Monday the 24th respectively.

FUNERAL SERVICES—The funeral of Mrs. Patrick Murphy was held yesterday morning from Frank Hennessey's Funeral Home to St. Dunstan's Basilica where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McCardle, who also conducted service at the grave. The pall bearers were Messrs John Callaghan, Allan McDonald, Cyrus Vessey, Albert Kelly, John McCarville and Eugene Kelly.

MARSHFIELD RED CROSS—A very enjoyable evening was spent by the ladies of the Marshfield Red Cross Society when they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dennis at their new home in East Royalty on Sept. 18. Mrs. Dennis, who has been a valued member of this society during the war, was presented with a small token of appreciation by Miss Mae Warren, while Mrs. Rupert Godfrey, in her usual capable manner, made a few well chosen remarks. The rest of the evening was passed in playing games and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

STURGEON ANNIVERSARY—Successful Sixty Third Anniversary Services were held at the Sturgeon United Church on Sunday. The church was beautiful with flowers and large congregations were present. The special preachers, the Rev. A. S. Adams and the Rev. Dr. A. D. MacKenzie both gave vital messages, and much enjoyed musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Arthur Jenkins, Mrs. James Llewellyn and Mrs. Lauri Madsen. Generous offerings were given towards the fund for the renovation of the church. Sincere thanks are extended to all who in any way assisted.

Personals

Rev. P. McQuaid who spent three years overseas, is at present visiting in the city. His parish is LeDuce, Quebec.

WELL KNOWN LADY INJURED IN ACCIDENT

(Oakland Maple Leaf)
 Mrs. Carolyn F. McKinnon, pioneer resident of Tiburon and more recently a resident of Sausalito, Marin County, California, was a patient at the Ross General Hospital for several weeks following injuries received in a fall while crossing a street in San Francisco. After emergency treatment she was removed to Ross Hospital. To be hospitalized is a new experience for Mrs. McKinnon, who has been blessed with good health and free from accidents all her life. Her friends hope for her speedy and complete recovery. Mrs. McKinnon is well known to the readers of The Maple Leaf, as she has contributed on several occasions to its pages in prose and poetry. Mrs. McKinnon has been active during the past few years in Red Cross and other war work in Marin County, across the Bay from San Francisco.

When the accident happened, Mrs. McKinnon was on her way to visit Mrs. John S. Rice, Guerrero street, who had been ill for some time. These ladies have been close friends for many years, and now that they are both recovering from their illnesses, we may expect visits to be resumed as in former years. In their girlhood days Mrs. McKinnon was known as Miss Carrie Kinross of Newport, Rhode Island, and Mrs. Rice as Miss Manning, New Zealand, P.E. Island.

WARWORKER BEAUTY MAY ENTER MOVIES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20 — (CP) — Top honors in a beauty contest at MacDonald Aircraft plant here last summer followed by publication of her picture in Canadian newspapers set off a chain of events that might lead to a Hollywood movie role for Mrs. Roy Diell of Winnipeg.

Mrs. Diell, formerly Evelyn Sorenson, was married last October, the day after she was chosen pin-up girl by the men of H.M.C.S. St. Francis at Cornwallis, N.S., and H.M.C.S. Kenora at London, Ont. She received letters from every one of the 1,200 sailors.

Last winter crew members of the English ship H.M.S. Banbara sent her picture to Frank Ross productions in Hollywood as their choice in a contest to find the girl to play Salome in The Robe.

The winner will be decided sometime in September and to date Evelyn has received encouraging letters about her chances from the publicity manager of Frank Ross productions.

NO STAINS

When peeling fruit, let the peelings fall into a newspaper, which may be wrapped up when finished, and put directly into the garbage pail. When fruit is peeled into the sink it means stains on the enamel, and consequent roughness.

A process of using paper to make it usable for writing and printing, discovered early in the 19th century and used without substantial change for 120 years, employed water insoluble resins, gums, and caseins in alkaline solvents.

Wedding anniversaries: First year, paper; second year, cotton; third year, leather; fifth year, wood; seventh year, wool; ninth year, tin; twelfth year, silk; or linen; fifteenth year, crystal; twentieth year, china; twenty-fifth year, gold; seventy-fifth year, diamond.

When buying a new saucepan, be certain it is the kind with an indentation on each side for pouring. The round saucepan without this little place for pouring can be most irritating at times.
