UPHOLSTERY FASHIONS SHOES
NEW YORK —Gold-shot uphol- stery fabrics that shed water and won't tarnish are being made up today into some of the fanciest shoes of the season.
The gold-coated aluminum thread, which is familiar as a glow in cotton and woolen dress goods, is woven with eight dark and nas- tel colors for shoe- or sofa- purposes.
There's a toe exposure that can't be stubbed, and a closed heel that's really open.
The toe trick is accomplished with a wall around the front of the shoe. Behind the fence there's nothing but nylon and nail polish, and a curved strap winding up the instep. It's shown on a super- high pump with a 1-3/4-inch curved Louis heel. The same wall on a low wedgie is connected to the heel with a pair of straps.
The heel is a compromise be- tween fashion, which wants the heel covered, and comfort, which some women insist came in with the sling pump. The heel is cov- ered, stiff, but with snug-fitting, unstiffened fabric which isn't sewed to the sole. It gives with the step.
Back's Built High
Backs are built high in many of the shoes, most often they're curved back like a soft collar at the top.
The combination of gold with color — black, brown, green, yellow, coral, gray, purple and gold — may be some others—looks like a good mutation for fall of the apparent summer craze for all-gold foot- wear.
