THE FARMER

Between the rising and the setting sun he stands, A silhouette against a background sky. He holds the pulse of ages in his hands, He times the heart-beats of eternity. He cradles with his grain the lives of men; The sinews and the muscles and the thought Which guide the court, the camp, the mart, the pen, By him are wrought. Upon the plough he leans to turn the sod; He feels the rushing seasons by him pass. He rears a nation with that earthy clod, Upholds a cycle with that spear of grass. The morning stars sing out to him alone, The gold of noonday aureoles his head, Beneath his touch the barrenness of stane Becometh bread. Thus, ventured by the twilight and the dawn, The heart of nature opens to his eyes, The winds of heaven in his path have strewn The hidden seeds of holy mysteries. The snail his scepter and his throne the plough, He standeth there, too free for posturing, The royal drops of sweat upon his brow Methodist churches, congregations and choirs uniting.

HOT SPRINGS SWEPT BY FIRE

HOT SPRINGS, Arkansas, Sept. 6.—More than thirty blocks of the eastern edge of the business district of Hot Springs, had been swept clean tonight by a fire which at nine o'clock threatened to eat its way toward Central Avenue, the main business thoroughfare. A high wind was blowing and the Hot Springs and Little Rock fire departments, the latter hurried to the city aboard special trains, had made but little headway in checking the flames. At 9 o'clock Sidney Dillon, commissioner of public utilities, estimates the loss would reach at least four million dollars.

The fire originated in a negro dwelling on Church street, near Malvern Avenue, shortly after three this afternoon. A number of small dwellings, dry as tinder, as a result of an extended drought, were easy prey for the flames, which, within a few minutes, were beyond control of the local fire department. From this region the fire spread to a manufacturing section, then to a pretentious residence and hotel district, and at 9 o'clock wind threatened to carry the flames to the main business section. A supreme effort was made to divert the fire toward the suburb of South Hot Springs. Fifteen minutes after the fire started, it was beyond control of the Hot Springs fire force and aid was asked of Little Rock. Special trains brought additional apparatus from that city, but water, dynamite, and every available means of fighting fire had failed to check the flames six hours after the fire started. Firemen many times endeavored to destroy buildings untouched, but the flames swept over the partially wrecked buildings and broke out in new places. At times early in the night the gale reached a velocity of forty miles an hour, and three times the shifting wind currents changed the course of the fire. Twice it was headed for the main business district, the last time shortly before nine o'clock, when by the free use of dynamite, the combined fire fighting force succeeded in diverting the course of the fire toward South Hot Springs.

Pedigreed Black Foxes. Here is a black fox proposition free from barren breeding stock, free from "watered" capital stock and with every prospect of giving a splendid return for every cent invested. Consider These Points. JOHN R. DINNIS, the manager of the ranch, will give the animals owned by the John R. Dinis Pedigreed Foxes, Ltd., personal attention. Mr. Dinis is the most successful large rancher—7 p. c. of all silver and black foxes born in 1913 the world over were produced in his ranch. He has taxes to pay on 48 pups—the largest number in any ranch in the world. THE FOXES owned by this company are the pick of the 48 Black beauties in the Dinis Ranch. Four of them have been secured from the Royalty Black Fox Co., which secured from three young pairs a return of sixteen pups. The others are from litters of 6's, 5's and 4's—the most prolific stock from the most productive strains. The foxes can be seen in the ranch at any time by arrangement with Mr. Dinis. Results are more secure if you figure on pups already in the ranch than on "options for September delivery." THE RANCH has the best location of any in the Province, the most up-to-date facilities and equipment. Mr. Dinis, the manager, is assisted by a capable staff of assistants. Stock Selling Fast.
