HOME ON VISIT. — Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Woodside, of Minneapolis, Minn., are at present visiting in the city, the guests of their nephew Mr. William Woodside. Mr. and Mrs. Woodside have been on the Island since early in July and have visited the old home in New London, besides stopping with friends in Prince and King's County where they had a most delightful holiday after a long absence of thirty-four years. They note with interest the many changes and improvements in the Garden Provinces and have renewed many friendships. Coming here the travellers spent some time in Chicago, Pittsburg, New York, Boston and Montreal and returning will stop off at Boston, Washington and other principal points of interest, and will not reach their far away home till the last of October. In New York Mr. and Mrs. Woodside had the pleasure of meeting their son Mr. William G. Woodside who came up from Havana, Cuba, to spend a few days with his parents.

WANT STEAMER FOR SOUTH. — The Halifax Herald says:—John Simon, owner of the steamer Hochelaga, has returned from a trip to Pictou and Charlottetown, and reports the Pictou-Charlottetown route being well patronized. The people are delighted with the Hochelaga. She combines speed with elegance of appointment. Travelers who knew nothing of the history of this fine steamer, express their surprise at finding what is practically a pleasure yacht on the route. A trip across the Straits on the Hochelaga is really a delightful one. The Hochelaga is subsidized by the Dominion government for the summer months only. The season closing the last of October, to be opened again next spring. It would be a pity to have this fine boat tied up all winter. She is particularly well equipped for southern waters, being a splendid sea boat, speedy and can easily carry forty passengers. She would make a splendid boat to run between Halifax and Bermuda during the winter months, thus obviating the necessity of hundreds of Canadians having to go to New York in order to reach the Bermuda's. Here is a chance for some enterprising promoter.

BRITAIN WILL ENTER SPEEDY NEW SEAPLANE LONDON, Aug. 28.—A new Gloster-Napier machine capable of a speed of 220 miles an hour will be entered by Great Britain in the international seaplane race for the Schneider Cup to be flown at Bay Shore Park, Maryland, in October. The machine now is in the hands of experts being tuned up and overhauled and will be shipped to the United States the middle of next month.

Little other damage was reported as resulting from the tornado, its full force seeming to have been centred on the old structure which served as a church.

PRINCE PUT ON GLOVES

ABOARD THE BERENGARIA. — The Prince of Wales, en route to a visit to his ranch in Alberta, is not going to get out of condition while crossing the Atlantic.

This morning he availed himself of the ship's gymnasium, where he spent some time boxing. He then took a Turkish bath and afterwards indulged in a good swim. He began his day with walking exercises. It was learned that the Prince's uncheon with President Coolidge in Washington next Saturday will be a private family affair. The Prince's invitation was extended through U. S. Ambassador Kellogg in London.

LET ME DIE THE DEATH OF THE RIGHTEOUS

de with me, Saviour, in my death, When I but feebly draw my breath, Jesus be unto me near, Cause me Thy loving voice to hear.

Christ strength to my soul impart, That from this world with joy I part, I desire to join the Heavenly throng, Singing the everlasting song.

And when all other helps give way, O Thou, O Christ, my help and stay, And with Thy presence do me cheer, And banish from me every fear.

When from mine eyes the light doth fade, And coming on is death's dark shade; O Thou then, Saviour dear, my light, imparting to my soul delight.

Thy precious blood to me apply, lest I in any sin should die, but wholly be prepared for Heaven, by the cleansing Thou hast given.

would joyfully pass away, To the realms of lasting day, Where death and sorrow enter not, And all our troubles are forgot.

Grant me to feel in death no sting, but rather a desire to sing, Knowing that soon I'll be with Thee, Who died for me on Calvary.

Saviour, bless me with dying peace From pain and sorrow me release, And then in death I'll happy be, Passing away to be with Thee.

It is not death when Thou art near, To all Thy loving voice that hear, saying, My peace to thee I give, With Me in glory thou shalt live.

Clothe me, Lord, in the wedding dress, Of Thy glorious righteousness, To enter Heaven as Thy bride, Be seated by my husband's side, O, MacLEAN.

"Johnny—'Huh! I bet you didn't have a good time at your birthday party yesterday?" "Willie—"That's all you know about it." "Johnny—"Then why ain't you sick today?"

ing driven; he could not if he would, tell the country what he intends to do about elections or anything else, because he does not know. The magnetic compass can be trusted to point steadfastly to the north, but the weathercock, though elevated higher, is swayed to the south or north, east or west by any wind that blows. So it is with a party leader of unstable mind. The Premier's elevation has only made more and more conspicuous his infirmity of purpose.

Not since the days when MacKenzie was thrown overboard has the Liberal party been so little satisfied with his head. Not half the rank and file of the party wanted him when he was chosen. Canada's brave defenders never had much faith in a man whose heart was in his boots in war time, and in the United States in time of peace. Even in the boasted victory of 1921 he was given a majority in but three provinces out of nine. His premiership of three years has left the party still without a majority in either the House of Commons or the Senate and clinging to power by mercenary support. One by one his principal lieutenants his first Cabinet have fallen or deserted him. A succession of defeats in bye-elections complete the record down to date. Should further reverses await him in the months to come as seems probable enough—his feeble and vacillating career must end ignominiously.

TO STUDY SWAMP FEVER SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 28.—A new research laboratory which will be devoted primarily to the study of swamp fever, but which will investigate all the principal diseases to which domestic animals are subject, has just been opened by the University of Saskatchewan with Seymour Hadwen, D. V. Sc., in charge, President W. C. Murray announced today.

Swamp fever has exacted a heavy toll from farmers of the three prairie provinces ever since the first settlers began to bring in horses from the East, and the outbreak this year is unusually severe; the university and the province sustaining a heavy loss in the death of Bonnie Jean, the Clydesdale mare, which won the international championship at Chicago, as well as the Canadian championship at Toronto. Many farmers in central and northern Saskatchewan, especially in the Saskatoon district, have lost heavily from this mysterious disease, which has puzzled the scientists of the world.

THROWN UNDER CAR

CALGARY, Aug. 28.—Thrown under the wheels of a street car when the horse she was riding slipped on the pavement here Saturday afternoon, Lillian Doran, popular young Calgary girl, and the 19-year-old daughter of J. D. Doran, was almost instantly killed.

Jones had been presented with a clock. One day he met the donor, who asked how the clock was going.

"Splendidly," said Jones. "It's perfect. When the hands point to a quarter to one and it strikes three, we know it's Tuesday in Italy and Friday over here!"

VIENNA, Aug. 28.—Nearly all children affected with the habit of stuttering may be cured if the patients are given proper care in time. This was the consensus of opinion expressed by experts at the first congress ever held on the continent to discuss improvement of the power of speech and the voice among youngsters.

A RAILWAY IN THE AIR

There are many stories of achievement in railway construction, but few will surpass in interest the story of an aerial railway nearly as long as from London to Brighton and in places two miles above sea-level. That this wonderful enterprise was carried out by British engineers, after the German contractors who first undertook the task had given it up in despair, is but one of the poignant points in the story. In an absorbing narrative we are told how the opposition and threats of the native packers were overcome, how one of the great coffee-growing districts of the Republic of Colombia was developed, and how the Andes were conquered in spite of falling mountain sides and obstacles reminiscent of the most adventurous explorations. The outbreak of war while work was in full swing delayed operations and increased difficulties, and the hard-wood of the native forest was utilised in many cases instead of steel.

It is just about two years since this wonderful ropeway was completed, and now it has carried coffee—the staple traffic from Marigata to Manizales—motor-cars, planes, even a circus, including fifteen tons of animals, has made the strange journey, while officials of the line and even their womenfolk have demonstrated the passenger-carrying possibilities of the "ropeway." That the Englishman in charge has been appointed adviser to the Government of the Republic of Colombia, on all forms of transportation and communication, is a fitting sequel and conclusion of a story of achievement and enterprise worthy of the best British traditions.

LOCUST VALLEY, L. I., Aug. 28.—To fashionable colony here is awaiting eagerly the visit of the Prince of Wales, for the limelight surrounding the Prince's stay on Long Island will centre largely in this and the Meadowbrook's section.

The first large fête in honor of the Prince will be held at the Piping Rock Club in the form of a polo dinner on the night of Sept. 3. One hundred and fifty well-known men will be present and the officers and board of governors of the club will act as hosts, with the Prince and members of the British embassy staff and the visiting British polo team as guests. This dinner will be followed by a dinner at Clarence H. Mackay's place at Roslyn, the night of September 6.

As previously announced, the Prince is to make his headquarters at Woodside, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Burden at Syosset, just a few miles from the Piping Rock Club. Mr. Henry Rogers Winthrop, president of the club, and Mrs. Winthrop, will act as hosts during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Burden, who are in Europe.

THE LAST HOURS OF PETER

Peter the two-and-a-half ton rhinoceros who lived in the elephant house of the Zoological Gardens, in London, is dead.

He was an uncouth fellow, savage and untractable. Church, his keeper, had many narrow squeaks. Peter would charge heavily at a set of human ribs and bring up against iron bars with a thud.

People who say you can do anything by kindness did not know Peter's winsome ways.

He had been very "phthisicky" of late. Chest trouble, Peter said it was. You might give him a couple of bucketsful of cough mixture and it made no difference. Aniseed and Eucorice lozenges only caused him to wheeze the more.

Johnnie and Eliza, the young cow rhinos next door, one from India and the other from Peter's own home, Nairobi, used to shudder when Peter hacked and groaned.

Then pneumonia set in. The morning before he died, when the rains were doing their worst, Peter lay with his head to the open railing, gazing with glassy eyes towards the south and the homeland.

He made strange noises. His keepers said that they were his final hymn of hate against mankind, but it is possible he was muttering of his childhood fifteen years ago, and talking strangely of the African deep undergrowth, the hot muddy beds in which he used to roll, of the Arab hunters and of glorious freedom.

Then he was suddenly silent. His great ponderous bulk yielded the ghost.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, August 28.—Morgan Sheely, an 84-year old bridegroom, who filed suit for divorce against his 32-year-old wife, last Thursday, alleging that she forced him to pay $5 and $10 for his kisses, and also alleging that she threatened to beat his head in with an axe, was back with her at their home in Shellsburg today. He will withdraw the suit tomorrow. He told newspapermen today. Sheely elapsed with his wife, a wealthy retired banker. He built her a bungalow at Shellsburg, then his wife began charging him for his kisses, and he thought it was time to quit.

SERVICE IN HOTELS FOR CARE OF DOGS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Pete the Pup lives pretty high at the New York hotels nowadays. He is exercised by the hotel servants, made and provided for that purpose. One at least, of the hotels keep a dog-doctor on tap. Pete's mistress need only telephone down to the booking department to get the address of a thoroughly reliable board.

Pete may live at a cost of three or four dollars a day while she is away. There is a dog bathroom in some of the hotels, and experienced dog washers lather the pets and dry them with electric dryers and then put a little brilliantine on their coats. And Pete has his choice of half a dozen blue plate dinners.

Fact! At fifty cents per dinner, it is served to him by the dog waiter, the plate is set upon a square of linen, and he drinks his water from a crystal bowl. It costs money to maintain Pete, but as his mistress will tell you, he's worth it.

FRANCE HAS BAD WEEK.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—France has just passed through one of the worst summer weeks ever recorded by the weather men. Day after day there has been a rapid succession of violent thunderstorms, accompanied by many cases by hail which caused sad havoc among the vineyard crops and all but put the summer resorts out of business.

SIPS JAMAICA RUM AGED 179 YEARS of £15 has been placed on the treasure.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—A bottle of Jamaica rum 179 years old, honored as the oldest in the world, has just been opened and sampled by its owner, a London merchant, and a few of his friends. It was then resealed and put away with instructions for it to be tasted once in every generation of the owner's descendants. The bottle similarly was uncorked by the generations of 1837 and 1881. A modest value of £15 has been placed on the treasure.

PUTS TARIFF ON FLOUR

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Some discussion has been created here by a bill passed by the German Council of State giving the Government the right to impose such duties as it thinks fit on imported flour and agricultural products generally. It is believed that this may result in discrimination against foreign flours.
