CURIOUS INVENTIONS.

A Hat Which Raises Itself When the Wearer Bows—A Goat for Use by Secret Societies.

Some curious inventions for which patents have been granted recently form the subject of an article in the New York Times. A Des Moines man has obtained a patent for a self-tipping hat, which is designed to save the labor of removing his hat every time he meets one of the fair sex with whom he is acquainted. "Much valuable energy is utilized in tipping the hat repeatedly," says the inventor, "and my device will relieve one of it and at once cause the hat to be lifted from the head in a natural manner." It is a novel device, in other words, "for effecting polite salutations by the elevation and rotation of the hat on the head of the saluting party, when said person bows to the person saluted, the actuation of the hat being produced by mechanism within it, and without the use of the hands in any manner."

No truly rural person could ever have been responsible for the invention of eye-glasses for chickens, which was patented by United States patents recently. The glasses are modeled after the fashion of grandpa's "specs," the nose rest being enlarged to go over the chicken's head, while the ear hooks are jointed in the back.

No claim is made that the children's eye-sight is poor, or that magnifiers ever are needed that may the better discover the reluctant worm or the elusive bug, but the inventor's attempt to enforce all chickens to wear the device by legislative action in Kansas did not succeed. Members of secret societies, who sometimes may be put to much trouble to secure a sufficiently irascible goat for the purpose of initiating new members in their respective lodges, will be glad to learn that an inventive genius has come to their assistance. The device is a mechanical goat, which can be put in the closet when not needed, that requires no feeding, and practically no care. Also it may be handled by its keeper without fear of consequences. This mechanical goat is mounted on a tripod which runs on three wheels, the front one being loosely pivoted. A handle in the rear is for the purpose of pushing it.

The candidate, blindfolded, is led to the side of the animal, and on it he takes his seat, placing his feet in stirrups on either side. As the goat is pushed about the lodge room a series of wheels and rods, geared to the wheels on which it runs, causes the animal to buck and rear in a fearful manner, keeping the candidate in continual danger of being shaken off.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Mr. Paul Poull, Casapedia, Quebec, writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of my heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases of the heart and nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerve firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ, and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anemia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Residents of Kansas and other states in the cyclone belt, who are forced to retire to cyclone cellars, and then organize searching parties to find their homes when a storm has passed, will be pleased with the invention of a tornado-proof house. This is built in the shape of a submarine, or a dirigible balloon. From one end there is a vane or tail, which end there is kept the house pointing in the direction of the wind, the house being mounted on a pivot at its centre, and turns freely on a circular track. Tails are common enough on windmills and warther vane, but here is probably the first time that the idea has been adapted to residences. The inventor says, is re-enforced and windproof, and the door opens on a flight of steps wheeled at the bottom, which follow a circular path, the only way to descend. The inventor says his idea is particularly applicable to hospitals, and that by anchoring it can be arranged to permit of continuous sunlight.

THE PIG THAT PERSISTED.

(Louisville Times.)
A colony up in Alberta consisted of 100 or more young Englishmen who knew a good deal about bridge and golf, but nothing whatever about farming. One of them had a pig. The animal was systematically overfed grew to be so fat that it couldn't walk. But nobody in the colony knew how to slaughter it. Soon after Dan Mann's Canadian Northern reached the colony the train hands got to know about the pig, and fell into the habit of making daily inquiries. One evening after the express had pulled in, the brakeman said to the owner of the porker: "How's that pig?" "You will not have to ask about it any more," was the reply. "We got the carpenter to cut a hole in its neck with a chisel this morning. It bled a good deal all day and ought to be dead tonight. Tomorrow we will skin it."

Advertising Talks
Twenty Dollars worth of advertising space and five dollars worth of properly prepared advertising copy will prove more profitable than fifty dollars' worth of newspaper space and poor copy. While good advertising makes a lasting impression, poor advertising is not noticed, and when read generally does more harm than good. Can't you understand that proper advertising is a science—the writer must have the faculty to analyze the goods—intelligently understand printing materials—have the ability to cooperate with printers to bring about the desired results. This has been a life long study—and it is not a case of experiment on your part—success is an absolute surety—we've "made good," brought the "coin." Come in and let's talk advertising. Perpellian sire Parkside, 2.222, dam Lucerne by All Right, will make the stud season of 1910 at Royal Hotel Stables, Montague. Perpellian weighs 1200 lbs. and his colts are large and well made. Perpellian has started in five races and has won first money four times. In his last race at Summerside, last August, he defeated Money Maker, 2.181, Pretoria, 2.231, Owa, 2.25, and two others with the greatest ease, though he had been in training but three weeks. It is speed close up that counts in a pedigree. "Like begets like," and a sire that has speed himself is much more liable to beget speed than the sire that has to invoke the speed which his great grand-parents were said to possess. Perpellian is the speediest colt in the speediest family of race horses that the Maritime Provinces have yet seen and his progeny should in the natural course of events inherit his speed. Mares at owners' risk. For terms, etc., apply to A. E. SMITH, V.S., 6-17dturw6pnd, Manager, Montague.
