ASZARD & MOORE

Canadian Historical Society.

There was a good attendance of members and others at the meeting of the above society last evening in P. W. College. Dr. Anderson occupied the chair and Mr. Thomas May was appointed Secretary for the evening.

Mr. Cyrus J. McMillan, B. A. read a well-considered and highly engaging paper on Canadian Poets and Poetry. In his introductory he divided our literary history into three periods, the first embracing the times of French government, the second including the struggle for constitutional rights and liberties and the third the period since the formation of the Dominion.

Mr. McMillan then took up the work of the earlier Canadian poets, giving first place to Charles Heavyside, whose drama, Saul had called forth high praise from English critics. He was of English birth. Charles Sangster was a truly Canadian poet by birth and sentiment.

Coming down to more recent years the lecturer brought under review, and passed a discriminating but appreciative judgment upon Charles J. D. Roberts, Bliss Carman, W. W. Campbell, and Archibald Lampman giving characteristic extracts from their works.

The paper was very closely listened to and heartily applauded. A spirited discussion followed in which Messrs. W. L. Cotton, McCreary, F. J. Nash, F. D. Ty John Newson and Dr. Anderson took part in the order named.

Dr. Anderson announced that a fortnight from last evening Dr. Alley would read a paper on The Early History of P. E. Island; two weeks later Rev. Dr. Morrison will read a paper and Prof. Caven at later date on subjects yet to be announced.

The many friends of Mr. Davies, purser of the S. S. Campana, who has been ill for some three months in the P. E. Island Hospital, will be pleased to learn that he is convalescent and able to leave the hospital. He will return to Montreal in the course of a few days.

YESTERDAY Mr. W. W. Moore, of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, arrived in the city, having crossed by the Minto. It will be remembered that Mr. Moore left St. John on Sept. 16th, and after some 85 days reached Cape Town. While in South Africa he visited Port Elizabeth, East London, Durban, Pietermaritzburg and Ladysmith. When there he had the privilege of visiting a camp where the Boer women prisoners were kept and in conversation with one or two of the ladies, one of whom was the wife of a judge then at the front.

A crowded house greeted the Rev. Mr. Fullerton at the Kingsgarden Hall last evening on the occasion of his lecture on the South African War. His lecture was given in aid of the P. E. Island Hospital, which worthy institution deserves the hearty support of the public. The worthiness of the subject, the interesting subject of the lecture, and the popularity of the lecturer all combined to draw an audience larger than could be comfortably accommodated.

Stipendiary Hazzard presided and in a few well chosen words referred to the worthiness of the Hospital to be supported not merely by the citizens of Charlottetown but by the inhabitants of the entire Province, and he very fittingly introduced the lecturer. The lecture was in two parts, the first dealing with the advances from Capetown to the relief of Mafeking. In graphic language the battles of Belmont, Gasspan, Modder River, and Magersfontein were described. Particularly interesting was the description of the defence of Mafeking where 1300 men, mostly irregulars, held the place for 7 months against a besieging force of from five to seven thousand. The resourcefulness of Baden-Powell and his versatility were clearly brought out.

The gallant part played by the Canadians in the work of relief was shown. With the relief of Mafeking the first division of the lecture was concluded. During an intermission of ten minutes a number of young ladies sold candy good and cheap and they were liberally patronized. In the second part of the lecture the hospital work in the army was dealt with and some criticisms that have been heard from various sources were answered and others made. The lecturer speaking from his knowledge of the work said that on no occasion was there any neglect of the sick or wounded soldier but that everything that could possibly be done was done. Admittedly in the beginning the equipment of the hospitals was not sufficient for the demands but as speedily as possible that was remedied. Also the number of the army corps was too few, and of those in a given some more of the physician and less of the combatant would be an advantage to the hospital service. The authorities, however, were earnest and alert in remedying all defects when realized. The work of the nurses came in for a well-deserved word of praise. The lecture throughout was illustrated by very fine stereoscopic views. The instrument was skilfully manipulated by S. Herbert Hazzard, Esq. The lecture throughout was interesting and instructive and richly deserved the thanks so aptly tendered to the lecturer by the chairman.

I am very glad to recommend them to others." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

WILL CLAIM THE NORTH POLE. "If I reach the pole I claim that territory by right of discovery for Canada," Capt. J. E. Bernier said, in discussing the polar scheme on which he expects to start early in the spring. The captain will sail from Vancouver with a crew of twelve men, who are to be scientists, sailors, hunters, and snowshoers.

"Apart altogether from the scientific results of my expedition," Capt. Bernier said, "there is the great national question of determining Canada's northern boundary. If the boundary between Canada and Alaska were continued northward it would strike the north pole. A similar line through Baffin's Bay, prolonged to the pole, should be Canada's northeastern frontier, and if we reach the pole we could claim the whole country to the north of us by right of discovery."

Capt. Bernier said that he purposed having a vessel specially constructed to stand the strain in the ice fields and to pound his way through them by use of an auxiliary steam power. He has had plans prepared in England for two vessels one to be of wood, the other to be of steel. He prefers the former, for the reason that it can be built in this country. The plans have been laid before the Canadian Government.
