Willfrid was sitting on his father's knee watching his mother arranging her hair.

"Papa hasn't any Marcel wave like that," said the father, laughing.

Willfrid, looking up at his father's bald pate, replied, "No; no waves—'s all beach."

"Burbank's Miracles"

Here are a few of the "miracles" Luther Burbank performed at his experiment station in Santa Rosa:

Developed the "Burbank potato," now universally grown, more productive and nourishing than the earlier kind.

Evolved a new type of wheat that added millions of bushels a year to the world's crop.

Brought forth the California gladiolus, with 100,000 different shades.

Made corn to grow to a height of eight feet, with 10 to 14 ears to a stalk.

Removed the spines from cactus and made the plant bear pears.

Developed the seeds from the orange developed a seedless plum and a seedless grape.

Originated the beautiful Shasta daisy.

Produced the aramantus, or "molten fire," his proudest work among the flowers.

Gave a perennial growth to a species of rhubarb, increasing the size of the stalk from the thickness of a pencil to that of a man's wrist.

Produced 2000 new varieties of plum and prune trees.

Developed a new species of the torch lily and evolved a new camellia, a beautiful blue flower.

Developed fruit trees that stood freezing weather in blossom.

Developed seedless apples, and a walnut with a paper-like shell that can be crushed between the fingers.

Produced a mulberry tree with leaves 10 times as large as ordinary mulberry leaves. This increased the output of silk and lowered the price.

Caused a walnut tree to reach 100 years' growth in 10 years.

Changed the colors of thousands of flowers, including the California poppy, which he changed from yellow to crimson.

"That account of yours has been running for a long time, has it not?" asked the tradesman.

"It has," replied the customer pleasantly.

"Standing about a year, I should say?"

"Just about."

"What are you going to do about it, then?"

"Let it rest awhile!"
