

Profits On Coal

Profits on coal depend entirely upon the cost of mining it. Most mines are so deep that it is impossible to mine at a reasonable profit. Some mines are so much on the surface that coal will not bring price enough to make a profit. Many mines are so far away from their market that freight rates make it impossible to make a profit. Many mines have so many competitors that it is impossible to make a profit. None of these disadvantages apply to the INTERPROVINCIAL COAL COMPANY, LIMITED.

Our mine is placed so as to be able to laugh at its competitors as regards freight rates. The coal is just 20 feet from the surface, thereby, insuring cheap mining, and still not near enough to the surface to weaken the quality of the coal.

When buying this mine, all of these advantages were taken into consideration. The mine was bought by three men who expected to be able to pay for it all, and hold it to their own personal benefit, but changed circumstances made this impossible, and, today, they are asking for $20,000 to assist them in the last payment on the mine. In doing this, they realize that under present conditions they must make sacrifices. To get the money, they are, therefore, offering you people who have money to spare five shares of stock absolutely free with every ten shares you pay for, and in addition to that a guarantee of 25 p. c. each year for four years, which gives you all your money back.

The greatest authority on coal mining, namely, "The Coal Age," of New York, says, in September, "that the small mine, raising from one hundred to two hundred tons per day, with a correspondingly small acreage, is the only one showing a reasonable profit." "That's us, exactly."

The coming year, we expect to show a profit on our total capitalization of from 40 p. c. to 60 p. c., or let us cut this in two, and still you have an investment paying above all other that we know of. With 35 years at least of coal to draw from, and 160 acres extra, which means 15 years more, we believe the permanency of this investment to be as perfect as human foresight can provide. Get your spare money into this at once. If you wish to know more about it, call in and let us talk it over. We have yet to meet the man who says this is not a good investment. Stock is selling every day. Do not be too late. After the $20,000 is secured, not one concession of any kind will be given to anybody. You will simply have to pay par for your stock, and very little of that will be sold. Do it today.

Statements We Make

We have 260 acres of coal lands. In it there are 2,000,000 tons of coal. The quality is better than any soft coal sold in Prince Edward Island.

The coal is only twenty feet from the surface. We are 90c a ton, freight, nearer our market than our nearest competitor. We mine our coal at $1.00 to $2.00 per ton less cost than any of our competitors. We have no competition from wood fuel, as there is absolutely none. Our capitalization is lower than it should be.

We have cut drifts through thousands of feet of our coal, and have already blocked out 30,000 tons. By this time we ought to know what we are talking about—and we do. We have placed our coal in small lots in every part of our market; we have not had one complaint; we have had many commendations.

We have the mine within 700 feet of the Canadian Pacific Railway. We have everything we want, except $20,000 more capital; we will soon have that. Our offer of 5 shares bonus stock with every 10 shares bought, besides our guarantee of 25 p. c. for four years, will certainly provide the money.

CANADA TO GET FULL SHARE OF WAR CONTRACTS

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Consequent upon certain complaints from Canadian manufacturers and merchants, a special trade commissioner, Mr. F. W. Stobart, sailed yesterday for Canada to confer with Sir George E. Foster and other officials of the Department of Trade and Commerce concerning the development of Anglo-Canadian trade generally and the placing of military and naval contracts especially. It has been stated both in Canada and in Canadian circles here that large orders for supplies and equipment have been placed by the War Office with United States firms to the exclusion of Canadian and other overseas business establishments. This allegation is denied by the Canadian High Commissioner's office, where the matter has received the personal attention of Hon. Geo. H. Perley. He has received the emphatic assurances of the War Office and the Admiralty that they are most ready to avail themselves of the resources of the Dominion where they are obliged to go overseas with contracts. It has been pointed out, however, that owing to the sudden emergency of an immediate demand for certain requisites, the authorities turned to one or two United States houses known to be in a position to supply the goods forthwith. On the other hand, Canada has not been passed over in regard to any article which she could supply. In order, however, to clear up the position and give Canada every opportunity in this direction, Mr. Stobart is being sent as special commissioner.

MORE THAN EQUAL GERMAN

English "Chasers" Fly 150 Miles .Per Hour

LONDON, Oct. 14.—"The English aeroplanes have proved to be more than equal to those of the Germans," says the Paris correspondent of the Times.

"Especially success has been scored with the new type of English aeroplane called the 'Chaser' which is capable of developing a speed of 150 miles an hour and which can rise at from the ground at a very sharp angle.

"The German anti-airship guns are so effective that it is unwise for the British or French aviators to fly lower than 6,000 feet from the ground. An airman when under fire has to keep up continual glides, sharp turns and evolutions in order to prevent the enemy from getting an accurate aim. Looping the loop, however, is strictly forbidden."

MEMBERS OF RED CROSS ARE TURNED OUT OF BRUSSELS

Thirty British Doctors and 120 Nurses Told Their Services Are Not Required

MAKE TERRIBLE JOURNEY

Arrive at Copenhagen en Route to England—Fear in Brussels that Something is Going to Happen

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 14.—(Despatch to the London Daily Mail).—After three days' journey through Belgium and North Germany in a closely guarded train, with drawn blinds, a party of members of the British Red Cross and the St. Johns Ambulance Corps arrived safely at Copenhagen last night, en route to England.

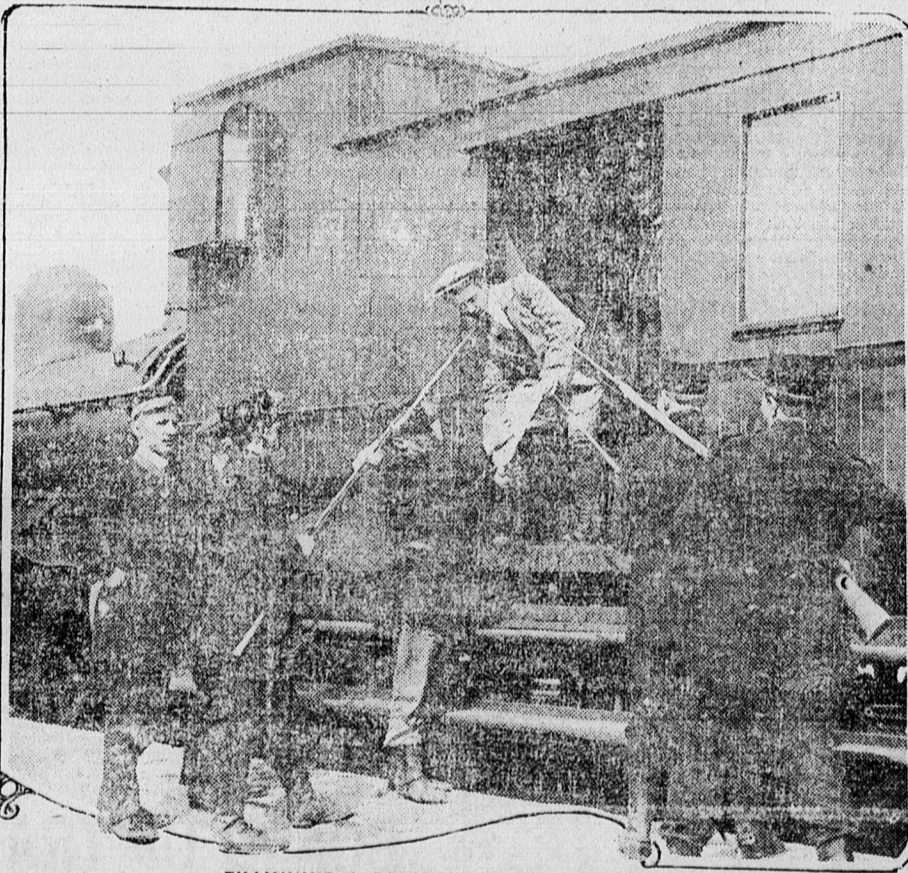

The party consisted of thirty English doctors and one hundred and twenty nurses who went to Brussels at the outbreak of the war. They remained at their posts until last Thursday, when they were turned out of Brussels by the German military government on the ground that there was no further occasion for their services.

"When we left Brussels last Tuesday," one of the nurses told me, "the city was calm but subdued. There was a feeling that something was going to happen. Troops were perpetually passing backwards and forwards. After our imprisonment we were treated fairly well except on the journey through Germany, when soldiers stood fully armed in the corridors all the way to Hamburg. We were thankful to be free. At a place near the frontier the doctors and nurses were searched and their knives, scissors and surgical instruments taken away.

"We only knew when we were passing the Kiel Canal by the increased rigor of the military guard. All blinds and peepholes were guarded by soldiers on the footboard. Anyone who had attempted to look out would have been shot. Several members of the party had decided to proceed to Petrograd. The people of Copenhagen gave the doctors and nurses an enthusiastic welcome.

I thank Thee, Lord, that I am straight and strong,
 With wit to work and hope to keep me brave;
 That two score years, unfathomed, still belong
 To the allotted life Thy bounty gave.

I thank Thee that the sight of sunlit lands
 And dipping gills, the breath of evening grass—
 That wet, dark rocks and flowers 'in my hands
 Can give me daily gladness as I pass.

I thank Thee that I love the things of Earth—
 Ripe fruits and laughter, lying down to sleep,
 The shine of lighted towns, the graver worth
 Of beating human hearts that laugh and weep.

I thank Thee that as yet I need not know,
 Yet need not fear the mystery of end;
 But more than all, and though all these should go—
 Dear Lord, this on my knees—I thank thee for my friend,

HOW AEROS WERE LOST

British Raiders Descended Near Germans at Antwerp

LONDON, Oct. 14, 6.05 p.m.—The British aviators who made a successful flight to Dusseldorf and destroyed a Zeppelin, lost their machines after they returned to Antwerp, it is said. They landed between the outer and inner ring of forts just as the German artillery commenced firing. The machines, which were in the open, were blown to pieces, but the aviator, a smaller quantity of sugar than OSTEND, Oct. 14.—It is reported that a heavy engagement occurred near Thourout (Belgian town 12 miles southwest of Bruges.) Operations around Ghent have opened favorably for Allies. The Germans have asked for an armistice to enable them to bury their dead, but the request was refused.

"Advancing confidently against what they imagined to be remnants of the retreating Belgian army, a German column was ambushed by a force, south of Ghent. German soldiers were mowed down in swaths, bayonet charge completed their rout. Some six hundred dead were left in the field while the Allies' losses were practically nothing."

PETROGRAD, Oct. 14.—The defeat of the Austro-German army advancing on Sandomierz, town of Russian Poland on Vistula, about 90 miles north-east of Cracow—is announced in a statement issued by the government's bureau. It declared the Germans lost an entire division. The Russian advance column says the statement is delivered that another defeat to Austro-German army occurred advancing on Sandomierz. The Russian cavalry took the offensive before the Germans had taken advantage of their position and the Cossacks swept down on the flanks of the enemy and captured some guns. When Germans retreated they had lost an entire division with its equipment. German division numbers 20,000 men.

WITHOUT JAM JARS.

The Royal Horticultural Society are publishing a series of useful short pamphlets dealing with the care of food. The following are their instructions for bottling fruit which is now plentiful and cheap.

Choose wide-mouthed bottles and clean them thoroughly. Pick just ripe fruit clean and dry. Place in bottles Apples and pears should be sliced in quarters, plums and damsons put in whole. Fill the bottles with clean water. Stand them up to their necks in water in a fish kettle or open boiler. The bottles must be open. Slowly raise the water to the boil, and let it boil for twenty minutes or half an hour. Take out the bottles singly, and without the smallest delay tie the mouths with clean bladder whilst the water in the bottles is at boiling heat. If corks are used instead of bladders scald them first. Insert them and seal the tops with sealing or bottle wax. Remember to boil the water gradually. Store the bottles in any cool place. Blackberries can be preserved with a smaller quantity of sugar than other fruit.
