Leo Herbert Cheverie, at his preliminary hearing in Souris yesterday, made a statement describing the light which led to the death of his brother-in-law, Benjamin Blinn, on August 4. The crown concluded its evidence earlier in the week and no further evidence was taken yesterday. Magistrate Joseph W. MacDonald committed the accused to the Supreme Court for trial.

Charles was asked the customary question by the Magistrate as to whether he desired to make a statement. The accused signified that he did and stated to the court as follows: "Sir, when my father went to the kitchen door to get Marie and I stepped into porch. Blinn came to the door and he told me to get her if he had to kill me and every Cheverie in Souris. I thought I should have a knife in my hand and I saw a knife in the knife in my hand. I jumped back and he missed me. He and I caught him in both my hands. We swayed back and forth in the porch then we were fighting against the wall of the porch. I kept hold of his wrist and we both fell against wall and went down with my weight on top of him. When he went down I felt something was wrong on my hands so I jumped up on my feet and he slowly with his head hanging down. He caught me with both hands when he got up. I pushed him back. He went back and I tumbled over him. He had a box into the corner and stayed there. I never at any time had the knife in my hand. That is all, Sir."
