The Central Guardian IN MEMORIAM

MRS. CATHERINE WALSH

On the morning of February 2nd, the sudden passing of Mrs. Catherine Walsh, of this city, widow of the late James Walsh of Cornwall, occasioned a sad shock and brought grief to her numerous friends and relatives.

Although she had been in ill health for some time, she was never known to complain and only two weeks before her death she was forced to take to her bed where she passed away on the above mentioned date.

She was a woman that was loved by young and old. Her greatest interest in life was her home, and there she loved to greet her friends with sincere hospitality.

Her sympathetic nature and straight forward manner even with little children, resulted in winning the love and confidence of a host of friends.

The deceased was in her eighty-first year, she with her sister the late Mrs. Roland Currie came to this country from Ireland fifty-four years ago. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carroll and a niece of Sir John Murphy, land-lord of Mount Lotus.

She leaves to mourn, two sorrowing sons, M. F. Walsh with whom she lived and William, both of this city, and a brother James Carroll of London, Ireland, also the sister Mrs. Maria Coady of the same place. The large concourse of people that paid their last respects showed the esteem in which she was held.

Despite the bad weather her funeral was largely attended.

The funeral mass was celebrated on Friday, February 4th, by Rev. Father Fleming, C. S. S. R. and Rev. Father Moreau, C. S. S. R. officiating at the grave.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Dan Malone, John McQuarrie, Solomon Vall, Hugh Malone, Michael Hennessey, and Sam Brown.

Maybe This Is Why You're Constipated

Perhaps the kind of food you eat doesn't give your bowels anything to work on. Meat, potatoes and eggs don't form the kind of soft, bulky mass that will help move your bowels.

If so, a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Brain for breakfast will give you just the kind of "bulk" your intestines may need to work properly. And in addition, it contains the intestinal tonic, vitamin B, which helps to tone them. If you want to get at the cause of your trouble, eat some Kellogg's All-Brain every day—as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. All-Brain is made by Kellogg in London, Ont. Sold by every grocer.

Presbytery of P. E. I. In Zion Church

The Presbytery of P. E. I. met Tuesday in Zion Church, Rev. T. O. Hughes, moderator, presided. After the minutes and correspondence had been read by the clerk, Rev. W. O. Science Halts Arson Hurricane Declares American Journalist

The arson hurricane that once razed annually 100 million dollars worth of property in the United States has been halted. The orchids go to the laboratory-trained arson detective. So writes Henry Morton Robinson, journalist and authority on science versus crime, in the current issue of the Rotarian Magazine.

"Using the techniques of scientific criminology, special squads of investigators in Boston, Los Angeles, and New York broke the great arson rings and sent scores of fire setters to prison," says Mr. Robinson. "In Chicago, 9 million dollars was lopped off the fire loss in a single year."

It's the combination of super-sensitive instruments, such as the spectroscopic and the micrograph camera, and scientific minds that has cut short the incendiary's heyday, he points out. "Today," he says, "the criminal who risks setting a fire is either a fool or a maniac."

"A recent fire in a fur warehouse destroyed a half-million dollars' worth of silver fox pelts. At least that was what the owner told the investigators. But a tiny sample of photomicrographed ash from the ruined warehouse told quite a different story. A burned strand of silver-fox fur should show as a black line with a white border. But this particular ash had a dark-banded fringe."

"Expert proved that only rabbit fur could photomicrograph like that. Traced by a single hair, the owner confessed that he had sold the silver-fox furs, substituted the cheaper pelts, and hired the services of a fire maker to 'bolster a falling business with insurance.'"

"Recently adapted to the work of cracking down on the arsonist is the spectroscopic, that amazing device originally used by astronomers for analyzing the constitu-
