HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

The King and Queen aided by Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, decorated their Norfolk residence with holly and mistletoe on Sunday and made ready for a typical British at-home Christmas. When the Royal children had sorted out their presents, they sat down with their parents to a Christmas dinner one of the features of which was short-crust mince pies cooked by 9-year-old Princess Margaret Rose. It was her debut as a cook. She has just started taking cooking lessons and the pies were among her first efforts.

Governor General and Lady Tweedsmuir chose a plain white card commemorating the Royal visit for their Christmas greetings this year. Inside the card is a photograph of the King and Queen seated on the Throne of the Senate Chamber, while the King gave Royal assent to several bills during Their Majesties' visit last Summer.

Her Majesty Queen Mary has again honoured the Charlottetown Branch of the Queen Mary Needlework Guild with her beautiful Christmas Card sent to the President of the Guild, Mrs. Chester McLeure.

Miss Muriel Peake arrived from Montreal on Thursday night to visit her parents, Mr. A. G. and Mrs. Peake. Col. Peake's continued illness is deeply regretted.

The 430 Club dinner party at the Charlottetown Hotel Thursday evening in honor of Doctor Campbell and bride of Sydney will linger with pleasure in the memory of the members, for it was a most delightful affair. The dinner table was arranged to represent a winter scene at the 430 Club was correct in every detail even to the Club House brightly lighted for the gay party who are enjoying the winter sports there. One toboggan, with miniature figures, to represent all the members was apparently coming down the hill, while the place cards were tiny toboggans with the member and his partner aboard. These were most exquisitely executed and made lovely souvenirs of the happy gathering. After the dinner the members Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, Dr. J. P. and Mrs. Lantz, Dr. J. W. and Mrs. McKenzie, Dr. J. P. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Best, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stewart Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Baker, Major and Mrs. P. B. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mould, Mr. Charles McKenzie and Miss Ruth Hearty, spent a jolly evening renewing happy memories of times spent at the Club during the fishing and hunting seasons, which Mr. Mould had recorded with his moving picture camera and as each colored slide was shown it was greeted with gales of laughter. Mr. Mould also took moving pictures of the 430 Club around the dinner table to be seen later on when the winter has turned to spring and the fishing tackle is again being located.

Miss Norah Longworth left yesterday to spend a few days with Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Buntain in Halifax.

Mrs. (Dr.) S. R. Jenkins who has been so seriously ill is regaining her health and spent a happy Christmas surrounded by all the members of her family.

Crates containing boxes of chocolates were sent by Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose as Christmas gifts to French children evacuated from their homes near the frontiers. The chocolates will be distributed by the national relief organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison Webster and winsome young daughter, Joal are leaving for their home in Calgary next week after a most enjoyable holiday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Webster.

Mrs. Dora Mathieson Campbell was among the holiday visitors coming from Montreal to visit her parents the Chief Justice and Mrs. Mathieson.

Mrs. Waring of Summerside, entertained Thursday at two tables of Bridge for her friends.

Senator J. E. Sinclair Emerald received the congratulations of his friends last Sunday on the occasion of his 60th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holman, who were guests for the Christmas festivities at Mrs. Holman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Brad-

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cass spent the Christmas week-end at Mrs. Cass' home in New Glasgow, N.S.

Cupid was busy over the Christmas season and wedding bells are to ring gaily later on in the Spring.

Mrs. Harry W. Cudmore was hostess at a most attractive three table bridge Thursday afternoon at her lovely home 113 North River Road, her Christmas decoration lending a charming effect to the social gathering.

Regretful farewells are being said to Miss Dorothy Kerwin who is leaving early next week for Washington where she had been appointed to the staff of the Canadian Legation, a position for which she is exceptionally well qualified, and while she will be greatly missed her best congratulations are extended.

Mayor John E. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell spent Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Tanton and Dr. Benjamin Tanton at O'Leary's. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Calbeck of Bedouque.

Prior to her departure for Washington Miss Dorothy Kerwin is being widely entertained. This afternoon Miss Marjory Stewart is having a tea in her honor and at night Miss Queenie Jenkins has invited friends to meet her at bridge.

Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Tanton had as their guest for the Christmas season Mrs. James Champion, O'Leary, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowther of Carleton.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Howard of Sherbrook, Quebec, are here to spend the New Year in with Mrs. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Roy Holman, Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mould have as their guest for the holidays Mrs. Mould's little granddaughter, Miss Nancy Stickney of Malone, New York.

Miss Linie Aitken spent Christmas with her brother, Rev. Edwin Aitken and Mrs. Aitken in Edmunston, N. B.

Mrs. George T. Elms and Mrs. James Brady entertained jointly at two delightful mixed bridge parties Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in the Blue Room of Old Spain, which was most attractively decorated for the holiday season.

Mrs. Blanchard was hostess at her home 23 Water Street for the weekly bridge club on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. William R. Brennan spent the Christmas vacation at his home in Summerside.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Lewis, of Summerside, were among those entertaining during the Christmas Season.

Mrs. Dora Mathieson Campbell was among the holiday visitors coming from Montreal to visit her parents the Chief Justice and Mrs. Mathieson.

THE QUEEN CHARMS SEA SCOUT

Her Majesty made a tour recently of the avocade and Women's Voluntary Service centres in Sussex. This picture was taken at Bosham where there is a detachment of scouts, some from London and some from other parts of England. Queen Elizabeth's smile which won all Canadian hearts during the Royal tour, is evidently having its usual devastating effect on the bashful sea scout.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Girls Dislike Boys Who Criticize Their Dress, Who Are "Check Dodgers," Who Tell Risque Stories, Who Are Careless in Their Appearance and Who Kiss and Tell

Dear Miss Dix—We girls were greatly interested in the letter you had from some boys telling what things they disliked in girls. Maybe they would like to know what we girls dislike in boys, so here goes:

We dislike boys who are careless of their personal appearance and who look as if they had slept in their clothes and never had a hair cut or took a bath except on Saturday nights. We don't ourselves up when we go out with boys so that they can be proud of us, and we don't like to go out with any one who looks like something that had been fished out of the rag bag and whom we have to apologize for by saying he has high moral principles and is a good boy.

We dislike boys who are contemptuous to us as if they were throwing a bone to a hungry dog. Of course, we have to swallow our pride and eat and eat her mother's good dinners and use the girl's car and go to shows when she has the tickets, but who doesn't think that she rates even a bunch of violets or a ham sandwich if he has to pay for them.

We dislike boys who are forever bragging about themselves and telling us how wonderful they are and how no girl has ever been able to resist them. We dislike the boy who kisses and tells and is always retreating to every popular girl as "my old girl" and is always trying to see them. We dislike boys who always have plenty of money to spend on himself but never on a girl; who will come and eat and eat her mother's good dinners and use the girl's car and go to shows when she has the tickets, but who doesn't think that she rates even a bunch of violets or a ham sandwich if he has to pay for them.

We dislike boys who are check dodgers and when they take a girl out with a crowd always let somebody else pay the bill. We dislike boys who take us for granted and assume we are always dying to see them and will jump to go with them whenever they ask us at the last minute. We would like for them at least to show us the courtesy of pretending to believe that we are difficult to get. We hate boys who tell dirty stories and who expect us to think their obscene jokes are funny. We dislike boys who have rough and uncouth manners and who think they show they are men by not observing any of the conventions of good society.

We dislike boys who make us pay for every attention they show us by staging necking parties. We dislike boys who have a love to every girl they see and who hand her the shop-worn line about "where have you been all of my life, etc." And last, but not least, we dislike boys who try to show off on a dance floor by doing steps they know their partners can't do.

A GROUP OF HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS.

Answer: These are very valid objections to boys that the youngsters might well take into consideration.

Wasting Money At College

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 18. I entered college this past fall and have it. I don't study and I don't like school and never did, and I want to quit at the end of the semester because it is a waste of time and money for me to continue. My mother is a widow with little money and it is a great sacrifice for her to send me to college, but she is determined to do it. Don't you think I should quit before I flunk out? I am not interested in what I am taking and I want to go to a school where I can take a course in merchandizing or interior decorating. What shall I do?

Answer: You are certainly right in thinking that it is a waste of time and money for you to continue in college when you hate it and are not studying and taking advantage of any of the opportunities it offers you.

Your mother should realize the truth of the old adage about one being able to lead a horse to water but not to make him drink, and that it is foolish to try to force on you the kind of education that you do not crave. She should withdraw you at once from college and let you take up the line of study that you wish and in which you will probably make a success.

There is no way in which so much money is so foolishly wasted as by parents gratifying their own pride by sending children to college who are not college material.

Shun The Person Who Is Jealous

Dear Dorothy Dix—After working my way half through college, because I am ambitious and desired a college education, I have fallen in love with a girl. This girl has no desire for knowledge or interest in it. She is very vain, always bragging of her admirers and how beautiful she is when, in reality, she is only moderately good-looking and entirely too fat. She is jealous and suspicious of me, accuses me of being unfaithful every time I have to stay downtown at night to work. Doesn't trust me for a moment when I am out of her sight. I see her faults with an open mind and have decided to call quits to all romance until I find a girl whose faults I don't see. What do you think? VERY OLD TWENTY-THREE.

Answer: I think either a man or a woman is lacking intelligence when he or she takes a mate who is jealous and suspicious. All married happiness is built on faith. DOROTHY DIX.

THE COOK'S CORNER

GRAPE JUICE BANANA JELLY

A colorful as well as a delicious tasting dessert.

1 1-2 tsp. granulated gelatine
1-3 cup cold water
1 1-2 cups grape juice
3 tsp. sugar
4 tsp. lemon juice
3-4 cup diced banana
3-4 cup skinned, seedless grapes

Pour the cold water over the gelatine and allow to cook for five minutes. In the meantime heat the grape juice and then pour it over the gelatine. When it has dissolved add the sugar and lemon juice. Let the mixture cool until it becomes slightly set and then add the fruit. Pour into large mold or several small ones. Chill, unfold and serve with custard sauce or sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Serves six.

LEMON WHIP

2 tsp. gelatine
1-2 cup cold water
2 cups boiling water
1 cup sugar
1-2 cup lemon juice
grated rind 1-2 lemon
1-inch stick cinnamon
2 egg whites

Soak the gelatine in the cold water for five minutes and then add the boiling water, sugar, lemon juice, rind and cinnamon. Stir till the sugar is dissolved and then strain through a dampened cheesecloth. Cool. When starting to set, whip to a light froth and then fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Pour into a mold and put in a cool place to set.

Unmold to serve with a custard sauce made from the two egg yolks.

PEACH CABINET PUDDING

1 cup canned peaches drained
1-3 cup powdered sugar
3 eggs, separated
2 cups milk
1-4 cup sugar
1-2 tsp. salt
1-8 tsp. gelatine
2 tsp. water
3-4 tsp. vanilla

Sprinkle the powdered sugar over the peaches and allow them to stand for about 15 minutes. Beat the egg yolks slightly and add the sugar and salt. Scald the milk and add some of the hot milk to the egg yolk mixture and then return to the double boiler and cook till the mixture coats a spoon as for a custard. Just before removing from the fire add the gelatine which has been soaked in the water for five minutes. Add the flavoring and allow to cool, stirring frequently. When the mixture begins to thicken fold in the beaten egg whites. Pour into a large mold, first placing the prepared peaches in the bottom of the mold. Allow to set. Serves six to eight.

Realm of Dreams Exciting to Explore

Dreams Give Clues to Real You

Dreaming that she is reunited with the man she cares for — no wonder this girl smiles happily. She is having what psychologists call a wish fulfillment dream.

In waking hours, she tells herself she has forgotten the suitor she sent away after a bitter quarrel. But in her dreams, when her conscious mind is asleep, out comes the truth. How much happier she would be if she understood dream images would honestly face the emotions they reveal.

Often dreams show harmful wishes that we would be wise to unroot. To dream of a friend in an accident, for instance, implies a secret grudge or jealousy, a wish for that friend's downfall.

Among other types of dreams important to know about are the problem dream and the punishment dream. If you go over the day's problems in sleep, you are overstrained, in danger of a breakdown. To dream of punishment implies an inferiority complex. It is a warning to cease thinking others are "down on you."

In our 32-page booklet a well-known psychologist throws light on the whole field of dreams. Gives interpretations of symbols and typical dreams, helps you get clues to your hidden problems.

HER WANDERING BOY

Mrs. Gayboy had friends to tea, among them a professor's wife, who prided herself on her correct use of English.

"I wish I knew where George was," remarked the hostess, referring to her husband.

The professor's wife drew herself up. "I presume, my dear," she said primly, "that you mean you wish you knew where he is."

"Oh, no I don't," replied Mrs. Gayboy sweetly. "I know where he is. He's upstairs in bed with a black eye and a fearful headache. I want to know where he was."

SAFETY FIRST AIR RAIDS

The pilot of one of our "leaflet" planes reported back at headquarters two hours before he was due. His astonished C.O. asked for an explanation.

"Well, sir," the young officer replied, "I flew over enemy territory as instructed, and tipped out the paraisol over the side."

"Do you mean you threw them out still roped up in bundles?" said the C.O. in an anxious voice.

"Yes, sir."
