CHURCH UNION; PROFIT AND LOSS; A WARNING TO PRESBYTERIANS

Sir,—Will you kindly permit a statement to your Presbyterian readers of a few of the many things that would be lost to them in the proposed new Union Church.

(1) The Lost Eldership.

The Rule of the Basis of Union for the formation of the so-called "Session is as follows:— "The members of the Session, other than the minister, shall be chosen by those in full church membership, and shall hold office under regulations to be passed by the General Council." (Polity, Sec. B. 14.)

In this Rule there is neither "elder" nor "ordination"; and the omission is not accidental but intentional, after the fullest consideration by the Union Committee of the three Churches.

It is true that in another part of the Basis,— (Section B. 9 a)— there is an incidental descriptive expression as follows:— "a body of men specially chosen and set apart or ordained for that work, who shall jointly constitute the Session."

Even if this latter incidental expression were correct, there is no mention of "elder." The men chosen might be set apart, or they might be ordained. There is nothing definite. All is left to the General Council of the proposed new Church.

But the word "ordained" has no right to be in that incidental expression; for in the Rule for the information of the "Session" it is not found. This is an instance of the immature, self-contradictory character of the Basis of Union.

It is therefore absolutely correct to say that in the Basis of Union the ordained Ruling Elder has no place. Further it is just as absolutely certain that if this strong Presbyterian feature could not get into the Rules of the Basis, before Union, it would never get into the new Church after Union.

Will Presbyterians consent to surrender the Scripturial Office of the Ordained Ruling Elder, a main pillar of the Presbyterian Church through all her long and glorious history?

(2) The Lost Church of the People.

The proposed new Church is to be incorporated, as a great legal ogranization, giving absolute power of control to the Church Courts. With Presbyterians the people are the Church. In the proposed Union, the Church Courts, the Organization, the "Machine," would be the Church, with corporate powers. Will Presbyterians thus surrender the Church of the people?

Further, this incorporation, which, on the one hand, would take away the rights of the people and vest them in the Church Courts, would, on the other, hand, bring these same Church Courts, in matters both temporal and spiritual, into the sphere of the civil law, and a member of the Church, suspended by the Session for ill conduct, could, if he chose, bring that Session before the Courtss and perhaps involve them in heavy costs.

(3) Lost Rights In Choosing Minister.

Presbyterians have now the right to extend a Call at any time, and no Church Courts has authority to intrude upon them a minister they do not want.

In the proposed Union there is only one time of the year when they can extent a Call, Viz., at the Annual Meeting of the Settlement Committee, a body of men with absolute powers, mostly at a distance from the individual congregation.

If that Call should not succeed, or if the Settlement Committee declines to allow it, the congregation must wait for a year, until the next Annual Meeting of the Settlement, before they can give another Call, and they must take, for the year, such supply as may be sent to them.

Further, the Settlement Committee has power, not only to decline to appoint the minister called, but to appoint any minister they may choose, to any congregation. The words are these—"The right of appointment shall rest with the Settlement Committee."

True, the Settlement Committee" "shall comply as far as possible with the expressed wishes of ministers and charges," but that same Committee is the sole judge of how far it should or will comply with these wishes. From that Settlement Committee there is no appeal. Even to the Conference (Synod) that appoints it, it reports "for information only."

Will Presbyterians vote to surrender their rights, and submit once more to the "patronage" and "intrusion" and overlordship, which their fathers fought till victory was won? And especially in such a year as this, when our Empire, with her Allies, is contending against overlordship and for the world's freedom?

(4) Lost Safeguards of Scripture Truth.

Almost all organizations, secular or sacred; social, political or religious; that have any Basis of Agreement, are pledged to that Basis. It represents what they stand for.

One of the few lonely exceptions is the proposed new Union Church. The Doctrine of the Basis of Union contains much of Scriptures Truth, but no minister is pledged to accept that Basis as his confession of Scripture teaching, or pledged to adhere to it in his own teaching. It is not the Creed of the Church. It is not what the Church stands for of Scripture Truth.

There was, in an earlier stage of the Union negotiations such a pledge for ministers at ordination, just as there is now in our own Church; but it was taken away, and in the proposed new Church a minister might teach any error; and cut and carve the Word of God in any fashion, and do it in the name of the Church, claiming it to be his view of the Scriptures, and the people would be helpless. The loss in this respect would be more apparent with the passing years, and, as history has repeatedly shown, would be fatal to the religious life of the Church.

Such are a few of the losses which would come to Presbyterians.

Where Are The Gains.?

The only three gains, claimed or promised, are Unity, Economy and Power. There can be no gain in Unity for Unity is of the Spirit not of namne of form; and Christians of different Churches can live in Christian Unity, just as well as those of the same Church.

There is no economic gain, for in the foreign field while in the home field, wise and Christian co-operation can prevent and has already prevented, overlapping and waste, and has almost wholly eliminated it in the West.

As to Power, the moment a Church seeks to sway the affairs of men by the size of its organization, rather than by its mortal and spiritual influence, all history shows that it means doom for the state and spiritual death to the Church.

25TH BATTALION OF NOVA SCOTIA IN BRILLIANT ACTION

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—The 25th Nova Scotia Battalion of the Second Canadian Division has had its baptism of fire and has shown its mettle. In the fierce fighting of last week four German mines were exploded on the line held by the Nova Scotians. Thirty men were killed or wounded and for the moment the troops, for the first time under fire, fell back to escape the hail of death. But they then rallied and with fixed bayonets went at the oncoming Germans. They drove them back and with a rush recaptured every foot of the ground yielded in the first confusion of the mine explosions. They won back their trenches and held them inflicting severe losses on the enemy and taking quick vengeance for the loss of their comrades.

That is the report received by Major General Sam Hughes, in response to a cabled inquiry he made a couple of days ago when he heard a rumour to the effect that a Nova Scotia regiment had been blown up by German mines and that the enemy had poured into the gap. Despite the trying test that would have shaken veterans the men from Nova Scotia rallied and saved the situation.

The Prime Minister and the Minister of Militia have each sent cablegrams to the commanding officers at the front congratulating the Canadian forces on the splendid bravery they have shown during the past two weeks as related in the official account received to-day from the "Eye Witness."

LETTER FROM ISLAND SOLDIER

Following letter was received by Blanche Beaton, Bonshaw. From her brother Heath, who is now at the front. He enlisted at Victoria, B. C., and is a son of Samuel Beaton, Bonshaw.

Shorncliffe, Eng.
Sept. 18, 1915.

Dear Sister.— I received your letter this morning, so thought I would answer it at once. Well Blanche I am leaving for the front tonight so am pretty busy packing up my kit.

I am attached to the 31st Battalion now, and they are a fine bunch of boys, they come from Calgary, Alberta. We should have gone two days ago but the submarines are very busy those days blowing up everything they can see. We can hear the big guns roar all the time, they must be having a big fight across the channel this morning. There are several large airships flying overhead at present.

I was up in one of the biplanes about a week ago and I tell you it is a great sensation flying 4000 feet in the air.

I had my pictures taken three weeks ago, but did not get them yet, but I am sending you one of my pal and I, it was taken in a hurry, I had my moustache shaved off but when you get the other one you will hardly know me.

We are in the sixth brigade, there were three other battalions sailed last night the 27th, 28th, and 29th.

Well sister, I haven't much news to send you this time, but will have more when I get to the trenches if I don't get hit too soon. I must say that I never felt better in my life than I do just now. Well I must close for now. Give my love and best wishes to father and mother, and all the rest of the family, and be sure to write soon. I can't write very regular.

Good bye, from your brother
HEATH.

MISS GLADYS STOREY'S BOVRIL FUND

Sir:— On behalf of our splendid troops I am appealing again this year to the public at home and abroad for donations in order to keep up the supply of Bovril for those in the firing line. In doing so I tender to the Press my sincere thanks for their assistance in giving publicity to my Fund. I only wish it were possible to quote here the expressions of appreciation I have received from officers and men for this gift which has been dispatched to them week by week since last December. Sufficient has been sent to provide for more than a quarter of a million men. This gift for the troops has received the gracious interest and approval of Her Majesty the Queen. Generals have written from the front to express their own gratitude and that of their men for the supplies already sent. I shall be pleased to receive from the readers of this letter the names or regiments in which they are most interested. And I will, by rotation, as funds permit, send supplies of Bovril to them.

To commence the second year of my Fund I have been presented with £100 donation. I will acknowledge with gratitude all donations large or small.

Individual consignments to any regiment may be sent immediately in the donor's name on receipt of £5: or £7 will supply a battalion.

Collecting cards will be forwarded to individuals, schools and other insituations upon application and a stamped address envelope.
