Question:
What is pure paint?

Answer:
70% pure white lead
plus
30% pure white zinc
equals 100% pure paint

Why?

Because white lead and white zinc, mixed in these proportions, produce a paint that resists the elements better than that made by any other formula. Scientific tests and practical experience extending over many years absolutely prove this to be so, and that is why is made by this formula. It is pure paint in the truest sense of the word. A mixture of 10% white lead and 90% white zinc might be called "pure paint" but the expression would be misleading, because the compound would not fulfil all the requirements of a first-class exterior paint.

B-H "English" Paint is pure paint that works easily, penetrates deeply, spreads well, holds its color and lasts years longer than ordinary kinds.

SCHOOL GARDEN—After the Summer holidays the pupils of Prince St. school have resumed their duties in connection with the school garden. They are now busily engaged selling the products for patriotic purposes. F. J. Holman & Co., and J. H. Myrick & Co. are assisting them today by offering for sale a fresh supply of vegetables which will no doubt be eagerly purchased, to help along this good cause. The Prince Street school garden has been entirely successful as the pupils and teachers have been able from time to time to add small sums of money to their patriotic fund.

Her many friends were saddened to learn of the death, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, York, on August 22nd, of Elda M., beloved wife of Vernon L. Howatt, of Charlottetown, at the early age of only seven years. By her loving disposition, she endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and also in her home during her short wedded life. She will be greatly missed in church and Red Cross work, also in the Choir, where she was ever ready to assist in singing the praises of her Redeemer. She leaves to mourn besides her sorrow-stricken husband, her father, mother and four brothers, James and Ollie at home, and Ira and Gordon with the 105th. Battalion, now in England. The funeral took place on August 24th, to York Cemetery, and was very largely attended. The services at the home and grave were conducted by Revs. R. G. Fulton, L. Dawson and G. F. Dawson. REV. R. H. STAVERT HONORED. On the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 6, quite a large number of the residents of Norton, N. B., held a social in the public hall. Games of various kinds were indulged in, after the proceedings of the evening were in full swing, and all were enjoying themselves. Mr. A. T. Stewart, who had been requested to act as chairman, called the meeting to order and asked the Rev. Mr. Stavert to come to the platform. After having stated the purpose of the social gathering, Mr. Stewart in the name of not only the Presbyterian people here but of many of the other citizens, presented Mr. Stavert with a solid nickel-mounted set of driving harness with an extra collar and harness and a set of beautiful driving blankets, as a slight token of the appreciation of his work, not only within his own church but also as of the other citizens, and all that pertained to the best interests of the place he had always taken a deep interest. Mr. Stavert was very much taken by surprise, and in a few well chosen words thanked the people of Norton for their great kindness in remembering him with such valuable and useful gifts. After Mr. Stavert resumed his seat, Rev. C. W. Walden gave a short address. The rest of the evening was spent in social intercourse.—Mr. Stavert is a native of this Province.

He, after spending some time with her, and visiting there to Chelsea and spent some time with Mr. Gallant or his way home called at Meteghan, Nova Scotia, to rejoice his wife who had been visiting there for eight days. It was on his arrival at Meteghan that Mr. Gallant first learned that the automobiles were being introduced in Engmont Bay and vicinity. Asked as to how he received the news, he expressed himself as highly in favor of them. He had occasion to speak on the subject several times with people from across and improved roads, he was told would result from them. He had taken several drives in them during his visit and thought they were fine. Mr. and Mrs. Gallant arrived home from Meteghan on Friday night, Rev. John A. McLean of Bismarck, pioneer of Minnesota and of Dakota territory, a friend and co-worker with James J. Hill, was buried in Oakland cemetery yesterday beside the bodies of his first wife and two sons. Mr. McLean died in Boston, where he had gone to receive treatment for cancer. Funeral services were held in Oakland chapel. Rev. Harry Noble Wilson paid a glowing tribute to Mr. McLean and other hardy pioneers who paved the way for civilization throughout the Northwest.

Many friends of the family in St. Paul, and from North Dakota were present. There were floral tributes from friends in cities from Halifax to Bismarck. Mr. McLean was born in Prince Edward Island in 1849, and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Noeholls, Boston, and Mrs. Annie Livingston, High Bank, P. E. Island. He came to St. Paul in the early 60's. He became associated with James J. Hill, P. H. Kelly and other pioneers, afterward prominent in the business world. In 1871 he went to Duluth and a year later located at Brainerd. In 1873 he went to Bismarck, Dakota territory, and took a prominent part in laying out of the town.

There he had his first big fight. A corporation known as the Puget Sound Land Co. undertook to file on the site of the future capital of North Dakota. Mr. McLean took the fight for the citizens of what was then a frontier village and he carried it through to a finish paying the expenses from his own pocket.

After his return from Washington, where the final victory was won, he was elected the first mayor of Bismarck. Then he engaged in construction work for the government, exploring the Yellowstone country in Montana and doing much contract work there. He went to the Black Hills and brought back the first gold taken from that country.

He established a wholesale house which supplied North Dakota and Montana, and which he conducted up to the time of his last illness.

Mr. McLean, together with Alex. McKenzie and other prominent North Dakotians, conducted the fight which transferred the capital of Dakota territory from Yankton to Bismarck, and afterward made it the capital of the State of North Dakota.

Mr. McLean is survived by his wife and two sons, Harry, general manager of the Cook Construction company, with headquarters at Montreal, and Clarence, general manager of the Russell Milling Co., with headquarters at Mandon, N. D.

The pallbearers yesterday were men prominent in Minnesota and North Dakota: Marcus Johnson, of St. Paul, Mayor A. V. Lucas, John McKinley, C. A. Holliday, and Alex. McKenzie of Bismarck and Colonel John Brody of Dickinson.

explained by the visitors that although the exact date of the anniversary was the 16th it was found expedient to make the call on this date on the fact that a number were leaving the City on the morrow. After the visitors who "happened" along together had seated themselves, Hon. Murdoch Mathieson arose quietly and astonished the host and hostess by reading the following address:

Hon. J. A. and Mrs. Mathieson, Dear Mr. and Mrs. Mathieson: A wedding anniversary affords, as on other occasions can, an opportunity for friends to express their feelings of friendship and appreciation, and we deem this, the twentieth anniversary of your wedding day, a fitting occasion for such expression.

During the greater part of your wedded life you have been citizens of Charlottetown, taking an active and always a helpful interest in our civic and social life. In every move for the betterment of our city, for the welfare of our people and for the benefit of humanity at home and abroad we have learned to depend upon you both, not only for helpful counsel, but for tangible assistance, wherever needed, and you have never disappointed us. We can say without flattery and in all sincerity that to you both, to you Mr. Mathieson, in your official capacity as Premier of the Province, and to you, Mrs. Mathieson, in your broad minded sympathy with and public spirited devotion to the best interests of the city and Province, our people owe very much and that you have fulfilled in a very generous manner the noblest duty of citizenship, namely to have made your country the better for your having lived in it.

A time honoured custom enjoins that twentieth wedding anniversaries be commemorated by friends with gifts of china and we trust that we are committing no conventional breach in expressing our felicitations in a more enduring substance. On behalf of the members of the Government and their wives we ask you to accept this piece of silverware as a souvenir of this happy Anniversary, and please accept it with our sincere and united wishes for many future anniversaries, blessed with the love and the lives of your children, happy in your friendships and in the recollection of years devoted to the welfare of others.

(Here follow the signatures of all the members of the Government and their wives.)

The address was accompanied by a handsome and valuable sterling silver teapot.

Premier Mathieson, expressed in a short and happy address the surprise so cleverly administered to Mrs. Mathieson and himself, thanking their friends "most cordially for their thoughtfulness and great kindness. They both appreciated the valuable gift but much more the kindness and good will which prompted it.

"And let there be no moaning at the bar When I put out to sea."

There passed swiftly and suddenly away early on Wednesday morning last, one of North Tryon's oldest and most respected citizens, Mr. William Chisholm in the 72nd year of his age. The late Mr. Chisholm was born at East River, Pictou County, N. S., and during the past 45 years conducted an up-to-date cabinet and undertaking business at North Tryon.

Justice to the living is perhaps preferable to praise to the departed, but whether expressed or not, there were many who appreciated the valuable and useful life to which we now give a tender thought.

Admired, respected, revered, a man of intelligence, unfailingly devoted to duty, and with a deep interest in his church, his home and in humanity, the name of Mr. Chisholm will be held in long remembrance.

Three daughters and one son survive viz. Mrs. J. T. Waite, of Sherbrooke; Mrs. F. G. Lang; Miss Grace and James A. at home; his wife having predeceased him.
