RECORDS GO BY BOARD AT HALIFAX MEET

(Canadian Press)
 HALIFAX, Oct. 2.—One Dominion and 10 Maritime interscholastic records fell as high school athletes of the Maritimes put on their annual track and field championships here yesterday. The Canadian school boy mark for the 440 yard relay was shattered when Halifax County Academy clipped one fifth of a second from Hamilton Central collegiate's time of 45 3-5 seconds. The locals were pushed to the new mark by Colchester Academy of Truro, and St. John High School.

All records went in the field events. One of the outstanding achievements afield was Willard Buckley's discus throwing, the St. John lad heaving the plate 118 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

Halifax County Academy retained their team title, and Jock Cotter, of Halifax, amassed the greatest total points score winning the 60 and 100 dashes, placing second in the 220 and figuring in two relays to score 17 1/2 points.

The Halifax school garnered 57 points, Saint John High was second

It may sound strange to the ears of the show, that all money brought with it warmth to hockey fans. The thrills, the tension, the gripping interest that hockey can give, are felt in anticipation as the winds swing seasonably around to the north. But before we sup the delights which lie ahead there is work to do, and the old adage says "Anything worth while, any ambition to be achieved must be paid for."

Hockey glory lies before us—ours for the taking, if the city teams as a unit and each individual devote something towards the cause.

Tonight at the Forum a Community and Merchants Carnival opens, the proceeds from which will go to the maintenance of the two Abegweit hockey teams, which will operate in the city this winter. The amusements which will be provided will be clean, wholesome and entertaining. Prizes of startling value will be given away at the various booths, and it should be borne in mind that except for a certain number of contributions, all of these have been purchased locally to the amount of hundreds of dollars. The stipulation was made by the committee in charge of this

LOOKING 'EM OVER

 A Well Deserved Tribute To Abbies

The following letter has been received by the Sports Editor from one who knows the game from every angle. He pays a glowing tribute to the prowess of the Abbies, a well deserved compliment to an aggregation of ball players that any city or town might well feel proud to call its own. The letter follows:

Dear "Tec":—

After following the world series game with avid interest for three innings on your illuminated miniature diamond, I joined the throng assembled on the C. A. A grounds to watch the Abbie-Stephen game on Thursday last.

I have seen many games during the past 20 years in the Big League and elsewhere but that Abbie-Stephen final packed more thrill than all the others put together. If ever any games have been decided on breaks, Thursday's Battle of the Century will certainly join that more or less select class in Maritime baseball history.

First of all the visitors should have been on the short end of a two-one score but that miserable single became a home run on a lost ball. At the time it was difficult to know on whom to shower vengeful adjectives when that runner sauntered home. Perhaps it should have been on the other fielders for not watching that ball as it fell behind the centre garden or on that individual who jumped off the enemy's bench and shook hands with the victor of subsequent abuse. However I held my peace as the piece of verbiage which we then trying to force itself to my ears would have been out of order.

These innings of errorless throwing and scoreless baseball I consider the best I have ever seen such stops by the infield and whiff first and home, the magnificent handling of fly-balls to all parts of the field, and that lightning double-play, could not have been surpassed on any ball-field. The champions come in for their share of praise also as they certainly did not consider their positions afield or on the paths as dormitories. But they should not have won that game with the Abbies playing such inspired ball. No batter could be more effective than the Connors-Gross combination, as the number of runners left stranded or caught at home, and the scarcity of safe hits in the first 12 frames render mute testimony.

To whom shall we attribute the loss? Some perhaps even the enemy will concede it to a lack of say. For myself I was too far wisdom on the paths with only one man down, but the great majority will blame it on that 10th St. Stephen man whose dumbness and availed, they consider, forced him to such a robbery in broad daylight before a thousand witnesses. If he has to call them as he sees them let him not regard any future eclipses with the naked eye or be too premature in giving decisions when there is no question of a forced play (at least that is what his enemies away from the scene, and the play was very close. But it would have done me a great amount of good if he had given the decision to the game little bye-runner, but we must not allow sentiment to take the upper hand in such instances.

It was heart-breaking on the part of the Abbies to lose the game; but they fought gamely and courageously in that desperate effort to bring home the bacon. It is so long since Dame Fortune smiled upon them that they have become accustomed to adverse breaks. But every cloud has a silver lining and now that their nebulous masteries are about to turn the bright side to the Abbies we may look forward to an extended era of success in all lines of athletic endeavor.

May that period soon arrive is the best wish of an ardent fan.

Series Over

The 1932 World Series has come and gone, New York Yankees, the favorites to win the world's championship came through in four straight games. Chicago has a good ball team in fact they seemed more consistent hitters than the World's champions, but the presence of Ruth and Gehrig in the Yankee batting order is enough in itself to strike awe in the heart of any hurler. In fact, it was mainly the mighty hitting of this duo that blasted any hopes Chicago had of winning.

Football

Football will now move out from behind the wings to take the stage until "King Winter" spreads his snowy mantle over the landscape. Abegweits, Saint Dunstons, Prince of Wales, Queen Square and West Kent are at present working out in preparation for a strenuous season on the gridiron.

Gotham Team Won Saturday's Game 7 To 5 And Repeated Yesterday To The Tune Of 13 To 6—Mighty Bats Of Ruth And Gehrig Too Much For National League Champions.

(By Allan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)
 WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2.—In a rip roaring climax that smashed World Series records and blasted the last faint National League hopes to fragments, the New York Yankees ran rough shod today to their third successive clean sweep in baseball's classic championship. By the record busting score of 13 to 6 the American League champions overpowered and routed the last vestiges of the Chicago Cubs. Five Bruin pitchers failed in the last attempt to stop this steam roller as the Yankees pounded out their fourth successive victory, thereby running their unprecedented winning streak to an even dozen triumphs over the National League in the combined campaigns of 1927-28-32.

It was all over, and the stage set for another year of battered spirits in the ranks of the National League, beaten back after enjoying the thrill of only one season at the top of the baseball roost. Where Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig had pounded the Cub ramparts to pieces Saturday with a thrilling exhibit on a long range hitting that helped the Yanks to their seven victory their team mates rushed in to complete the job of mopping up the bewildered Chicagoans. There was the wildest kind of uproar as Ruth, the great man himself, fanned twice with men on bases, but the case was a gift as Herman who opened hitting bats of Earl Combs. Joe Sewell, Tony Lazzeri and Bill Dickey did more than enough damage to offset the Babe's failures.

Lazzeri, recovering his batting eye for the first time in the series, smashed out two home runs, Combs knocked another over the bleacher fence and crossed the plate four times altogether. These two, with Sewell and Dickey each contributed three hits a piece to the grand total of 19 accumulated by the Yankees.

Three Cub pitchers, Guy Bush, Lon Warneke and Jake May were knocked out of the box in the course of a bombardment which reached its climax with four-run rallies in the 7th and 9th. Grimes was the victim of the final big barrage, which included home runs by Combs and Lazzeri in the 9th, after Bud Tinning, young right hander, had momentarily halted the Yankees at the end of the seventh and throughout the eighth.

SEWELL'S HOMER

The Yankee attack came from top to bottom of the batting order throughout the final melee. But if there was one no-fly deuce he shot fired it was little Joe Sewell's blow through the infield with the bases full in the seventh inning. Up to this stage it was a free-for-all slug-fest. The Cubs were still in the thick of it. They had put the tying run on the score board. They had weathered two Yankee rallies in the third and sixth holding the visitors to two runs each time.

ANYBODY'S GAME

It was anybody's ball game until the supposedly weaker side of the Yankee firing squad got into action in the fatal seventh. Dickey's single, Crosetti's double and a pass to Ruffing, pinch hitting for Moore, quickly populated the bases. Hoag ran for Ruffing. They came the first "break" as Combs dropped a short fly exactly on the left field foul line. Dickey ran home and the bases were still full. Alabama Joe Sewell chose this moment to ram his third hit of the day between Grimm and Herman. Crosetti and Hoag raced home, the Yankees had a three run margin and as it turned out, the ball game was over. Ruth brought Combs home with his only hit of the day a single to right field.

The Yankees registered no fewer than four errors in putting up an erratic defensive exhibition.
