THE PROHIBITION COMMISSION PASSES RESOLUTION UPON GRAND JURORS' ACTION

The following resolution was unanimously passed at a meeting of the Prohibition Commission held in this city on the 16th July last:

Whereas the Grand Jury at the session of the Supreme Court at Summerside thought fit to issue an unfair criticism of the working of the Prohibition Act in Prince Edward Island and to assail the Government of the Province and the Board of Commissioners as accomplices in exploiting the Act for the purpose of increasing Government Revenue;

And whereas certain Journals of the Province made said charges the occasion of political animadversions dragging the Prohibition question into the arena of party politics regardless of the chief aim of the Legislature who created the Commission for the purpose of altogether removing the temperance question from the political domain.

Resolved that the Board of Commissioners in session, whilst protesting against the unfair criticism, emphatically deny any such understanding as insinuated between them and the Government or any dictation or interference of the latter with regard to the carrying out of the provisions of the Act, the price of liquors dispensed or any other condition existing which under the Act are left to the discretion of the Board.

Sir Sam Hughes Sinking Rapidly

(Special to The Guardian). LINDSAY, July 16.—Sir Sam Hughes had a very restful night Dr. McAlpine left the house at 12 p. m. and at 8.15 this morning had not returned confident that his patient was somewhat improved and that he would live for many hours. Sir Sam is suffering no pain but has failed very fast.

LINDSAY, July 15.—Suffering a severe relapse early last evening, the condition of General Sir Sam Hughes, former Minister of Militia, was reported at 1.30 this morning to be very serious, and he had been entertained during the past few days for his recovery have been given up.

Interviewed by the Canadian Press early this morning, Dr. J. C. McAlpine, Sir Sam's physician, stated that the intense heat was mainly responsible for the critical condition of the patient's illness. It was worse yesterday morning, but during the evening his condition became very serious and he is sinking rapidly. Sir Sam is delirious.

Ontario to Borrow $5,000,000

TORONTO July 15.—Faced with the impossibility of getting a term loan at anything like the rates his judgement would advise him to accept, Hon. Peter S. Mitchell has decided to resort again to borrowing up on treasury notes to tide the Government along for a month or two in the hope that conditions in the money markets will improve. The Treasurer is calling now for ten million $5,000,000 of six month's six per cent. treasury notes which will be received up to the 25th of this month. In awaiting the issue, Hon. Mr. Mitchell is going to put in to effect an innovation in handling tenders on bond or note issues, for on the 25th all tenders will be publicly opened in the presence of representatives of all the bond houses tendering.

The present $5,000,000 issue will only partially relieve the financial problem of Ontario's Treasurer. A conservative estimate of the money needed to carry the Province to the end of the year is $30,000,000, of which $10,000,000 is needed to tide an issue of $10,000,000 of Treasury notes that comes due next Fall. Originally, the Treasurer had figured upon getting a big loan floated in the New York Market, but conditions there now are such that borrowing is out of the question. If there was a reasonable certainty that the exchange situation would right itself within a year or two the present advantage would make borrowing possible, though not attractive, but at any rate available now would be a decidedly unfavorable one if exchange on interest coupons payable of course, in the United States, had to be figured on for a number of years.

If the money markets show any improvement by Fall, Hon. Mr. Mitchell may try to place a ten or fifteen-year loan, but unless the improvement comes further, Treasury note issues will be sold.

SUICIDE OF IMPERIAL OIL OFFICIAL

FORT McMURRAY, Alta., July 15.—Chas E. Taylor, Edmonton, official of the Imperial Oil Company, shot himself Wednesday while enroute to this place on the steamer McMurray. No details are given. Taylor was one of Edmonton's best known figures. Years ago he was street railway superintendent and before joining the Imperial Oil Company was manager of the Alliance Power Company.

FOUR YEARS IMPRISONMENT FOR MURDERING HELPLESS ON LLANDOVERY CASTLE

(Special to The Guardian). LEIPZIG, Germany, July 16.—Lieut. D. Dittmar and Lt. Boldt, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on lifeboats at the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle had been sentenced in the summer of 1918, were each sentenced today to four years imprisonment. The sentence did not, however, carry hard labor with it as demanded by the public prosecutor.

The case of Dittmar and Boldt differed from the others which has been heard by the Supreme Court here in connection with trials growing out of violations of the rules of civilized warfare, inasmuch as the two lieutenants were brought to trial by the German public prosecutor. Great Britain only had demanded the trial of Commander Patric of the submarine which torpedoed the Llandovery Castle, who fled the country. The public prosecutor however after an examination of the evidence ordered that Dittmar and Boldt be placed on trial.

Death of Captain Alexander Cameron

Charlottetown and the Island at large has lost one of its most highly esteemed and respected residents in the death of Captain Alexander Cameron, which took place at his home, Pownall Street on Saturday last.

The deceased had been in failing health for the past five months. He suffered from heart trouble and had of late grown decidedly weaker. At noon on Saturday he passed away in the 75th year of his age.

The late Captain Cameron was born in 1847 at Point Prim. He was for many years connected with the firm of Welsh and Owen, and later with the Charlottetown Steam Navigation Company. He was the last surviving member of the family with the exception of Mrs. Mary McDonald of Pinette. He leaves to mourn three sons, Hilton and Harry, at home, and Stanley, of the Bank of Montreal, Amherst. Stanley arrived home on Saturday night and will remain until after the funeral, which takes place today at 3.15 from the home to the Railway Station thence to Sherwood Cemetery. The funeral will be private.

Canadian Wool In Great Demand

OTTAWA, July 14.—Canadian wools are showing greater activity in the manufacture of woollen goods and as a result there is a strong demand for Canadian wool, but without any advance in price, according to the Dominion wool market reports for the week ending July 11, issued today. Sales of domestic wools continue to be made at 19 to 21c for medium. Quotations on lower grades are running from 11 to 15c for coarse, 15 to 17c for low combing and 17 to 19c for low medium combing. Western wools are under process of grading and several options have already been taken on certain lots.

Canadian Squadron At Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica, July 15.—More than twelve hours ahead of schedule the Canadian Squadron, consisting of the cruiser Aurora and Destroyers Patriot and Patrien, steamed into Kingston Harbor at 7.30 last evening.

These vessels which are enroute from Esquimaux to Halifax via the Panama Canal, will remain in Kingston until Monday 18th, commencing with a formal welcome from the Reception Committee headed by the Bishop of Jamaica, a programme has been mapped out which will provide for every minute of their stay in Jamaica.

This programme includes all homes at King's House and Ligonier Club, balls at Myrtle Bank and Conjoint Spring Hotel, cricket, tennis and polo matches, boxing contests, a regatta, dances for the N. C. O.'s and men, moving picture entertainments, concerts, motor car and other parties, and visits to one of the finest sugar estates in the island. A free canteen is provided for them, and no pains or expenses have been spared to make their stay enjoyable.

The streets of Kingston are decked with flags, and even the weather is kindly, for the tropical heat of the July sun has been for the past couple of days tempered by unusually cool breezes and a few light showers, which also served to lay the dust and brighten up the already luxuriant foliage.

Nearly 6,000 Soldiers Yet in Hospitals

OTTAWA, July 15.—On June the department of soldier's civil re-establishment still had 5,558 discharged hospital cases under its care, of which 5,324 are in Canada. Of this number 273 are out-patients. In the British Isles there are now 276 patients and 253 in the United States. The policy of the department is to treat all men in Canadian hospitals except where the sickness is temporary, or the difficulty of moving cannot be overcome. Practically none of the Canadian expeditionary force remain in France, though where a Canadian soldier on duty over there becomes sick arrangements are in force with the French military authorities to care for him. Of the patients in Great Britain a large number of these men took their discharge in Canada, and subsequently returned there. Those in the United States are largely men whose homes were there before the war. Approximately 31,000 Canadians and 14,000 imperials were recruited in the United States after America entered the war. Imperial soldiers on this continent are taken care of by the department as well as Canadians.

The department has 1,249 tuberculous patients on its strength at 276 patients and 253 in the United States. In January, 1920, there were 2,087 such patients. While a proportion have died, the majority of the others have been discharged on the grounds that the disease has been taken to provide interesting work for tubercular patients in hospitals. Those in bed if well enough, are taught embroidery and to make bags. Carpentry shops have been set up for those who are

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD IN EUROPEAN FUR MARKET

President of New York Fur Auction Sales Says German Buyers Will be in Attendance at Next Sale

(Special to The Guardian). NEW YORK, July 16.—Due to the establishment of dollar credits in Germany by American bankers, the Leipzig Fur Market was found to be one of the most active in Europe by Mr. Norman B. Bacon, President of the New York Fur Auction Sales corporation, who has just returned from a two months' business trip abroad.

While on the other side Mr. Bacon visited the fur markets in London, Paris and Leipzig. "Profits of the fur trade have been a regular thing in the Leipzig fur market," Mr. Bacon asserted today. "The result is that an active business is being done here and supplies of domestic fur are practically depleted. This makes it necessary for the German fur dealers to import their stocks from other countries, and because of the existence of dollar credits in Germany, the American trade is getting its share of this business. Further than this, it will make possible the buying of furs at the auctions held in this city three times a year, and the indications are that beginning with the winter sales there will be a good attendance of German buyers at the New York auctions.

With the possible exception of the Paris market, which could be found in a bit better financial shape, the leading European fur markets are in a satisfactory condition. Stocks generally small, and prices are well stabilized. Even in Paris a good business has been done in furs, a feature of which has been the call for monkey pelts for trimming women's apparel.

Although the London Market was cut into to some extent by the strike of the English coal miners, which had a deterrent effect on British trade generally, the fur dealers there are satisfied with the business they have done this year. The prices of some American furs are regarded high, however, and the present cost of muskrats prevents its ready sale in London at present. The depleted condition of stocks in London is showed by the fact that the Hudson Bay Company is said to have smaller quantities of skins in its warehouse than has been the case at this time in previous years. There is in other European markets, considerable interest is shown in what Russia holds in this line. Mr. Bacon concluded by saying that a careful study of conditions abroad particularly in view of their relations to London as an auction center, led him to conclude that there was nothing to threaten the future of this city as one of the chief fur distributing points of the

Premier Meighen Received Freedom Of London

LONDON, July 16.—With the all pomp and circumstance with which tradition surrounds the ceremony, the freedom of London was presented to Premier Arthur Meighen today. At 12 o'clock in the historic Guildhall, the lord mayor and sheriffs, resplendent in quaint, almost medieval uniforms, received the guests after which a special meeting of the corporation was constituted. Chamberlain Sir Adrian Pollock, delivered an address and pronounced the Canadian premier a freeman. Premier Meighen spoke briefly in reply after which a large company including members of the imperial conference and leaders of all parties in British politics attended luncheon at Mansion House in his honor. Premier Meighen was the chief speaker at the function and dealt with the problems of the British Commonwealth.

"Among other things, he said: "I have a word to say now as to how you should regard the dominions. In our political institutions we are indeed a replica of this country. The head of these institutions is the sovereign common to us all and revered by us all. In that fact, in what I may call that momentous similarity, is wrapped up the sense of our common mission on earth and the secret of our unity. But I doubt if there is any other respect in which the dominions are replicas of the Motherland. Our geography is different, our neighborhood is different. The assets stored by nature in our soil are also different. No two nations of this empire have the same path to travel. Each encounters difficulties and enjoys advantages all its own.

Shaping Plans. "These are powerful, immovable facts and because they are facts we have to shape our plans to meet them. True it is that we share each other's security and the peril of one is the peril of all, but subject to that consideration each dominion must determine its policy in the light of the conditions that surround it. What may be right for one may be entirely wrong for another. What may be for you a mere passing care may be to us the most persistent and baffling problem of our politics.

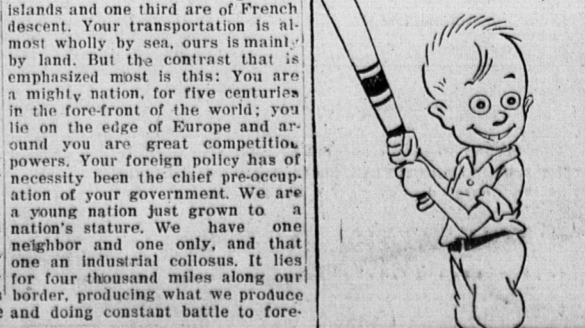

"Canada, for example, is a nation of about 9,000,000 people spread over half a continent. You are 43,000,000 people gathered on two small islands. You have a homogeneous population. Only about one half of ours have origin in these islands and one third are of French descent. Your transportation is almost wholly by sea, ours is mainly by land. But the contrast that is emphasized most is this: You are a mighty nation, for five centuries in the fore-front of the world; you lie on the edge of Europe and are surrounded by great competition. Your foreign policy has of necessity been the chief pre-occupation of your government. We are a young nation just grown to a nation's stature. We have one neighbor and one only, and that one an industrial colossus. It lies for four thousand miles along our border, producing what we produce and doing constant battle to fore-
