strength of the country is to be restored completely the existing programme of emergency taxation and economy must be maintained in all essential points.

It was confidently believed, however, that the additional tax of 31 shillings a standard barrel on beer might be removed, as its imposition last fall brought a substantial reduction in consumption and consequent failure to increase revenue.

It was also thought payers of taxes on small incomes might be given some relief by an increase in exemption as applied to married persons from £150 to £175. The exemptions on incomes last September was reduced in the case of single persons by £35 and for married persons by £75.

A duty on tea, which has entered the country tax free since 1923 was expected and forecasters said the rate would run between fourpence and eightpence a pound for foreign tea, with exemptions or a very low levy in the case of tea grown within the empire. Mr. Chamberlain was expected to have in sight a budget surplus of between £20,000,000 and £25,000,000 which would rule out possibility of large tax remissions.

Possibility was seen that the financial situation might be affected later in the year by the course of trade and employment, results of the June conference at Lausanne on war debt and reparations and agreements which might be reached at the Ottawa Imperial Conference in July between the United Kingdom and the Dominions. These possibilities led to the view the situation might be sufficiently altered during the course of the summer to compel revision of the year's financial provisions by the introduction next fall of a supplementary budget.

purchased as a two year old by Harold Muller and was afterwards bought by Mr. Sudsbury. This mare was valued at $2,000, Mr. Sudsbury refusing an offer of $1,800 for her last year. She was trained by the well known trainer Tyndale Sample. She was looked upon by judges of good horseflesh to be again getting into her stride and would be in better shape than ever this year.

Mr. Charles Sudsbury of Kensington had the misfortune to lose his valuable pacing mare Jacqueline which died on Friday last from the effects of a chill. The mare is a distinct loss to the racing public, a product of Kensington. She won the Island championship two years ago at the Charlottetown Exhibition in a 2:10 heat. Unfortunately she received a hurt at that race which prevented her from continuing in the front row of Island horses, although at that time she was looked upon as being one of the fastest horses in the Maritime Provinces as she showed extreme speed. She was a Lacopia of a Brazilian mother and was raised by the late John T. Muller of Kensington. She was

15 CANADIANS ENTERED IN BOSTON GRIND

(Canadian Press)

BOSTON, April 17—Fifteen Canadian runners will test speed and endurance against nearly 200 others when the 36th annual marathon race of the Boston Athletic Association starts Tuesday.

From Hopkington to the Boston A. A. Clubhouse—the exact Marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards,—Canada's entrants will find the stiffest of competition. Arrayed against them will be some of the greatest marathoners of the eastern United States. Four former winners must be overcome if Canada is to carry off first honors.

Thirteen of the Dominion's entrants are from Toronto, nine of these from the Monarch Club. Calgary, Alta., and Springhill, N. S., each entered a runner.

Clarence Demar, of Keene, N. H., veteran of many a marathon grind, has high hopes of winning his eighth victory in 14 starts in the Boston race. Demar, nearing his 44th birthday, made his poorest showing in 1929, when he finished ninth. Last year he was fifth. Other former winners in the race are Jimmy Henigan, last year's victor; Bill Kennedy, Fort Chester, N. Y., bricklayer, and Carl Linder, 1919 winner.

If a United States entrant wins Tuesday, he will automatically qualify for his country's team at the Olympic Games. Demar declared if he falls Tuesday, he will try to qualify for the team in a race next month at Baltimore. A loss does not necessarily mean he will fall of selection, but a win assures him of a try for the prize he covets—an Olympic title. Demar first represented the United States in the Olympic Games as far back as 1912.

The list of Canadian entrants follows:—Warren Eyre, Gladstone A. C., Toronto; James Shaw, Alex. Euhnside, Joe Pearson, Manley Stark, Bill Spencer, Vic Callard, Ted Butler, Jimmy Bartlett, Eddy Cutworth, all of the Monarch A. C., Toronto; Anders Y. H. Anderson, Calgary, Alta.; Albert H. J. Gould, Richard Wilding, Silverthorne A. C., Toronto; Noel Paul, Colts Club, Springhill, N. S.; Jack O'Reilly, Spartan Club, Toronto.

ISLANDERS ATTEND FISHERIES COURSE

The fifth in the series of Courses for Fishermen was held at the Fisheries Experimental Station, Halifax, from January 27th to March 8th and was attended by 28 fishermen under 35 years of age. Of these men 15 were from Nova Scotia, 6 from New Brunswick and 7 from Prince Edward Island. They were assisted in attending the course to the extent of having their railway fare to and from Halifax paid and of receiving a sum of $45 to defray living expenses during the six week period. The courses given were largely similar to those offered in the past and included practical instruction in putting up pickled herring and mackerel, and dried and boneless codfish; practical courses on navigation and motor engines; and lectures and demonstrations of methods of brine freezing bait and storing the same. A relatively small part of the time was devoted to lectures in elementary science and simple economics. An effort was made to have the points covered in these two subjects such as would fit into the experience of these men in the prosecution of their work. Examinations were held on six subjects at the end of the course. Twenty-two men passed the examinations, seven with honours. A review of the Courses shows that the attendance each year was as follows:—20, 1928; 25, 1929; 20, 1930; 23, 1931; 28, 1932.

KINGSMEN HONORED

"Church Work" in referring to the recent appointment of Rev. J. H. Holmes, M. A., to be Dean of Fredericton Cathedral and Rev. Thomas Parker, M. A., as Archdeacon of Chatham, says: "It is a happy coincidence that they were classmates of Kings University and were ordained together at Christ Church Cathedral, Fredericton, and that it will be a matter of pride and joy to Kingsmen everywhere that honours have come to two graduates within such a short time of one another." Dean Holmes above referred to, preached in the two City Anglican Churches yesterday.

ABBIE SISTERS AND SENIOR "Y" WIN BASKETBALL SEMI-FINALS

At the "Y" Saturday night two exciting games of basketball were played between the Abbie Sisters and the Amazons in the ladies' playdowns and the Senior Y and the Falcons, in the city league play-offs.

The Abbie sisters won their game by the score of 28-20 and had 9 points to boot from the last game, which gave them a total margin of 17 for the both games. The Abbies outscored the Amazons in the first half by 14 but in the last period the Amazons came back strong to score 14 during which time the Abbies managed to collect 8. MacGee, Harrington and Rattenbury were outstanding for the Abbies, always managing to get in close to the basket. MacGee scored 9 points while Harrington and Rattenbury procured 6 each. The Amazons lacked somewhat on the combination end of the game, especially in the first half. Ayers was the big threat with a finely timed shot. She scored 12 points. Whitlock came next with 4 digits. The guards played well and were aided by Rodd who played good on both defense and offense. Line-ups:

SECOND GAME

Saturday night at the "Y" gym the second game of the semi-finals was played between the Falcons and the Senior "Y."

Going into the game with an 18 point margin against them, the Falcons played inspired basketball, trying to overcome this tremendous lead. At times they were within an ace of victory, but two baskets scored in the dying moments of the game by Senior "Y" clinched the round for them.

Although the Falcons won this game 42-31, they lost the two-game series by seven points. The total scores being 70-63 for the Senior "Y."

For the Falcons, Power, Doyle, Harley were outstanding while Henry, Goss were the bright lights for Senior "Y."

Walter Goss, assisted by W. Scantlebury, handled the game impartially.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The second of a series of sermons on "The Seven Churches," the Rev. A. C. Vincent spoke yesterday morning on Smyrna. Smyrna, the crown-crowned city, about forty miles from Ephesus was then, as it is now a city of very considerable population and importance. The Pagan population were given to the worship of Dionysus the wine god and in his difficult situation the little Christian body, through tribulation, persecution and poverty, bravely kept the faith.

To Smyrna, Christ says the "first and the last which was dead and lived again, I know thy tribulation." With Smyrna the Master had fellowship in suffering as well as in labour. Many are the great visions of God which come through suffering. Smyrna lived vitally and valourously under trial and persecution and of her it is said that she is the one only of the seven churches who continued through the ages. Smyrna is one of the two in which no fault is found. "I know thy poverty," Confiscation, discrimination, Smyrna suffered both and with them, unemployment of her people, but ever the lamp of the gospel burned strong and clear. It is easy to be good when there is no opposition, these are patterns of the people whose faith is expressed in vision plus valour. "But ye are rich," Wealthy in soul in the midst of material want, surrounded by poverty in purple the gift of God made them rich even in rags. "Fear not," Not a counsel that trouble shall be lessened, but an adjuration of courage in the face of persecutions and bitterness to come. Christianity is a call to heroism, to self sacrifice, to a religion of daring adventure. "For-saking all I take Him," their love and ardour covered not by persecution, poverty, prison or death, bright in the assurance that "I shall give thee a crown of life."

The evening sermon, "Christianity and Social Problems" a thoughtful and inspiring address was heard by a large congregation. The wor-with Mr. Leeds, Sir. You certainly are enthusiastic about that Double Protection Life Insurance policy. I hope you'll pardon my intrusion—but what is it all about?

"No offence at all, my boy—sit down a moment. Say, aren't you the latest addition to our proud fathers' club?"

"Yes Sir, I am, and what a son! You should see him! You can understand now why I'm so interested in family protection. How would this Policy work, say, at my age—thirty?"

"Well, thirty's a good age to begin. Let's say you insure for $10,000. If you should die before you reach age sixty—your wife would receive twice the amount of your Policy—$20,000. That's what I mean by Double Protection."

"Supposing I survive age sixty, and die, at say, sixty-three?"

"After you reach age sixty, the extra benefits are reduced by 20% each year, until age sixty-five is reached, when your policy would become a whole life Policy for $10,000, with the premiums reduced accordingly."

"That sounds like a real winner for me, Mr. Winters—but you forgot to tell me the name of the Company."

"It's THE DOMINION LIFE—they have representatives in town. I'll have the one who sold me call and see you to-morrow."

"Say, that's great—very kind of you, Sir. Good-night, and thank you very much."

A chance conversation showed this young man the way to a "Doubly Protected" future. But you need not depend on chance. The coupon below will bring you the Dominion Life Booklet—"Doubly Protected."
