

Fashions in Ladies Fall Shoes

Our New Queen Quality and Boston Favorites are here. Shown in Patent and Gun Metal finishes. $3.50 to $5.00 Alley & Co. Sole Agents

A gift to strengthen friendship—your photo.

The Cook Studio

Your Photo for Xmas

The simple gift that lends the touch of friendship without the embarrassment of an obligation. Make an appointment today.

Bayer Photo Studio

A. E. Lyon

Photo Studio

Specialty in Groups, College, Society and Family Work unexcelled.

Moderate Prices.

Amateur's work given personal attention 107 Queen St. Ch. Town Phone 68

McKenzie & Montgomery

Blacksmiths and Wood Workers.

Farm, Ship and Machine Work, carriages and sleighs. Built and repaired Also agents for Escoto Engine and Massey Harris Co.

All orders promptly attended to. Give us a call. Satisfaction guaranteed.

McKENZIE & MONTGOMERY, Breakwater Street, Souris, P. E. I.

3506-10-19 Mtts 1 Mo.

King's County Liberal-Conservative Convention

A Convention of the Liberal-Conservative Party of King's County will be held at Georgetown on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd, 1915, at 1 p.m., for the purpose of nominating a Candidate in the King's County in place of Mr. A. L. Fraser.

Each Poll is requested to have the usual number of delegates in attendance. JOHN McLEAN, Vice-President.

3320-10-1m 231.

A Ticklish Proposition

Our Coal is bound to tickle the whole family either directly or indirectly. Father is tickled by the nice even heat that fills the den, Mother by the quick, lasting heat that enables her to keep a good stock of goodies for the kiddies who are always tickler to get home to a pleasant fire and mother's BEST. Phone 111. C. LYONS & CO.

The Eastern Guardian

..*IT PAYS to buy in this Province

..*T. GORDON IVES is Guardian Representative for Montagu.

..*D. F. TIERNEY is Guardian representative in Souris.

..*FARMERS FINISH.—The farmers of Fortune have finished digging their potatoes. They report the crop very much below the average.—F.

..*HEAVY YIELD.—Mr. John Riley of Fortune Bridge reports a very fine turn out of potatoes, he took eight cart loads off one half acre.—F.

..*LECTURE.—A very instructive biographical and historical lecture was given under the auspices of the C. M. B. A. in St. Mary's Hall, Souris, by Rev. Dr. Walker, of Rollo Bay on Tuesday evening, October 26th. The subject of the address was St. Louis, King of France, that famous ruler so favorably known for his diplomacy, wisdom and piety. It was delivered in the Rev. Dr.'s usual masterful style. The reverend gentleman opened his lecture by comparing the times of King Louis—as the middle ages—with the present day. Contrasting the present age with that period he proved conclusively that King Louis could be a legislator, warrior or diplomat, he surpassed by few which either in ancient or modern times. King Louis was born, at the beginning of the thirteenth century, being a son of Louis "the Lion" and Blanche of Castile, coming to the throne at the early age of twelve years. He was trained by his mother, who acted as regent until he came of age, and it is due to her Christian training, that the principles so much admired by his biographers were inculcated into him as a child and that piety, morality and upright government were the fundamental truths by which he ruled. The early years of his reign were troubled by insurrections and rebellions among the petty dukes and counts of his realm, but these were quickly put down by the tact and diplomacy of the young king who, even then was famed far and wide as an arbitrator. About this time the Christians were trying to wrest the Holy Land from the Turks and King Louis decided to lead a Crusade into Palestine against the Sultan who was there oppressing the Christians. Accordingly he set sail with a large fleet but storms prevented the sailing of his plans and he was compelled to spend the winter on the island of Cyprus. In the following spring he again set sail and defeated the Saracens at the mouth of the River Nile. Dr. Walker's description of the manner of ancient warfare together with his most vivid description of the scene of conflict was followed with great attention by the audience. The Rev. Dr. then continued and told how the Christian ranks were decimated by pestilence and a truce having been arranged, King Louis set sail for home. A few years later he again took up the Crusader's sword and marched to the capture of Tunis then held by the Mohammedans. Here he was stricken with fever, and after days of intense suffering he died, mourned by the whole army. The remembrance of his courageous spirit still cheering the soldiers on, led to a speedy close of the war. Palestine was now given over to the use of the Christian people for ever. The great lesson underlying the lecture, apart from its historical bearing was exemplified at the close of the Rev. Dr.'s discourse, when he exhorted his audience to emulate the spirit of St. Louis, in every respect—drawing the sword in a righteous cause and if necessary even to die for one's country. In conclusion the Rev. Dr. referred to the justice of the present struggle and encouraged all young men to join the colors. A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mr. J. J. Hughes, M. P., and ably seconded by Judge Fraser for the excellent address given by Dr. Walker and it is hoped he will favor us again in the near future with such another instructive and interesting lecture. At the close Rev. R. B. MacDonald after a few appreciative remarks announced that on Nov. 16th, Rev. Fr. MacPherson, St. Margaret's would deliver a lecture in the same hall and invited the audience to be present on this occasion also.

EASTERN PERSONALS

..*Mr. and Mrs. John Webster of Charlottetown was visiting in Fortune on Monday.—F.

..*Mrs. Wm. Coffin of Fortune Bridge is in North Sydney visiting her mother, who is very ill.—F.

..*Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harris have returned to their cottage in Fortune, after spending a few weeks in Boston and New York.—F.

..*The many friends of Mr. Warren Dingwell of Little River will be sorry to hear of his illness and all look for his speedy recovery.—F.

..*Mr. William MacDonald, New Glasgow, N. S., head agent for the Esco Engine, accompanied by Mr. Robert E. MacKenzie, their representative for Souris, were visitors to the "North Side" on Thursday.—F.

THE MARKETS

CH. TOWN MARKETS

Butter, per lb 28-30
Fowl per lb 14 to 16
Chickens 14 to 16
Hay pressed 75 to 80
Wheat, per bus. 11.00 to 11.25
Oats, 38
Eggs, dozen, 28-30
Butter lb (creamery) 30
Tub butter per lb 30
Potatoes, per bus, new 10 to 12
Beef per lb., retail 12
Turnips, 25 to 40
Plums per qt 15
Straw $6.50

S. SIDE MARKETS

Butter, (dairy) per lb. 22 to 23c.
Butter (creamery) per lb. 31c.
Calfskins, per lb. 12 to 15c.
Chickens, (dressed) per lb. 12 to 15c.
Eggs, per doz. 26c.
Hay, pressed, per ton $10 to $13
Hay, loose, per ton $9 to $10
Hides, per lb. 14c.
Oats (black) per bus. 40c.
Oats (white) per bus. 40c.
Oatmeal, per 100 lbs. $3.50
Potatoes, per bush. .40
Pork, organs left cut 7 1/2 to 10 1/2 c.
Straw, (pressed), per ton $6.00
Turnips, per bush 25c.
Wheat, per bus. $1.00 to $1.25
Wool, per lb. 26 to 40c.

A WISE JUDGE PLAN FOR SAVING HOMES.

Solomon has long enjoyed considerable reputation for wisdom, but New York, has brought to the fore after all these centuries a jurist who seems a worthy rival of the great Israelitish monarch. The New York sage is Magistrate Dooley of the Court of Domestic Relations. Dooley knows the human heart—and he knows married folks. Our New York court temporaries do not tell us whether he is single or married, but if he is not married he ought to be. He has in him the material for a model husband. For Dooley believes that marriage is so fine a thing ordinary human frailties ought not to be permitted to mar it. Therefore he holds in his court weekly a "reconciliation night" (Monday) on which occasion he endeavors to settle domestic troubles not by applying law but by applying tact, and common sense. And here is the result as we find it marked in the columns of a Brooklyn paper:

"In five years his court has collected $500,000 from the men for the support of their families. These are the men who used to be locked-up for non-support in the old days, leaving the wife to go washing and the children to be sent to a home. Under the new law the Domestic Relations Court has an employment bureau to meet the case of the men whose excuse for not supporting their families is that they cannot get work. "Reconciliation night" is the time when the magistrate patches up the quarrels by talking things over with the husband and wife jointly, more as a friend than as a judge. That work is supplemented by woman probation officers who go into the homes and teach wives to cook, and how to manage their money to their advantage, in the hope of keeping the husband and his wages out of the saloons. That is not exactly a judicial function, but it is good human kindness and it works, as is shown by the large number of wives and children whom the husbands support under the pressure of the court, when otherwise they would become a charge upon the city."

There should be a through trial of precisely this method in every city in the country. That there is an urgent demand for it is proved by the fact that Magistrate Dooley's court now has 100 cases in probation. It can hardly be doubted that in the great majority of them the outcome will be satisfactory. Recollection is possible in a large proportion of matrimonial estrangements. Saving homes by this plan is a slyly disguised but translating efficiency into terms of law.

WAR SONG.

AIR "MARCHING THROUGH GEORGIA."

Old England call; her loyal sons
Whose hearts are brave and true
To rally round her glorious flag
Its colors royal too.
We'll rally round the dear old flag
That waves so full and free
We'll save it from the foeman's hand
On land and on sea.

CHORUS.
Hurr! hurr! were coming right along
Hurr! hurr! and this will be our song
God save our King: Old England too
And the flags that makes us free
While hearts thrill with silent devotion

Our country's on our hearts engraved
We fond affection give
To her and our beloved King
In peace long may he live
Old England's King for peace did plead
The foeman scorned his prayer
We'll rally to our country's need
And make the foe beware.

CHORUS.
Our wives and mothers sweethearts all
Their eyes bedimmed with tears
Cry "Hasten to your country's scull"
Amid resounding cheer
And while they wave a fond good-bye
To all they hold most dear
They breathe a prayer to the most High
For His protection here.

CHORUS.
And if all ranks that now are full
Be thinned for England's cause
We'll yield our lives nor deem them lost
To strengthen British laws
And if of us can ne'er be said
We filled a traitors grave
We'll do our duty to a man
Our country die to save

CHORUS.
Come hasten to our country's call
All British sons and true
With loyal hearts both one and all
Its triumphs to renew
We'll rally round the dear old flag
Its glories we will sing
And as of yore we'll sing once more
God Save Our Gracious King.

CHORUS.
Composed by MRS. GEORGE BEARS,
at Northlands, Sask.,
Aug. 21st, 1914.

TENTING ON THE OLD CAMP GROUND
We're tenting tonight on the old camp ground,
Give us a song to cheer
Our weary hearts, a song of home,
And friends we love so dear.

Chorus—
Many are the hearts that are weary tonight,
Wishing for the war to cease;
Many are the hearts looking for the right,
To see the dawn of peace.

We've been tenting tonight on the old camp ground,
Thinking of days gone by,
Of the lov'd ones at home that gave us the hand,
And the tear that said "good-bye!"—Chorus.

We are tired of war on the old camp ground,
Many are dead and gone
Of the brave and true who've left their homes,
Others been wounded long.—Chorus

We've been fighting tonight on the old camp ground,
Many are lying near;
Some are dead, and some are dying,
Many are in tears.—Chorus.

CAUTION.
"Do you know how to swim?" asked Maude.
"Certainly not," replied Mayme.
"And, what's more, I don't propose to learn and lose my chance of being the heroine of a romantic rescue."

WHY DR. JACKSON OBJECTS TO BRAN GERM.

They are as unbalanced as white flour. They have little nutrition. They irritate and cause catarrh of the bowels, a worse condition than the constipation they are intended to relieve. Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal is a bran containing food, but it also contains deodorized flaxseed, whose soothing properties counteract the irritant effects of the bran. It makes delicious porridge, pan cakes, gems, cakes, and bread. It nourishes better than meat. It prevents indigestion and positively relieves constipation or "money back." Ask your doctor. At all grocers, 10 cents and 25 cents.

THE TEACHING PROFESSION IN ENGLAND.

In the course of an elaborate enquiry into the constitution and working of the organization of the teaching profession in England, more especially in its relation to the state and municipal enterprise, Mr. Sidney Webb recently threw some interesting sidelights upon the conflict of ideals which has been maintained between the profession and the central authority. The activity of the National Union of Teachers has undoubtedly enabled teachers to guard their interests against oppressive action, and to check exactions on the part of managers, while raising the social status and improving the financial position of its members. But though the union has been so far successful, and has benefited the public by endeavoring to identify the interests of the teachers with those of the children, it has failed to deal efficiently with the question of uncertificated teachers registration council has also, in recent years, done much useful spade work, and perhaps the most satisfactory feature of the outside public is the growing feeling between elementary and secondary teachers of solidarity of interest.

Cynics have classed teachers in two categories; those who know how to teach and do it, and those who don't know how, but try to teach by flogging. Some maintain that teaching is a gift, others that by means of a technique, those who have no special gift can be trained to teach. The truth, perhaps, lies between the two. It is certain that many people who can do things well have not the power of criticism, or of judging the efforts of others. Those who are doers are generally so occupied with the doing that they appear to have no time for observation or thought beyond the matter in which they are absorbed; hence their "comparative" sense is lacking. On the other hand, those who have the comparative sense highly developed are better judges of the efforts of others than producers of effort themselves.

The plea for development of technique in the scholastic profession has much in its favor, in that it would help to eliminate the uncertificated teacher who is one of the greatest drags upon the raising both of the salaries and the status of the profession. It has been pertinently asked, "What is the nature of the certificate; is it to be the effect that a teacher knows his subject or that he is a good teacher? Closely associated with the question of the development of technique is that of the size of the classes with which teachers have to deal. If the classes are sufficiently small, technique will not be so essential as with large classes, which give children no opportunity of expressing themselves. The development of technique should facilitate the removal of the incapable teacher and even thus indirectly enhance the teacher's status; but this aim can best be achieved by an organization which puts its ideas into effect, and enforces not only its rights, but its duties and responsibilities to the public.

PAYING OUR DEBTS

Any man making a pretence at benefits. But having admitted the justness of the claim he will pay for what he owes. He may be surprised at the wisdom of the application of the principle that lies at the back of it. The earth pays for what it gets—the rain and the sunshine, and the breezes of heaven—with fruitfulness, waving grain, buds and blossoms and fruits, and the smiling green of fields. It is not a mere sponge, receiving always and never responding to the giver. It gives back everything, with an added something of its own. The earth is honestly and generously honest. And man ought not to be any less so. He is getting every day and hour and moment of his life, getting from all sides and in all possible ways.—Scottish-American.

HALLOWE'EN GAMES FOR TO-NIGHT

Several jolly Halloween parties are planned for tonight and here are some Scotch superstitions which might be carried out.

Before the glowing fire a nut is put down to roast, christened with someone's name in the thoughts of the person who places it. Then the outcome is repeated:

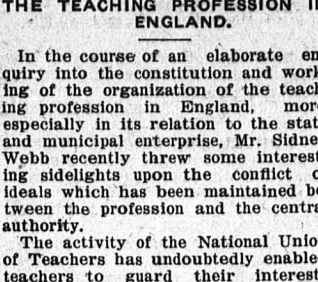

"If you love me, spit and fly;
If you hate me, lie and die."
The behaviour of the nut decides this momentous question. Two nuts put down together represents the future of a couple. Burning steadily side by side denotes calm and happy wedded life. But if one starts away from the other, no marriage will unite the young pair. The maiden who wishes to know something of her future spouse should eat a salt herring in three bites and drink nothing afterwards. She who then dreams of the husband to come. She may also take a looking-glass and walk with it backwards to some lonely spot, then sit down in front of it, comb her hair and eat an apple during which process the face of her lover will, it is said, appear to her in the glass.

Another superstition is that if you pare an apple without breaking the peeling and throw it over your head to the floor the initial it forms will be that of your future husband.

An interesting test for Halloween consists of placing three saucers on a table. In one there is water, in another there is oil, in the other one there is nothing. The smallest boy in the room should be blindfolded before the saucers are brought on. The person making the test stands the blindfolded boy before the table, holds his left hand, and directs him to reach out and put his finger in one of the saucers. He does so. If he puts his finger in the saucer of water, you will be happily married; if he puts it in the saucer of oil you will marry for money; if he puts it in the empty saucer, you will never marry.

NEW SILVER MOON BASE BURNER

with and without Revertible Flue also Hard Coal for use with same, and all at prices for cash that will meet any competition in the Province.

Poole & Thompson Ltd
Montague

WHERE AMHERST MAKE EXCELS

7 POINTS—THE PERFECT NUMBER—
A. A. Alley
Agent for P. E. I.

HEAVY FALL SUITS

We have a new lot of these to arrive in a day or so, which we will sell at a ridiculously low price, considering present day values.

Also: If you want a pair of dress gloves, or any kind of working or driving gloves or mitts, see ours. We have a large stock and unbeatable prices.

Men's heavy winter pants, extra good values, all sizes. You can get anything you want here. We buy in large quantities, for spot cash, at rock bottom figures, and will sell accordingly.

C. E. PRATT & SON.

The Walkhard Mirror Means Shaving Satisfaction for Soldiers

We have here now, a mirror that will not break, wear or rust. It is made to fit the upper tunic pocket—is light in weight and affords protection to the body. It is the "Walkhard" unbreakable shaving mirror—made from heavy sheet brass, highly nickel plated—a perfect mirror. Every soldier needs this mirror—every soldier should have one. If you have a son, brother or friend at the front, send him one. Give one to the soldier boy about to leave for the front. These mirrors are enclosed in a neat, flannel-lined morocco case. Price complete $1.00.

Fred H. Trainor, 80 Grafton Street

Opposite Prince Edward Theatre

Dainty China

A Gift that is always sure to please the Bride is dainty China. We have an extensive assortment of Hand Painted China in exquisite designs, any piece of which would be a delight to the recipient. C. W. Patterson Jeweller