POLICE COURT.—The two men who figured in the automobile accident on Monday night when their auto capsized while rounding a corner appeared before His Honor yesterday. The driver was fined $30 and the other man was fined $10. It is only fair to state that these men do not belong to West River as was previously reported, but from another part of the country. They denied that there was any smallpox in the house they came from. A young man creating a disturbance at the Prince Edward Theater was fined $4.

WEDDING BELLS.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Capt. and Mrs. John Embree, Port Hawkesbury, N. S., on Tuesday, the 28th of October, by Rev. C. H. C. McLaren, when their eldest daughter, Joyce May became the wife of George Albert Burch, of Charlottetown, P.E. Island. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Herbert, looked charming in a costume of midnight blue satin with hat to match and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and maiden hair fern. The bride and groom's only attendant was the bride's little sister Hazel, who acted as ring bearer, dressed in a dainty pale blue silk. The wedding march was pleasantly rendered by Miss Annie MacDonald. The bride who is a very popular young lady, received a great many valuable and useful gifts. Previous to her marriage she was tendered a shower by her girl friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful string of pearls. Immediately after the ceremony a dainty lunch was served to a number of guests. Mr. and Mrs. Burch left on the night train to spend their wedding trip in Halifax. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge with hat to match. On their return they will reside at Charlottetown. The groom is a returned soldier having served four years overseas.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.—The Thanksgiving services held in connection with Mount Stewart Circuit were attended by good congregations although the weather was not very inviting for any one to go far. A special feature of the services was the start of union services at Mount Stewart on Sunday evening during the winter months. The Rev. J. C. Martin presided while the pastor Rev. R. M. Brodie gave the sermon. Next Sunday the services are as follows: Marie 10.30 a. m. Thanksgiving services. Offering and gifts for the conventional funds. Mount Stewart 3 p. m. at 7 p. m. United service in the Presbyterian church.

HOCKEY.—The Halifax Mail says: E. B. Parkman, manager of the Charlottetown hockey club, one of the largest building contractors in Prince Edward Island, was in the city yesterday booking games for his club this winter. Mr. Parkman is anxious to have a Halifax team play against the best team on the island, and he has arranged with a local man to have our best team play two games in Charlottetown early in January. The local team will have well known players on its lineup. Mr. Parkman states that hockey boomed on the island last winter and that this season will see even a bigger boom and that the fans in his town are anxious that a Halifax team open the season. Charlottetown will meet Amherst in January and it is hoped the Springhill and New Glasgow will play there later.

WEDDING BELLS.—On Wednesday, Nov. 5th, in St. Patrick's Church, Fort Augustus, a pretty wedding was solemnized when Susan McKenna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McKenna, Auburn, was married to Mr. Matthew Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lawson of Kirkcaldy, Scotland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. McDonald. The bride looked pretty good in a beautiful suit of midnight blue tulle, and wore lily of the valley with hat to match. She was attended by her sister Bridget who wore a pretty frock of blue tulle, and a becoming hat. Mr. Patrick McKenna brother of the bride was best man. Mr. William F. McDonald, Glenfinnan, presided at the organ and rendered appropriate music during the nuptial mass, and the wedding march at the close. After the service the happy party drove to Charlottetown for dinner returning in the afternoon to the bride's home where they were welcomed by all their friends of Auburn and vicinity. After partaking of the many good things prepared in Mrs. McKenna's best style, the evening was passed joyfully in music and dancing. Best wishes for a happy wedded life.

In my last article I told you a little about the city of Edinburgh. This week I will tell you a little at random about the different places I visited while in England.

Most of my time while there was spent in hospital, as I had been put in the fighting shortly after the big drive at Arras began, and after had a long siege in hospital.

I was very fortunate in getting into a good hospital, "the 4th Canadian General, at Basingstoke, Hants County." This was reckoned to be one of the best, and was staffed by Canadian nurses and doctors.

Twice weekly they had a trip arranged for any of the patients who were strong enough to take advantage of them. One of them was a trip up the River Thames, and the other was to be a trip to Winchester.

I took advantage of the former, along with about fifty of the boys. A unique feature of this outing on the river, was an orchestra composed entirely of the patients themselves, who discoursed lively music, keeping the boys in good humor all the way up to Henley and back.

There are many interesting sights to be seen along the river. It is dotted here and there with little islands covered with trees and shrubbery. At the time I was there, there was quite a number of families living in house boats. Some of these are built just like a bungalow.

Another feature of this river is its locks, five in number, which you have to pass through in order to get to Henley. I had the extreme pleasure of being one of the number on the boat, that carried the prize which was presented to the keeper of the best kept lock.

Arriving at Henley we were entertained by Lord and Lady Hamilton, at their estate. I will not try to explain about this place, as I have quite a number of other things to write about. After leaving hospital I went to London on leave. Here I had a splendid time visiting many places of interest.

The first day there, aided by a guide, I took in the sights of the west end, among them being "The Old Curiosity Shop," "Petty-Coat Lane," "Dirty Dick's Place" and many others which it would take a story book to write about.

No doubt some of you are wondering what kind of a place "Dirty Dick's" is and how it came by its name. The story has it that some years ago Dick was to be married, the wedding breakfast was spread and everything in readiness to receive his bride. While in the midst of his shaving, word came to him, that his bride to be, had committed suicide. He was never seen to wash or dress up afterwards. They claim that he died broken hearted, and after his death the authorities took charge of the place. You will notice the cobwebs still hanging from the ceiling, dead cats, rats, and utter desolation reign supreme in the house, that once was occupied by our subject "Dirty Dick."

"Petty-Coat Lane" is another interesting place, especially on Sunday morning where the street, or as it is called a lane, is filled with Jews and foreigners from all parts, selling their wares.

Another very interesting sight is the Horse Guards, mounting guard at Crystal Palace.

Among the most novel features of my trip was that to Madam Tussard's Wax Works, and Chamber of Horrors, truly a wonderful place, both from its historical and architectural beauty. They have the figures of Henry VIII, Queen Victoria, Edward the VII, and many others of our notables by history. The Chamber of Horrors is a separate class in itself composed chiefly of all the most notable figures of the criminal world, such as Dr. Crispin, Charles Pass the mysterious man of White Chappel, who committed several murders, puzzling the smartest detectives of that day.

These figures are all done in wax, so natural and life like that you can scarcely tell them from living persons. The Museum is a wonderful place
