

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT

JOHNS-MANVILLE BARGAIN SALES ARE HUSHED UP
Everyone loves a bargain... but few enjoy the push, shove and noise that go with a bargain sale!

OWNER AND PUBLISHER

(Continued from Page 1)

As the Star's editorial policy expanded and grew in force he was frequently the object of attack.

Joseph Atkinson never found anything in his life as interesting and as much fun as running a newspaper and he ran The Star in a manner that was often the despair and envy of other newspapermen.

He delighted in "scoops" and no expenditure was too great to ensure that The Star had them.

For fun — and circulation — Star men roved the world in the 20s and 30s when the newspaper was in its greatest period of expansion.

Such feature writers as Gregory Clark, the late Fred Griffin, Gordon Sinclair and the sports editor, the late Lou Marsh had almost unlimited expense accounts and covered the big stories whenever they happened.

The Star is reported to have spent $100,000 in covering the royal tour in 1939 and the reporters were in on the easy spending. But The Star newsroom was also a tough, hard-driving shop where the axe sometimes fell and discipline was strict.

In 1922 Mr. Atkinson installed the second radio station in North America, CPOA. An exponent of public ownership, Mr. Atkinson closed the station in 1931 after the Dominion Government entered the radio field.

Mr. Atkinson was born near Newcastle, Ont., on Dec. 23, 1865. The father, John Atkinson, who operated a mill, was killed by a train when Joseph, his eighth child, was only six months old.

Made His Own Way
The boy Joseph had to make his own way. He quit school at 14 and went to work in a woolen mill. Then came a vacancy in the local post office, and he got the job at $8 a month.

He began to send small items of news to the Port Hope Times, and at 18, earning only $9 per month, he joined the Times as a collector of accounts.

After four years at Port Hope he moved at 23 to the Toronto News when he was refused a $1-a-week raise and soon after to the Globe to write politics for eight years.

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

At the Globe he met Elmina Elliott, a pioneer woman journalist who wrote as Madge Merton, and in 1892 they were married. When Mr. Atkinson moved to Montreal as managing editor of the Herald after seven years on the Globe she went along as women's page editor and continued to work beside him for many years. After he was three years on the

CENTRAL GUARDIAN

This column is reserved for news of local interest, but advertising of a newsy nature may be inserted at five cents a word strictly payable in advance

HEAR George Wotton, O. C. P. provincial president over CPOV tonight at 7.45.

FUNERAL SUNDAY—The funeral of the late Mrs. John R. Dinis was held yesterday afternoon from her residence, Mount Edward Road. Services at the home and grave were conducted by Rev. T. E. McLennan. Interment was in the Peoples Cemetery. The pallbearers were, Robert Coulston, Harry Newson, Charles Newson, J. A. Moore, D. R. H. Shaw and George E. Brown.

TO MEET LOCAL BARRISTERS—Mr. W. J. Murphy, administrator of the Succession Duties branch, Department of National Revenue, Ottawa, has arrived in Charlottetown. Mr. Murphy will meet representatives of the Island Bar Society, and of the various trust companies and accounting firms for a general discussion of problems affecting succession duties in the Province. The meetings will be held in the Law Courts Building this evening and Tuesday evening as well.

ZION W. M. S. MEETING—The regular monthly meeting of Zion W. M. S. was held on Thursday evening with the president, Mrs. Webster, presiding. Following the singing of a hymn the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The Scripture lesson was found in the gospel of St. Matthew, chapter 9, verses 27-38. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Eighteen visits were made during the month. A nominating committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. A. A. MacDonald, Miss Aiken and Mrs. Kennedy. The president announced next meeting would be election of officers and reports would be given. Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Darrach and Mrs. White offered to go on the lunch committee for next night of meeting. The treasurer's report was given and received. Mrs. MacDonald had charge of the study period, assisted by Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Dennis. These members gave very fine papers on the lives of John Geddle, George and James Gordon and George Leslie McKay which was very instructive and interesting. A hymn was sung followed by prayer by Mrs. MacDonald and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

PERSONALS
The many friends of Mrs. Ernest Carter, Charlottetown, who is at present a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital, will be pleased to learn that she is recovering favourably after undergoing a recent operation.

SING LAST LOVE SONG
YORK BEACH, Me., May 9 — (AP) — Alberta Twombly, 36, and her husband, Dudley, sang their last love song together.

They were on stage in a duet at the amateur York Beach Minstrel's Friday night when Mrs. Twombly collapsed. She died Saturday from a cerebral haemorrhage. The song they didn't finish was "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Herald a group of Toronto Liberals offered him the post of publisher of The Star, a little paper, independent in politics, which had been founded seven years before in 1902 by a group of striking printers. There were four Conservative newspapers in Toronto and only one Liberal paper, the Globe, and the Liberals wanted more press strength.

The group, which included Sir William Mulock and Timothy Eaton, the department store magnate, raised $100,000 and Mr. Atkinson was to receive a yearly salary of $5,000, of which $2,000 was to be in stock.

With characteristic shrewdness he made certain definite stipulations: He must have a free hand to run the paper; no interference from the owners. He must have an opportunity to acquire stock. The paper must be conducted solely as a business enterprise, not as the organ of any group or group of persons. The owners referred these terms to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir Wilfrid assented.

A few days short of 34, J. E. Atkinson, as the last century was drawing to a close, hung up his hat in The Star office on Dec. 13, 1899.

Too Late To Clarify
FOR SALE — ONE R.C.A. Victor radio 6 tube. Apply to Donald MacDonald, New Westlhire.

TO LET — TWO ROOMS, ALSO a small cottage. Apply to Mrs. Russel Roper, Phone 1583-2.

FOR SALE — TWO STACKS OF hay. Apply Everett Weatherbie, Pownal.

WANTED — GIRL FOR KITCHEN work. Apply Queen Hotel.

LOST SATURDAY NIGHT, ONE small parcel near the B.-A. Service Station, St. Avaris. Finder phone 1582-13.

FOR SALE — 1 BREAKFAST suite, 1 sliding couch and mattresses, 1 dining room suite, Also lot of linen. Apply Herbert Thorne, Mt. Edward Road.

FOR SALE — 1935 CHEV. SEDAN in good running order. Apply 39 Passmore St., City.

FOR QUICK SALE — 1941 DODGE Luxury Liner. Apply Monarch Taxi Stand.

Long Service Members Of Guardian's Staff

Local Youth Faces Multiple Charges
On Saturday afternoon at the close of the week's work, the staff of the Guardian met in the News Room under the chairmanship of President Ian A. Burnett, to honor four members who had attained long service records.

Miss Katherine C. Irving, Day News and Home Economics Editor, has an unbroken record of fifty years service. Joining the staff, a mere girl, as proof reader's copy-holder in 1898, she passed through all the grades till she attained her present position, which she has held for a number of years. What Miss Irving does not know about editing news copy is hardly worth knowing. She acted as provincial correspondent of the Eastern Press prior to its amalgamation with the Canadian Press.

LAG IN COMMONS

(Continued from Page 1)

smaller today than it was two years ago when commodity prices and wages were both under control. The Minister also has before him the example of the U. S. Congress which this spring raised the floor of its income tax schedules.

National revenue Minister Dr. J. J. McCann who is responsible for collection of Federal taxes is known to be strongly in favor of abolishing a number of excise and "nuisance" taxes. A businessman as well as a medical doctor, Dr. McCann has been for some time at odds with government accounting methods which he has openly said are "confusing" and cumbersome.

His ideas which are said to be shared only by some in the Cabinet, are to do away with the multiplicity of taxes inherited from the war years and inherited to a greater extent on the straight personal income and corporations tax.

Further pressure on the Finance Minister comes from a Canadian business in general to reduce the scale of both personal and corporations taxes to a level comparable with that of the United States.

Their argument is that the current low taxes south of the international border are attracting more and more Canadian university graduates and technical men to jobs in the United States.

How Mr. Abbott will meet this three-fold pressure is known only to members of the budget committee. And the form which his budget will take will be the clearest indication yet before the Canadian public as to whether a general Federal election will be called in the fall or held over for a "sunshine budget" in 1949.

THIRD MUSICAL

(Continued from Page 1)

were kindly donated by many interested service clubs, organizations and individuals. The conclusion of this third annual Festival has been very encouraging as the entries have grown from 170 in 1945 to 530 this year, and the numerous scholarships which have been donated by music loving citizens of this Province for this year's festival have added much to its ultimate success.

Music Festivals in Prince Edward Island were first begun by a District Convention group of Women's Institutes in the vicinity of Charlottetown in October of 1945 when representatives of East, West, and Central Royalities, Harrington, Milton, Spring Park and Parkdale Institutes met at the home of Mrs. Preston Beck and formulated plans for a Musical Festival to be held in the following May. Several music teachers in Charlottetown were contacted, and the committee in charge was finally successful in securing the services of Mr. Walter MacNurt, A.T.C.M., to draw up a syllabus which has formed the framework of the succeeding festivals. Under the capable direction of the first president, Mrs. Preston Beck, the Association has flourished to its present state. The torch has been handed on to this year's president, Mr. H. Barry Bugden, who continues to handle the responsibilities of the Association in the same capable manner as the success of the recent festival has proven.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S PROGRAM

Following was the program presented at Saturday night's concert:

O Canada. High School Chorus: Turn Ye to Me — P.W.C. (T.T. Section). Piano Solo: Minuet from Alcina — Maida Rogerson.

Vocal Solo: Berceuse — Laura Doreen Wood. Chorus: Jolly Ploughboy — Prince Street School. Chorus: Spider Hunter — Prince Street School.

Violin Solo: Apollo March — Basil H. Phillips. Piano Duet: Dance of the Elves — Joan Marie MacGuire.

Vocal Solo: Where the Bee Sucks — Billie MacCannell. Rhythm Band — Conducted by E. Lillian MacKendzie.

Folk Song — Own Selection — June Foster. Chorus: Papageno's Song — Prince Street School. Chorus: The Boat Song — Parkdale School.

Piano Solo: Bagatelle — Patricia MacDonald. Vocal Solo: A Child's Prayer — Sheila Marie MacLinnis.

Women's Duet: The Graceful Swing — Dorothy Allen. Piano Solo: Allegro in C — Jane Isabel Giddings.

Women's Chorus: Oh the Sweet Delights of Spring — Spring Park Community Singers. Choral Group: Minuet from Oratorio (Samson) — Central Royalty Glee Club.

Vocal Solo: Cuckoo — Heather Ridd. Vocal Solo: Caravan — Douglas Clarke.

Piano Solo: Minuets 1 and 2 — Joan Rogerson. Women's Trio: Lift Thine Eyes — June Foster, Georgina King, Heather Lantz.

C.G.I.T. Group: (a) Charlie Is My Darling; (b) Round (own selection) — 3rd Charlottetown Girl Guide Company. Piano Solo: Toccata in A — Heather Lantz.

Vocal Solo: A Swan — Margaret Clarke.

RAILWAY FREIGHT

(Continued from Page 1)

that the Division, handicapped at the beginning of the shipping season by the lack of freight cars, especially refrigerators, got into high gear last month in its movement of potatoes for 1415 cars went through Borden on their way to Tormentine as compared to 932 for the corresponding month last year. Turnip shipments, however, were down five cars, 55 going last month as compared to 60 in April of 1947.

Though oats and butter are reported as scarce commodities in the Province, one car of butter and cheese and two of oats left the Province last month. The previous April no butter or cheese was exported and but one car of oats.

Hides showed a relatively big increase. Five cars were shipped last month as compared to only one in April, 1947.

Possibly significant of the sudden demand for pulp wood from this Province are the figures which show that 14 cars of "rough wood" were exported last month as compared to half that quantity in April of last year.

SOUTH KOREANS

(Continued from Page 1)

grounds that this would hand all Korea over to the Russian-organized North Korean Army.

Nearly 8,000,000 South Korean voters faced the apparent prospect of having bullets and beatings from Communist-led gangs to cast their ballots in Monday's election.

Since early February, about 400 persons in South Korea, have died in sporadic, sharp attacks by roving bands on police stations, election headquarters and the homes of rightists.

The fighting has been vicious, with rifles, swords, knives, spears, clubs and even stones as weapons. Many victims have been dismembered.

Lt.-Gen. Hodge has charged repeatedly that this is the work of "Communist stooges of northern masters" seeking to smash the election through "terroristic violence, slaughter and sabotage."

American authorities agree that the aim of the attacks is to cause the United Nations observers to reject the election on grounds that it was conducted in an atmosphere of fear and violence.

NEW TALKS

(Continued from Page 1)

advisers, if a settlement seems impossible.

The Union and management representatives conferred separately with John R. Steelman, the President's no. 1 labor adviser, throughout the day.

Between conferences, Steelman reported to President Truman, Johnston, a native of Plover, Ont., who as spokesman of the three unions involved, said that the parties had been talking separately with Steelman all day on the whole situation, without agreement of any kind.

The agreed strike hour is 6 a.m. Tuesday, local standard time. At one interval in the afternoon, the Union leaders said in a statement "We will place the full facts before the public if it becomes necessary to remove these discussions from the conference room."

The Guardian is proud of the enviable record of these veteran members of its staff and as a memento of the occasion Mr. Burnett, managing director, presented each with a wrist watch suitably inscribed.

killed for one partisan. Some 8,000 Lithuanians have already died in guerrilla war.

Reports from Latvia and Estonia, farther north, are fewer. Together the three little countries have only about two-thirds the population of Canada. They were occupied by the Red armies in June 1940, and two months later, with the Red armies there, they voted to become Soviets.

The United States Government has never recognized that vote, and the three Baltic diplomatic missions here are still recognized as the representatives of their countries.

Both Latvian and Lithuanian diplomats here and in London believe that the aim of the Russians in their countries is to liquidate the educated classes which could, eventually, lead a rebellion and the average seven Russians are eventually independent.

LAG IN COMMONS

(Continued from Page 1)

smaller today than it was two years ago when commodity prices and wages were both under control. The Minister also has before him the example of the U. S. Congress which this spring raised the floor of its income tax schedules.

National revenue Minister Dr. J. J. McCann who is responsible for collection of Federal taxes is known to be strongly in favor of abolishing a number of excise and "nuisance" taxes. A businessman as well as a medical doctor, Dr. McCann has been for some time at odds with government accounting methods which he has openly said are "confusing" and cumbersome.

His ideas which are said to be shared only by some in the Cabinet, are to do away with the multiplicity of taxes inherited from the war years and inherited to a greater extent on the straight personal income and corporations tax.

Further pressure on the Finance Minister comes from a Canadian business in general to reduce the scale of both personal and corporations taxes to a level comparable with that of the United States.

Their argument is that the current low taxes south of the international border are attracting more and more Canadian university graduates and technical men to jobs in the United States.

How Mr. Abbott will meet this three-fold pressure is known only to members of the budget committee. And the form which his budget will take will be the clearest indication yet before the Canadian public as to whether a general Federal election will be called in the fall or held over for a "sunshine budget" in 1949.

THIRD MUSICAL

(Continued from Page 1)

were kindly donated by many interested service clubs, organizations and individuals. The conclusion of this third annual Festival has been very encouraging as the entries have grown from 170 in 1945 to 530 this year, and the numerous scholarships which have been donated by music loving citizens of this Province for this year's festival have added much to its ultimate success.

Music Festivals in Prince Edward Island were first begun by a District Convention group of Women's Institutes in the vicinity of Charlottetown in October of 1945 when representatives of East, West, and Central Royalities, Harrington, Milton, Spring Park and Parkdale Institutes met at the home of Mrs. Preston Beck and formulated plans for a Musical Festival to be held in the following May. Several music teachers in Charlottetown were contacted, and the committee in charge was finally successful in securing the services of Mr. Walter MacNurt, A.T.C.M., to draw up a syllabus which has formed the framework of the succeeding festivals. Under the capable direction of the first president, Mrs. Preston Beck, the Association has flourished to its present state. The torch has been handed on to this year's president, Mr. H. Barry Bugden, who continues to handle the responsibilities of the Association in the same capable manner as the success of the recent festival has proven.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S PROGRAM

Following was the program presented at Saturday night's concert:

O Canada. High School Chorus: Turn Ye to Me — P.W.C. (T.T. Section). Piano Solo: Minuet from Alcina — Maida Rogerson.

Vocal Solo: Berceuse — Laura Doreen Wood. Chorus: Jolly Ploughboy — Prince Street School. Chorus: Spider Hunter — Prince Street School.

Violin Solo: Apollo March — Basil H. Phillips. Piano Duet: Dance of the Elves — Joan Marie MacGuire.

Vocal Solo: Where the Bee Sucks — Billie MacCannell. Rhythm Band — Conducted by E. Lillian MacKendzie.

Folk Song — Own Selection — June Foster. Chorus: Papageno's Song — Prince Street School. Chorus: The Boat Song — Parkdale School.

Piano Solo: Bagatelle — Patricia MacDonald. Vocal Solo: A Child's Prayer — Sheila Marie MacLinnis.

Women's Duet: The Graceful Swing — Dorothy Allen. Piano Solo: Allegro in C — Jane Isabel Giddings.

Women's Chorus: Oh the Sweet Delights of Spring — Spring Park Community Singers. Choral Group: Minuet from Oratorio (Samson) — Central Royalty Glee Club.

Vocal Solo: Cuckoo — Heather Ridd. Vocal Solo: Caravan — Douglas Clarke.

Piano Solo: Minuets 1 and 2 — Joan Rogerson. Women's Trio: Lift Thine Eyes — June Foster, Georgina King, Heather Lantz.

C.G.I.T. Group: (a) Charlie Is My Darling; (b) Round (own selection) — 3rd Charlottetown Girl Guide Company. Piano Solo: Toccata in A — Heather Lantz.

Vocal Solo: A Swan — Margaret Clarke.

RELIEVE

ACHES & PAINS BY RUBBING IN

MINARD'S LINIMENT

35¢

MONEY LISTEN TO EVERY WEEK-DAY 8 to 8.30 p.m. THURSDAY'S QUESTION ON DISPLAY IN OUR STORE THURS., FRI. & SATURDAY

Advertisement for CASH & CARRY STORES listing various food items and prices. Includes items like Fresh Daily South Shore Lobster, Sunkist Oranges, Creamery Butter, Jello Puddings, Assorted Flavors, Smoked Hams, Picnic Style, etc.

Testing Equipment Arrives For New Diesel Locomotives

Two more Diesel-electric engines, much more powerful than the two which have been in operation in the Province since last spring, arrived in the City Saturday evening. With them was a dynamometer car to test the hauling capacity of both engines and to check on various features of the engines' performances under actual working conditions.

On National Council of Manufacturers Ass'n

HALIFAX, N. S., May 7 — Lt. Col. C. L. MacKay, of Charlottetown, was elected to the National Executive Council of the Canadian Manufacturers Association at the annual meeting of the Maritime Division of the organization in Halifax last night.

Appointed to the Prince Edward Island Legislative Committee were Lt. Col. MacKay, W. M. Rowe, and J. S. Stavert, of Charlottetown; M. B. Schurman and W. E. Jenkins, of Summerside.

B. J. Gillis of Charlottetown was appointed to the Membership Committee.

Joan Muttart, Vocal Solo: I Know A Hill — Mary Gillis. Piano Duet: Badinage — Maureen Blake and Barbara Walsh.

Vocal Solo: Give A Man A Horse He Can Ride — Stanley Lancaster. Vocal Solo: Carmen Waltz — Frances MacRae.

Chorus: (a) Road to the Isles; (b) Rule Britannia — Y's Men's Chorus.

In the list of Friday night's scholarship winners, it was reported that Mt. Mellick School which was winner of the Women's Institute Trophy, awarded for the highest number of points attained by a rural school, had also won the Charlottetown Gyo Club "Shield" to the school making the highest marks. This was reported in error as this latter award was won by Prince Street School.

Scholarships Presented The following are those who received scholarships at Saturday night's concert: Billie MacCannell, Charlottetown (Class 37) $25 scholarship donated by Mr. Melville Bradshaw, Summerside.

Douglas Clarke, Charlottetown (Class 38) $25 scholarship donated by the Catholic Women's League of Summerside.

Joan Rogerson, Charlottetown (Class 67) $25 scholarship donated by Musical Festival Association.

Nancy MacNevin, Charlottetown (Class 34) $25 scholarship donated by Smallman's Ltd., Summerside.

3rd Charlottetown Girl Guide Company (Class 13) $25 scholarship donated by Mr. Alfred Pickard, Charlottetown.

Margaret Joan Muttart, Summerside (Class 33) $25 scholarship donated by Abegweit Chapter I. O. D. E. Summerside.

Prince Street School, "Shield" donated by Charlottetown Gyo Club for school having highest marks.

WANTED TO RENT

Large furnished house with bathroom for year-round residence from June 1st, by responsible American family. Not too far from beach; no objection to farm. Good rental for suitable property. Apply H. F. MacPhee, Solicitor, Riley Building, Charlottetown.