

FOR SALE

Craggon Farm Ayrshires

Pure bred Ayrshire bull, 5 years old, sure stock getter. Docile and quiet. Also bull calf 10 months old.

FARM FOR SALE

I will offer by private sale until April 10th, my farm situated at New London, consisting of 50 acres of clear land, with good buildings, near to churches, school and stores. Apply to W.M. R. McKAY.

FOR SALE

I offer for sale my black-smith stand situated at New Glasgow Mills in good repair. Also fifteen acres of clear land, with good buildings, near to churches, school and stores. Apply to W.M. R. McKAY.

FOR SALE

One of the best flour roller mills on the island in one of the best wheat sections and good stream, situated at Howlan, half mile from station, two miles from O'Leary station, up to date machinery and only running a few years, railroad switch along side of mill pond, also new dwelling house and barn.

AUCTION SALE

I am instructed by Roy W. Bulpitt, Rosemuth to sell by public auction on Wednesday, April 11th, 1923, at 1 o'clock p.m. His farm of 101 acres of land, 80 acres clear, balance partly covered with hardwood.

No More Constipation or Blotchy Skin

Want a clear, healthy complexion, regular bowels, and a perfect working liver? All easy to obtain if you take CARTER'S Little Liver Pills, the sure and easy acting remedy.

FARM FOR SALE

Consists of 100 acres of choice land situated at Elmwood, Lot 55 in Queens County, 70 acres clear, balance covered with best quality old growth lumber and firewood.

FOR SALE

RIVER VIEW FARM Good dwelling house and out buildings, four miles from Charlottetown. For particulars write P. M. BYRNE.

CLOVER SEEDS

Wrote for special price list. Clovers for Spring seeding. TODD & COOK, Charlottetown, Ont.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT Tenders For Materials

Pursuant to the requirements of the Canada Highway Act, Sealed Tenders marked "Tenders for Materials" will be received by the undersigned until 12 o'clock noon on Friday, April 27, 1923, for the supplying of any or all of the following materials, viz. Cement, Steel, Reinforcing Sand, Gravel or Broken Stone, Corrugated Iron Culverts, and with forms of tender may be seen at the Office of the Provincial Engineer, Charlottetown, P. E. Island.

TENDERS

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

Pursuant to the requirements of the Canada Highway Act, separate Sealed Tenders marked "Tenders for Grading and Concrete Structures Project No. 41" will be received by the undersigned until noon on Friday, April 27, 1923, for grading construction of concrete structures and other necessary work on the following roads:

Project No. 41 Alberton to Portage. Project No. 43. Western Road to Tyne Valley. Project No. 44. Wellington to St. Crysostom. Project No. 45. Miscouche to Grand River. Project No. 46. Central Bedouque to Rose Valley. Project No. 47. Hunter River to Kensington. Project No. 49. Glassow Mills to Oyster Bed. Project No. 51. Brackley Point Road. Project No. 55. Orwell to County Line. Project No. 55. Mt. Stewart to Cardigan. Project No. 57. Caledonia to Lower Montague. Project No. 59. Rollo Bay to Annandale.

The Girl Who Had No Chance

By MARION RUBINCAM

NEW SHADOWS

Chapter 66

The boom grew bigger and bigger. Ruth found herself swamped under the amount of business she had to attend to. As far as her real estate work went she hired one of the young men of the town and put him in to handle the details.

"Write out a brief report of all you've done each day and lay it on my desk," she said, "I'll look it over when I have time, and if there's anything wrong I'll make corrections on the paper and give it back to you."

Thus easily she disposed of some of her work. It was a new feeling—this of being employed rather than an employer.

She had a telephone put in her house, so she could be reached in the evening. Mrs. Belding still lived there—for rents had gone up and as a result board had gone up, and Mrs. Belding could not afford more than $5 a week. She still sewed—when she could get sewing.

"I'll take a third floor room," she said. "And Ruth, you can have my room for your study again, goodness knows you need it. Just look at this rubbish of papers!"

She indicated a confusion on Ruth's bedroom table.

"Don't touch them," the girl exclaimed from the bed. "Mrs. Belding, I have plans for a whole city on those papers."

"Have you now? Well, I always said you'd do something. Well, dearie, I ain't much use around here, but I'm going to make you some dresses. You may have plans for a city, but you need a new dress something awful."

"All right," the girl answered cheerfully.

So the stiff-fingered little old lady made up several models, which she called "gowns."

Mrs. O'Neil was for putting all the money in the bank. Ruth wanted to buy city bonds that were to finance the new "addition."

"I'll need new material it ought to be silk. I think maybe pink taffeta," Mrs. Belding began one morning at breakfast.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

Trapper Finds Vicks Handy For A Host Of Ills

Ontario Man Just Rubs It On For Most Anything

Mr. C. Phoenix, of 755 Grey St., London, Ont., writes: "I am very pleased to recommend Vicks VapoRub. I am a hunter, trader and trapper also a fisherman. I use Vicks VapoRub in place of liniments, because it is very handy to carry and always gives such quick relief for small animal and insect bites, and for chapped hands and lips. My boots would blister my feet and I rubbed it in them and it made them just right. When I got trapping next fall I will have plenty of Vicks VapoRub in my kit. I call it the "Trappers Friend." I have not had a cold all winter and I go out all the time and sometimes stay out all night with my traps."

Thus easily she disposed of some of her work. It was a new feeling—this of being employed rather than an employer.

She had a telephone put in her house, so she could be reached in the evening. Mrs. Belding still lived there—for rents had gone up and as a result board had gone up, and Mrs. Belding could not afford more than $5 a week. She still sewed—when she could get sewing.

"I'll take a third floor room," she said. "And Ruth, you can have my room for your study again, goodness knows you need it. Just look at this rubbish of papers!"

She indicated a confusion on Ruth's bedroom table.

"Don't touch them," the girl exclaimed from the bed. "Mrs. Belding, I have plans for a whole city on those papers."

"Have you now? Well, I always said you'd do something. Well, dearie, I ain't much use around here, but I'm going to make you some dresses. You may have plans for a city, but you need a new dress something awful."

"All right," the girl answered cheerfully.

So the stiff-fingered little old lady made up several models, which she called "gowns."

Mrs. O'Neil was for putting all the money in the bank. Ruth wanted to buy city bonds that were to finance the new "addition."

"I'll need new material it ought to be silk. I think maybe pink taffeta," Mrs. Belding began one morning at breakfast.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

"Pink taffeta! Its $1.50 a yard if its a cent, and it takes five yards and money to trim it. I've got good blue poplin in the attic, why can't that—?"

The argument went on. Ruth ended it by saying in a slightly annoyed voice—

"Use the poplin. What difference does it make."

"Seems to me," grumbled Mrs. Belding.

Presentation To Rev. Dr. McEwen

Rev. Dr. McEwen, formerly pastor of Orwell and Vernon River congregations who is leaving the Island shortly was recently presented with the following addresses, and tangible tokens of remembrance:

ADDRESS

Dear Sir: As we gather here tonight on this special occasion, it is with a mingled feeling of disappointment and regret at the loss we sustain as a congregation. We must acknowledge what is our loss is another's gain, and therefore, we resign ourselves to the inevitable. After eight years of pastoral labor amongst us, we with perfect sincerity point to the fact that there is not one dissenting voice but the ardent desire of both old and young, and every member of the congregation, is that your pastorate would continue for many years. In view of your departure, we hope and trust that some time you may determine to visit your Island home and mingle once again with your friends.

To enumerate your many acts of kindness and benevolences, would on this occasion be inappropriate. Nevertheless we feel it would be an unpardonable omission not to refer to those years of distress when so many of our young manhood made the supreme sacrifice. In those times of sorrow and strife you will be remembered as one who endeavoured to ameliorate the grief of the bereaved by words of cheer and comfort. This is a sacred page in the history of the Orwell congregation and will always be associated with remembrances of your sympathy and love. Your many friends in the adjoining congregations unite with us in expressing their appreciation of your kindness. They wish with us on this occasion of your departure beg of you to accept this token as a remembrance of our loyalty and love.

In closing we trust that in your new pastorate, laboring under permanent skies your thoughts will sometimes revert to the "Little Stormy Isle" and that you may think kindly of your many friends in Orwell and surrounding vicinities.

(Signed)

The Members of Vernon and Orwell Congregations

The address was accompanied by a well filled purse.

ADDRESS

Reverend Doctor W. H. McEwen, Ugg.

Reverend Sir and Dear Shepherd: Words are inadequate to express our regret due to your early departure from amongst us:

While we have always realized that your ability was such that you might with honor, grace any pulpits yet we had hoped to retain you permanently, but we know God has ordained it otherwise and this fact brings us at least some small degree of comfort.

You have entered whole heartedly with us in our hours of joy and social intercourse. In our hours of adversity you have been our burden bearer, when overwhelmed with grief and sorrow your presence and counsel has turned away the dark cloud and enabled us to see the silver lining, in fact you have comforted us with the comfort of a Mother, of a Brother, and of a Friend in Christ.

We believe if God spoke audibly as He did to his patriarch "Thou art a man after mine own heart."

It is with pain we recall the demise of your beloved partner, we remember while in health how ardently she assisted you in your arduous duties, and her passing placed an extra burden on your shoulders which you very nobly carried.

We recall with delight her words of encouragement and appreciation so readily given the choir at times when we felt very much discouraged and disappointed with the music furnished, words which touched as it were the very main-spring of our being, and gave us new courage and hope for the future.

On behalf of the choir of St. Andrews Church, I ask you to accept this Bible, and trust that as you daily peruse its pages to gain food for your soul, and inspiration to dispense this food to your hearers you will remember with what pleasure we endeavoured to assist you in the service of song which we realized was so dear to your heart, and with what regret we sever our connections with you.

We trust that ere long you may be permitted to return to us when every home will welcome you with joy.

If owing to the vicissitudes of life, our separation at this time is final, may we with more harmonious and less discordant voices join with you in singing the Hallelujahs of praise around the Great White Throne, in glory, our redemption having been perfected by your precept and example.

We pray that you have every wish gratified in your new and larger field of activity.

We pray you may have souls for us, and now adieu.

Signed on behalf of the St. Andrews Church Choir, Orwell.

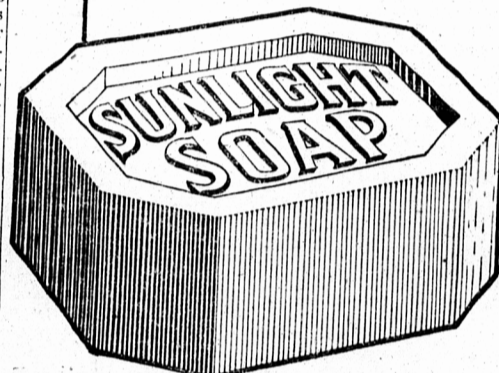

MILTON FURNESS

The above addresses were read and presentations made, as follows: The first on Thursday night the 22nd, after Dr. McEwen delivered his lecture on "Scottish Traits," when Mr. W. D. Ross read the address and Kathleen McLeod made the presentation. On Sunday night after his farewell sermon which was delivered to a crowded house, Mr. Milton Furness read the second address and presented in behalf of the St. Andrews Choir a

Time for Life's Better Things

It was for this mission—to give to women "time for life's better things" that Sunlight Soap was created. Its skilful blend of cocoanut and palm oils gives it wonderful cleansing powers—far beyond the ordinary soap—so that many hours of work are lifted from the housewife's shoulders.

From southern isles and tropical countries comes the rich cocoanut and palm oils we use—hence our absolute guarantee of Sunlight's purity.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED Toronto 6912

TOBACCO PRICE GOES UP

PARIS, April 7.—Users of tobacco once more have been called upon to lighten the general burden of taxation. Beginning today the prices of smoking and chewing tobacco and snuff were increased ten per cent to compensate for the reduction in taxation allowed payers of taxes on wages and incomes generally.

The price on tobacco served out to men doing military service also has been increased but the troops still have to pay only three francs per kilogram as compared with 27½ francs paid by civilians.

CAUTIOUS

There was a self-made man whose plenteous pile was not altogether free from taint.

He employed an expensive architect to build him a lordly pleasure house.

"I think," remarked the man of plain, "that you had better have a southern exposure."

The man of money grew red and shuffled his feet.

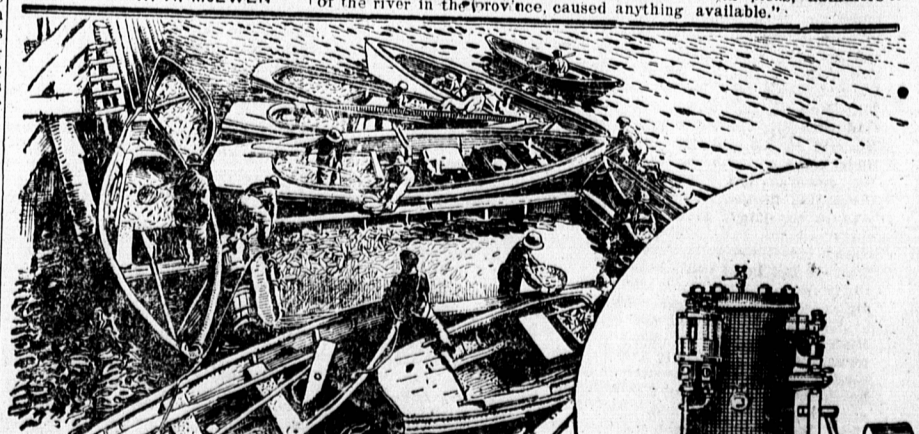

Not so much of the "exposure" he growled, "if you want to retain your contract."

A SHORTAGE OF WATER AFFECTS POWER SUPPLY QUEBEC, April 7.—The low level of the river in the province, caused

GERMANS PLAN A STUBBORN FIGHT

PARIS, April 6.—The French foreign office today gave out the text of a circular alleged to have been distributed by the German people's party among the manufacturers in Essen and which is regarded in official circles as part of the preparation for violent resistance to the occupational forces such as they declare provoked the fatal encounter at the Krupp works last Saturday.

The document, as given out by the Foreign Office, reads in part: men at once; also call out all workers of steam whistles so that as soon as possible they may surround them with picks, hammers or anything available."

This ENGINE means bigger catches at less expense

A wider cruising radius—more time to fish—freedom from delay caused by breakdowns—more miles per gallon of fuel—less need of lubricating oil, and consequently greater profits come to the Fishermen who equip their boats with the simple, sturdy

FAIRBANKS-MORSE Type "M" Marine Engine

It's an engine built specially for Salt Water Fishermen. It's make-and-break EASY STARTING and economical operation. We carry all sizes while we have a complete stock of all spare parts at very low prices.

The Canadian FAIRBANKS-MORSE Co. Limited 75 Prince William Street, St. John, N.B.

Special Equipment for Lobster Packers

The celebrated "M" Marine Engines in all standard sizes. Stationary Engines—Type "Z" Battery-equipped 1½ h.p. Specially built for driving Sealing Machines.

Lobster Trap Haulers—A special outfit equipped with the "Z" Engine at a reduced price of $100 L.O.B. St. John.

Lobster Scales—Agate Bearings throughout. Extremely sensitive, heavily galvanized. Standard of Fisheries Inspectors. Plain and Galvanized Platform Scales. Motor Boat Supplies and Columbia Dry Batteries, etc.

AUCTION SALE THE BANKRUPTCY ACT

In the matter of the estate of Colledge P. Bowness Authorized Assignor.

We are instructed by the authorized trustee in the above estate to sell by public auction on the premises, on Thursday the 12th day of April, 1923 at the hour of 12 o'clock noon that desirable double tenement dwelling house on the Western side of Elm Ave., Charlottetown, Numbers 141 and 141-2 formerly owned by Colledge P. Bowness. Terms at sale.

BENJ. CARTER & SON Auctioneers 4-3-5,7,9,11-51.

FARM FOR SALE

At Crapaud I will sell by private sale my farm of 12 acres with buildings about 3/4 of a mile from Crapaud Corner Also 47 1/2 acres of short distance from it, 30 acres under cultivation, rest in hard and soft wood. Will be sold separately or to suit purchaser. If not sold before April the 17th will be sold by public auction.

ARTEMAS LEARD, Crapaud

FOR SALE

The undersigned offers for sale the House and Property owned by the Estate of William S. Hogg, situated in the Town of Kensington (known as the Edwin Proctor Property). If not sold on or before May 5th next the above Property including household effects will be sold at public auction on that date at 2 p. m. For particulars apply to John A. Hogg, Sole Executor, or J. F. Proffit, Kensington, P. E. I. Kensington, April 6th, 1923. 112305-9-21.

Monday—Alone