A SPLENDID banner for the use of the L. P. U. of this City in their processions, etc., has just been constructed by the firm of Prowse Bros Limited. The banner which is upheld by two standards is of larger size than any society banner that has heretofore been displayed in Charlottetown and its workmanship is of the best quality. It is made of heavy navy silk doubled, is shield shaped and bordered with heavy gold fringe, the points and corners of the banner being ornamented and weighted with heavy gold tassels. On one side there is a design representing the continent of America across which are stretched two arms the hands of which are united in a brotherly grasp. This is flanked by the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. Above this is the maxim "In Union there is Strength," and below "Laborers' Protective Union, of Charlottetown, No. 9568." On the other side is another design showing an eagle holding a chain which binds together implements of labor. The inscriptions on this side are "We Earn Our Bread by the Sweat of Our Brow;" and "American Federation of Labor, Organized January 1902." The painting of the designs and the lettering is the skilful work of Harry Crossman, and the designing and making up of the banner was done by Miss Potvin, of Prowse Bros., Ltd. The flag is most creditable to all concerned in its production. It will be exhibited in the store window of Prowse Bros. today, and on Monday next will be proudly borne in the procession of Union men in celebration of Labor Day.
