In Memoriam

MR. JOHNSON BERNARD Many friends were indeed saddened when it became known that Mr. Johnson Bernard had passed away on Friday morning, June 28th, at his home in Balise. The deceased was 70 years of age and had been in failing health for the past year but a short illness of a few days terminated the life of one who had been a highly respected citizen and a life-long resident of Balise. He was the son of the late James and Catherine Bernard and spent his life on the old homestead and lived a life full of christian principles. His kind hospitality to his many friends will long be remembered by all. He was a faithful and devout member of the Knox Memorial Presbyterian Church of Malpeque and regularly attended as long as his health permitted. The funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon and was largely attended by many friends who came from far and near to pay their last tribute of respect to an old friend. The service was conducted by Rev. James McCleod, whose message contained so much comfort to all bereaved friends. The hymns were "Forever With The Lord" and "There is no Death in Heaven" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" with Mrs. Leah Sutherland leading at the organ. At the close of the service the remains were taken to the Malpeque cemetery and tenderly laid to rest in the family plot beside those of Mrs. Bernard who predeceased him about eleven months ago. The pallbearers were Messrs. Leola Fayler, Benjamin Burns, James McLeod, William O. Donald, Elmer Payne, Kenneth McLeod. There are left to mourn their great loss one daughter Mrs. Edwin Donald of Summerside and two sons, Ansel at Balise and Frank at the homestead. Two sisters Mrs. George McLeod, Irishtown and Mrs. W. J. Evans of B.C. also survive besides several grandchildren and many friends all to whom deep sympathy is extended.

Armyworm Found in New Brunswick

(By the Canadian Press) FREDERICTON, July 18—Specimens of the crop-devastating armyworm have been found in New Brunswick and efforts are being made to prevent spread of the pest. It was reported today at the Dominion Entomological Laboratory here. R. P. Gorham of the laboratory said that under favorable conditions the insects increase rapidly and go on a march causing devastation of large areas of grass, grain and vegetable crops in their path. He recalled that in July 1897 the armyworm became noticeable in certain counties of the province, attacking crops of oats, wheat, barley and corn. Entomologists, horticulturists and vegetable gardeners have suggested the use of poisoned bran bait to combat the pest.

FALL CLOTHES STILL AUSTERE

LONDON (NANA)—In contrast to the non-austerity fashion shows London had enjoyed, recently, a collection of fall models shown by Percy Trilnick of Regent Street still adhered rigidly to utility and rather severe lines, and certainly none of the gowns had the glamorous post-war treatment expected from leading fashion houses now that regulations are lifted. The most original models in the show were made in two colors. One jumper suit with bracelet length sleeves and buttons down the back, had a bodice of Dress Stewart tartan in white and a very full skirt of Red Royal Stewart. Highlighting the collection was an afternoon dress with a fringed shawl draped across the shoulders and caught up on the left shoulder with a large gilt brooch. This shawl effect is something quite new and will be shown on several future models. One gown in violet wool had a high round neck and scroll embroidery on the full skirt, while another woolen dress in light blue had embroidered ferns on the left shoulder extending down the sleeve. The rest of the dresses were plain and austere almost to the point of uniformity except perhaps for one—a black tulle cocktail dress with a low square neck and short sleeves. Its full skirt was decorated just below the hem with two broad bands of grosgrain in green and cyclamen. These were gathered into bows, sprinkled with sequins, at the side. The dress was priced at about $18. Reds and yellows seem to be the new autumn colors and most of the plain tailored suits shown were styled in these shades. One coat in gold velvet cloth had deep dolman sleeves and enormous wooden buttons. The suits shown featured longer skirts and longer jackets; some designers in London are even concentrating on the slightly dropped waistline.
