Mission Band Concert And Lecture

On Friday night, February 28th, the Mission Band of Trinity United Church, Summerside, presented a short program in Epworth Hall.

The program was followed by a lecture by Rev. L. E. G. Davies, who gave a descriptive talk on Newfoundland and the Labrador. In his lecture Mr. Davies dealt particularly with the northern section of the Island and described vividly the nature of the country and the characteristics of the people. He pictured the historical background of this, the Empire's oldest colonial settlement, and outlined the conditions which have produced hardy and vigorous stock. Mr. Davies told, in a very interesting way, of his own experiences in the remote districts and related anecdotes illustrative of the nature and hardships of those who lived there.

The following is the Mission Band program:

Piano solo, Prelude in C Major, Katherine McDonald.

Chorus, Missionary Band.

Recitation, Norma Leard.

Duet, Kathleen Allen and Gwennyth Davies.

Recitation, Dorothy Daley.

Dialogue, six boys.

Recitation, Helen Straight.

Recitation, Vivien Rattray.

Duet, Lethia and Connie Crue.

Chorus.

The End Of Vision Uncertainty

Lack of knowledge and uncertainty and neglect are responsible for every case of visual error that CONTINUES. To take advantage of facilities for improving vision, which exist everywhere, means the end of worry and uncertainty and the beginning of visual comfort and better general health.

PREACHED IN CHARLESTON, S.C.—A Charleston, South Carolina, exchange reports that on Sunday morning, Feb. 23, the preacher at the First (Scotch) Presbyterian Church, Charleston, was the Rev. Dr. J. Kier Fraser, of Prince Edward Island. Dr. Fraser, says the newspaper, is well known in Charleston, having been pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church there for thirteen years. He left Charleston in 1915.

NARROW ESCAPE—Awakened when police constable Allan McInnis broke down the door of their home to warn them of their danger, Thomas Brown, his wife and two children, narrowly escaped burning to death in their home here yesterday. Fire caused by a defective flue set fire to the roof of the two storey house and flames shooting from beneath the eaves attracted the attention of the patrolling policeman. The four sleeping members of the Brown family were roused when Constable McInnis broke through the entrance to the house, and they were assisted to safety by him. Firemen saved the building from complete destruction. The owner estimated damage at $300.

Little Theatre Guild Players Leave Today For Saint John

Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild players leave for Saint John, N. B., this morning to take part in the regional Little Theatre drama festival.

Six groups are represented in the contest. They will compete for the honor of representing the New Burnswick-Prince Edward Island region in the dominion drama festival at Ottawa.

The Charlottetown group, composed of Messrs. A. R. Cooper, A. M. Douglas, Ian Smith, Charles Jenkins, Samuel Vail, Miss Marie Arsenault and Miss Margaret Sterns are using as their vehicle, a one-act play "Circumstantial Evidence," by H. M. Grimaldi. Mrs. Ruby M. Houle is the director.

Saturday night a dress rehearasl of the Charlottetown group's presentation was held for patrons and members of the Little Theatre Guild and elicited much praise. The formal presentation of this play in Charlottetown will take place on March 10.

Six Children Die In Fire

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

CANABAIGUA, N.Y., March 1.—Six children were burned to death today and four other persons were seriously injured when fire destroyed a farmhouse on the Middlesex Road, eight miles south of here.

The victims were Vina, 11; George, nine; Waneta, seven; Edgar, five; Harry, two; and John, 11 months. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Arris.

Mrs. Arris, 30, was reported near death in hospital from second degree burns over her entire body. Arris, 34, is in the same hospital with a broken wrist and burns on hands and face suffered in his attempt to rescue his family.

George Housel, owner of the House, and his wife are in hospital suffering from burns, shock and exposure.

Housel discovered the fire, of undetermined origin, shortly after midnight. He carried his wife, who was ill, from the burning structure, breaking a window to make his exit.

Arris, also aroused, found flames blocking the stairs and jumped 22 feet out a second storey window, breaking his wrist. He obtained a ladder and dragged Mrs. Arris out, but dropped her half way down the ladder. The fire spread so quickly the children, all asleep on the second floor, were unable to make their escape.

BIRTHS

Mr. Leo Peters, who has been seriously ill at the Charlottetown Hospital was reported last evening to be resting comfortably.

SCHUBERT PROGRAM AT MUSIC CLUB

Mrs. Allan B. Cosh Gives Interesting Paper On Life Of Composer.

The Schubert programme, the subject of the Women's Music Club meeting of February 29th, was thoroughly enjoyed this year, as always. "Schubert" has come to be an annual event on the club's programmes and is indeed a very pleasing one.

Mrs. Cosh, in her very fine paper on the life of Franz Schubert, said that in writing about his life there are two outstanding points that strike one very forcibly—never has a musician lived such a colorless life, void of stirring events; on the other hand, never has a genius poured forth such an outburst of song and harmony.

Music and music alone was to him all in all—his only mode of expression. To the superficial lover of music the name of Schubert suggests four or five things—"The Unfinished Symphony," "The Erl King," "The Wanderer," "Hark, Hark the Lark," and "Who Is Sylvia" but these are only an infinitesimal part of his enormous achievement of symphony, sonata, mass, opera, quartet, octet and song.

Franz Peter Schubert was born in Vienna in 1797, lived his life and died there in 1828. His early predilection for music was given every encouragement and at the age of eleven he came under the influence of Salieri the most eminent of Italian musicians in Vienna. Schubert derived great benefit from Salieri in the study of counterpoint and fugue.

At the age of seventeen Schubert became a school teacher and it is surprising to learn that these three years of teaching were among his most prolific in composition and during them he wrote some of the works which have made his name immortal. The statistics for these three years carry a romance of their own In 1814 he wrote ten compositions and twenty songs.

In 1815 he wrote thirty-eight compositions and one hundred and twenty-six songs.

In 1816 he wrote thirty-four compositions and ninety-five songs.

There were eight songs with date of composition the one day, and seven dated three days later.

Schubert had a long list of devoted friends, amongst them, Spaun, Mayerhofer, Vogl and Franz von Schober who persuaded Schubert to give up the uncongenial task of teaching and live with him so Schubert could devote himself wholly to his art His brother Ferdinand was also deeply atached to him and it was in his arms that Franz Schubert died at the age of thirty-one years. One biographer has said "There has never been one like him and never will be again."

Franz Schubert did not suffer much from opposition, prejudice or envy but from simple lack of recognition during his short life. He occupied his time in pouring out compositions of all kinds which publishers looked upon with indifference, grudgingly accepting a few towards the close of his life. Yet his mighty genius rose triumphant over the numbing atmosphere of mediocrity and the name of Schubert suggests at once everything that is poetical and romantic in music. "In the whole range of composers it may be truly said that no one was so loved as he, no one has the happy power of attracting the admiration and affection of his hearers."

The following musical programme—entirely Schubert—was also a splendid one and greatly appreciated by the members:

Vocal solos: "The Maiden's Lament" and "Laughing and Weeping," Miss Gwynneth Fry accompanied by Miss MacKenzie

Impromptu, Opus 142 no. 2—piano solo—Miss Lillian MacKenzie.

Vocal solos: "Hark, Hark the Lark," "Who Is Sylvia," "Ave Maria," Mrs. Lawson accompanied by Mrs. Rogers.

Violin solo, Sonatina in D in three movements, Mr. Gomez accompanied by Miss MacKenzie.

Vocal solos: "Litany," "Hurdy Gurdy Man," Miss Fry.

Impromptu, Opus 142 no. 3, Miss MacKenzie.

Vocal solos: "Serenade," Mrs. Lawson with violin obligato Mr. Gomez.

Bannister Case May Open Today

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

DORCHESTER, N.B., March 1.—Possibility that selection of a jury in one of the three Bannister cases might start late tomorrow afternoon was seen here tonight. Information from one source was that Arthur Bannister would be tried on the charge of murdering Philip Lake.

He and his brother Daniel were indicted for the murder of Lake and his common law wife and for the alleged kidnapping and abduction of Lake's infant daughter. Mrs. May Bannister, mother of Arthur and Daniel, faces trial on the kidnapping and abduction charges.

Talesmen for the petit jury were arriving here tonight. Only one case remains to be disposed of before the first Bannister trial starts. Betty Lake, surviving daughter of the slain parents, is still being cared for here and Frances Bannister, 15, sister of the accused brothers, will be brought from Moncton tomorrow. The latter is held as a material witness.

Building Service Strike Called

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, March 1.—A city-wide strike call to organized service employes in 20,000 apartment, hotel and mercantile buildings, effective tomorrow, was sounded today by James J. Bambrick, President of the Greater New York Council of the Building Service Employes International Union.

The walkout order, already bolstered by a surprise strike that cut wide swathes through Manhattan's residential west side and the Bronx, gave the metropolis' mechanized mode of life a jolt with prospects of Monday morning stair climbing and cold radiators.

The Union is after more wages and shorter hours for its members.

Roosevelt Signs Soil Conservation Subsidy Bill

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—It was announced today that President Roosevelt has signed the soil conservation subsidy bill intended to replace the invalidated Agricultural Adjustment Act.

In a statement, the President said the law represented an attempt to develop a "long time program for American agriculture."

He added, however, that he did not regard the measure as a "panacea or as a final plan."

"Rather," Mr. Roosevelt said, "I consider it a new basis to build and improve upon, as experience discloses its points of weakness and of strength.

"Aiming at justice for agriculture and self interest for the nation, the plan seeks to salvage and conserve the greatest values in human life and resources with which this nation is endowed."

The President this week will ask Congress for $500,000,000 in taxes to finance the new farm relief program.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. CHARLES SAUNDERS, SR.

On the evening of February 15th the spirit of Annie Margaret Boyce, wife of Charles Saunders, passed peacefully away to her eternal rest at the age of 70 years.

Although in failing health for a long time Mrs. Saunders was around as usual until about four weeks before her death.

She leaves to mourn, besides her sorrowing husband, three sons and two daughters, all of whom were at her bedside when the end came. Also grandchildren, one sister, Jane, in the U. S., and one brother, James, of this city.

The sons are: Frank, Charles and Stephen, and the daughters, Mrs. Wm. Munroe, and Mrs. Geo. L. Morrison.

The funeral services were held Tuesday, Feb. 18th, from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Morrison, 140 Elm Ave. Interment was in the People's Cemetery, services being conducted at the house and grave by the Rev. G. Carlyle Webster. The pall bearers were Murdock Ross, Lester McInnis, P. N. Manuel, Robert Diamond, Henry Meikle and Herbert H. King.

The floral tributes were as follows:

Pillow—Husband and family.

Broken Circle—Charlie and Gertie and family.

Wreath—Frank and Etta and family.

Spray—Grace, Betty and George Saunders.

Heart—Grandson L. George Morrison.

Wreath, Charlie and Jean Munroe.

Spray—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. King.

Wreath—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Slackford, Truro, N. S.

Wreath—Mrs. S. Medley, Jamaica Plains, Mass. L-3303

::No More Teapots From Scottish Potteries.—A very old and charming industry is threatened with extinction in Scotland. This is the making of earthenware teapots, and its last stronghold is in the old East Lothian village of Prestonpans, where one pottery only remains out of four which used to supply the East Coast and export large quantities to South America. The clay used in the potteries was imported from Devon and mixed with a proportion of local clay, and beautiful shades of blue and green were reproduced, besides the brown glaze which is commonly associated with earthenware teapots. The failure of this local industry is a loss to tea-drinking as well as to the village, for teatasters agree that earthenware is the best container for the delicate flavours of tea.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

A large congregation was in attendance at the morning service, ten o'clock yesterday The Rev. F. E. Bishop, speaking from St. Matthew 22:35-38 took as his theme "The Great Requirement." Love is the great commandment, the heart of the law, the heart of the gospel. In the absence of love, what remains of either?

Christianity asks that we should love—love in reality, sincerity and truth. One objects with the question "who can compel love?" He who utters the command supplies the power for its performance, the spirit and the example. As we contemplate the love of God for us we are warmed and inspired to put love in action toward the need of our fellows. The Sunshine of God's love has a creative and fructifying power, love is fostered by the gracious example of the Master and by sympathetic contemplation of the needs of mankind. Look upon the love of God! Look upon human needs! Use what we find of sympathy and compassion and love in our hearts, and in use it shall grow. A world in which there is so much beauty is meant for the triumph of love.

The morning anthem was "O love that wilt not let me go" with Miss Pearl Burns taking the contralto solo.

The subject of Mr. Bishop's evening sermon was "The words of Jesus." Matthews' "Fairest Lord Jesus" was sung at the evening service, and immediately following, the Communion of the Lord's Supper was observed.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

The Rev. Canon Banks officiated at all three of the services in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday. At the 11 o'clock sung Eucharist a Lenten pastoral from the Bishop of the Diocese was read. At Evensong the first of a course of sermons for the Sunday evening of Lent was preached, which dealt with Baptism. All three services were well attended.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

Owing to the King's broadcast message at 12.00 noon, the morning service started at 10.00 a. m with a good congregation and a full choir. It was Communion Sunday and Rev. Mr. Miller's sermon was from Hebrews 3, 7 and 8, "Today if you will hear his voice, harden not your heart". The symptom of the malady is loss of sensitiveness. The causes leading to it are heedlessness. How frequently our lives are tied up to false excuses and reasons . We have heard and we hardened our hearts. Other causes are self deception, procrastination, the deceitfulness of sin and then familiarity—the unconscious influence of neglected appeal and continuous contact. We are in danger of becoming so familiar to the blessings of the Gospel and the appeals of God that we remain unaffected. Mr. Miller's closing message was "Today we hear again the voice of God. Again we are touched with the passion of our Lord. Again Christ comes to us in breaking of bread and the fruit of the wine. Again we are brought to Calvary to behold once more the deceitfulness of sin and the triumph of love. Let us pray that our hearts be not hardened. May God create within us clean hearts and renew a right spirit within us. "Today if ye will hear his voice harden not your hearts."

The special efforts put forth for the increase of religious education through the Sunday School has resulted in a satisfactory increase in attendance over a year ago. Yesterday the attendance was 393.

Owing to a remodelling of the heating apparatus Hearts Hall will not be available for meetings for the next two weeks, therefore the mid-week service will be held in the Social Hall.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Barbour had charge of the opening ceremonies. The choir sang the anthem, "O Saviour of the World" and Rev. Mr. Miller preached an impressive sermon on the text Mark 4th chapter, forty-first verse. "What manner of man is this" and after 2,000 years the challenge comes to us today. It is the great quest "What shall we do with Christ?" May our judgment be expressed in the words "Love so amazing, so divine demands my soul my life, my all."

ST. JAMES CHURCH

Those attending the morning service at St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday were privileged to hear a very timely and most impressive sermon.

The minister, the Rev. R. Moorhead Legate, D. D., preached from the text, "Exalt the Lord our God, ...for the Lord our God is holy," Psalm 99, v. 9. It is not only the duty, but also the desire of the Christian to study the holiness of God. Regardless of our station or occupation in life, we should devote a period each day to the study and contemplation of the supreme holiness of the Lord our God. When we fail in this we discover within us a spirit of indifference, and we do not fully realize our total dependance upon Him

The anthem, "Jubilate Deo," by Garrett, was rendered by the choir. The morning service was held at ten o'clock, one hour earlier than usual, in order to afford the worshippers opportunity to return to their homes in time to hear His Majesty the King's message to the Empire.

At the evening service Dr. Legate took as his text, "Go thy way.... When I have a conyenient season, I will call for thee," the words of Felix as recorded in the Acts of the Apostles, 24:25. The minister stressed the importance of immediate action in matters of religion and pointed out the danger of putting off until a convenient season, the good things we determine to do.

Procrastination is by no means the easiest of the enemies of religion. The words of the text are those of a man who is the victim of moral weakness.

There are many people today who are cheating themselves, by doing exactly as did Felix, in putting off till the morrow things which could and should be done today. Many who delay in surrendering their hearts to the Lord, awaiting a more convenient season may never have the opportunity granted them.

The choir sang as an offertory anthem, "Abide With Me," by Thomson.

During the Lenten season Dr. Legate is giving a series of sermons at the evening services, which will be of a pure evangelistic note.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH

The first precept of the Church, "To hear Mass on Sundays and all holidays of obligation", was ably and lucidly explained in eloquent dissertations at all the masses yesterday morning by Rev. Charles O'Hara, C.SS.R. The precepts of the Church, six in number, will be dealt with in a series of Sunday morning sermons during the Lenten season.

The Married Women of the Archconfraternity of the Holy Family received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock Mass. At 9 o'clock Mass was celebrated for the children. At 10:30 o'clock High Mass was celebrated by Rev. R. McKenna, C.SS.R.

Sunday School was held for all the children in the afternoon.

The first of a series of Lenten sermons was preached last evening by Rev. R. Baines, C.SS.R. Choosing the title of his sermon from one of the many titles by which the Blessed Virgin is addressed in her litany, namely, "Mystical Rose", Father Baines preached a very impressive and eloquent sermon. He explained clearly the meaning of this beautiful title, which is one of the many little darts or arrows of love, as it were, directed to Mary's throne in Heaven when asking her to intercede for us.

As is customary on the first Sunday of each month, last evening's services were dedicated to Our Mother of Perpetual Help. Prayers were recited and hymns sung to the Blessed Virgin Mary. Petitions placed at the shrine of Our Mother of Perpetual Help were also read. Rev. Father O'Hara officiated at Benediction. The singing was congregational.

ST. DUNSTAN'S BASILICA

The services were held at the usual hours at St. Dunstan's Basilica yesterday. A large number received Holy Communion at the Masses.

Rev. Father Dougan celebrated the 9:30 Mass and also preached.

The Solemn High Mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by Rev. Father Ellsworth with Rev. Father Dalton as deacon and Rev. Father McCardle as sub-deacon. His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan was present in the Sanctuary. Rev. Thomas McMahon, C.S.P., preached at this Mass.

Catechism was held at 2 o'clock for the children, followed by Benediction.

In the evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. Thomas McMahon, of the Paulist Fathers, New York City, preached his Lenten sermon to a large congregation and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Dr. McMahon. The Corpus Christi Choir, under the direction of Mr. W. J. Brown, with Mrs. Jos. Dougan as organist, rendered special singing.

Activities At The Y.M.C.A.

The Junior Stamp clubs spent an interesting time on Saturday night participating in a stamp mounting competition. Mr. B. L. Coombs and Mr. E. V. Bell who have shown keen interest in the stamp clubs acted as judges and Mr. Coombs presented stamps to each of the winners to add to their collections. First place was won by Geo. Acorn, Geo. Anderson taking second place and Clifford Downe winning third. The boys were judged for correct use of stamp hinges, stamp arrangement, time taken for mounting process and neatness and cleanliness.

Plans are well under way for the Girls' and Boys' Hobbies Exhibition and numerous inquiries are being received concerning the various classes of the Exhibition. Through the kindness and interest of C. F. C. Y. and various merchants, directors of the Exhibition are having opportunity to give publicity to the Exhibition by means of radio broadcast. Stanley Thompson spoke recently through the cooperation of the Irwin Printing Co. and tonight Peter Paton will speak during the Tip Top Tailor programme by kind permission of Mr. W. P. Bruce.

Physical classes in both the girls' and boys' sections are now preparing for the physical display on April 24th. The annual Father and Son Banquet will be held Friday next March 6th and a large attendance is expected.

Over one hundred girls and boys—the largest attendance of the season—were present last Friday at the Weekly Community Night Entertainment. The Community Sing Song under the direction of Miss Berna Huestis is a popular feature of the programme.

IN MEMORIAM

WALLACE WOOD

The community of Marshfield and vicinity was surprised and saddened when on February 5th the word passed that the imperious summons to rest from his labours had come that morning to Wallace Wood. Although he had been ill about a year before, Mr. Wood's health had so far improved that he had been able to carry on his work as usual. His sudden passing in his 69th year came as a great shock to the members of his family.

Mr. Wood came to Marshfield from Alexandra, his birthplace, about seventeen years ago. Already at Alexandra he had proved himself a fine intelligent citizen, taking his part in community affairs, serving as a school trustee and giving leadership in co-operative work. The same interest in all that pertained to the welfare of his fellowmen made him a highly respected and greatly appreciated citizen of the Marshfield community, to which, in the prime of his life, he brought his family.

Few farmers today carry on practical farming in the manner in which he did, always having the farm stocked to capacity with hogs, horses, and one of the outstanding herds of Ayrshire cattle, of which he took a great pride in exhibiting at our Provincial Show. In fact few exhibitors got as many first awards for the number exhibited. His other livestock exhibits were of the same outstanding class as his cattle.

Mr. Wood is survived by his wife, who was Elizabeth Boswell, and by a family of five, viz., Mrs. H. J. Kennedy of Southport, Mrs. Henry Jenkins of Mt. Herbert, Almon on the homestead, Miss Rena of Charlottetown, well known in musical circles, and Miss Helen, a graduate nurse, also of Charlottetown, a brother, George A. Wood, of Rollo Bay, and two brothers and two sisters, residing in the United Staaes.

He was a staunch supporter of church work and a member of the Marshfield United Church, of which he was a regular attendant.

The funeral service was held on Friday, Feb. 7th at the old home, with interment in the new cemetery of Central United Church. The large number who attended the services, as well as the floral tributes and the many letters of sympathy and appreciation received by the family, indicate how large a place Mr. Wood held in the hearts of the people of the communities where he was so intimately and favourably known.

The pallbearers were four of his grandsons, namely, Lincoln and Lee Kennedy, Hollis and Harvey Jenkins.
