THE INQUEST AT ALBERTON

The Text of Evidence given Before Coroner's Jury.

Special to The Guardian.

ALBERTON, July 8—The first session of the inquest into the death of William J. Skerry, whose body was found at Wells Shore, about one mile from Alberton, on Wednesday afternoon, began that evening in the Court House, Alberton, before Coroner Alexander Ross. Several witnesses were examined, who testified as to the finding of the body and also about the dory, which it is supposed the deceased had been out in when drowned.

Dr. McEwen (sworn)—Found no marks of violence on the body. Body was badly decomposed. Found $5.50 in trouser pocket and several other things. A post-mortem, in his opinion, would reveal nothing, as to the cause of death, owing to decomposition. Could not say positively what cause of death was. But was of the opinion that death was probably caused by drowning.

Court adjourned and met on Thursday at 10 o'clock a. m.

Ulford Cunningham, who was last seen with deceased, (sworn) and testified as follows: "I live at my brother John's. Always stay there as a rule. Sleep there every night. I remember Tuesday, the 28th of June. Was at Alberton that day. Was there best part of day. Don't remember whether I went home to dinner. Was in Alberton in the afternoon. Don't remember whether I went home to supper. Don't know how many meals I had that day. Don't remember of having any meals at any other place in Alberton that day. What meals I had were at home. Was in several places in Alberton that day. About ten o'clock that night I remember drinking a lot, one thing and another, at Lewis'. Had a bottle of liquor in my possession. Skerry called me out of Lewis'. Coaxed me to take him to a party with my horse, saying he would supply the liquor. He supplied money for the liquor and I got it—one bottle of rye whiskey. Left Lewis'; met at Reid's corner. John Ahearn, W. J. Skerry and I were there. Frank Skerry came later. We all had a drink out of the bottle. Perhaps I had two, perhaps Ahearn had two. Frank Skerry and Ahearn went home. Deceased and I went along the Kildare Road to a pasture field, two-thirds of a mile from this road, just on the other side of the old French Road. We tried to catch my horse in the field. Had to chase him some. I caught him. Led him to Skerry who was standing at the bars of the field. I would say it was about 12 o'clock at night. I think we must have drunk some whiskey there. We may have had a drink coming to the pasture after leaving Alberton. Do not remember. Could not say how much there was in the bottle. There were five or six drinks taken out before. It was a three half pint bottle. Could not say how long we remained at the bars. We were not there till daylight. We finished the bottle and parted. Don't know how many drinks we had. We had more than one drink. Do not think we were over one hour at the bars. It might have been one o'clock. I let the horse go when we parted at the bars. Skerry said, I'll go. I must have stayed there a while. I was drunk. Skerry seemed to be all right. Would not call him drunk by any means. Never saw him stagger that night. Have no real recollection of staying at the bars. Do not remember anything distinctly at all. Skerry seemed all right. I must have gone home. Have no recollection of going home. Have been intoxicated so that I could not remember, but was able to walk. Have no recollection of leaving bars at pasture. Have an idea I went up the French Road towards Woodman's. The next thing I remember is being home in bed. Woke up at ten o'clock in the morning. Heard Skerry was missing a day or so after. I imagine that Skerry went back the same road we came down. Did not look after him. I'm positive I was not in Alberton again that night." Asked if he had no recollection how he knew this, was answered: "There was nothing to fetch me there. Do not think I was able to get there. There was nothing said about getting a feed of lobsters that night. Was not at Leavitts Shore that night." Questioned by Coroner how he knew that. Answered: "I do not think that it was possible, that I was there. Heard that Skerry's body was found off Leavitts Shore. That would be nearly a mile from the bars of the pasture. Don't know how Skerry got there. We had no conversation about lobsters, dory, nor were we in one. Was not nearer Leavitts Shore than the field where the horse was in. Asked how he

LATE KING WAS A PROTESTANT

Special to The Guardian.

LONDON, July 8—A letter is published from the Arch-Bishop of Canterbury to the Dean of Quebec referring to a paragraph in a New York paper reporting that King Edward died a Roman Catholic.

The Arch-Bishop says the report is preposterous and baseless.

RIVER GLADE WOMAN MISSING

SALISBURY, N. B., July 7—Searching parties, who have been out all day looking for Mrs. Albert Jones, of River Glade, who disappeared from her home at an early hour this morning, have failed to locate her.

Mrs. Jones got up about 3.30 this morning, procured some milk and filled her baby's bottle and fed it. She then put some clothes on herself and started out. When her husband missed her, a little later, he, with a friend, started in pursuit. They tracked her to a point of woods about a quarter of a mile from the house when they lost the trail.

Parties have been searching all day, and the work of draining Jones' mill pond and grappling is now in progers.

Mrs. Jones, who is one of the most highly esteemed ladies of the district, has been perfectly well, although she complained yesterday of a slight pain in her head. Her disappearance under such peculiar circumstances is a mystery to her friends.

ONTARIO STOPS EXHIBITION OF FIGHT PICTURES

TORONTO, July 7—"The fight of the century" between Jeffries and Johnson at Reno will not flash on the canvasses of moving picture theatres of Ontario. Premier Whitney announced today that by order-in-council pictures of prize fights would be prohibited and during the next week that order will be communicated to all chiefs of police in the province.

A violation of the regulation is punishable with a fine of not less than $50 or more than $200, with $25 additional for every extra day the pictures are shown. The alternative is three months' imprisonment and loss of license.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR HALIFAX NAVAL COLLEGE.

OTTAWA, July 7—Arrangements are being made to open the new Naval Academy at Halifax, about October first. An instruction staff is now being secured. The college will open in their temporary quarters now being fitted up at the Dockyard with a class of at least thirty, and possibly more. There have that many applications for places as midshipmen, with a great many more inquiries, many of which no doubt foreshadow applications. A call will shortly be made for Canadian Marines to take places on the cruisers Niobe and Rainbow on their arrival in Canada.

WESTERN HARVEST THIS YEAR WILL BE ENORMOUS.

WINNIPEG, July 7—Despite the assurances that the present crop conditions do not warrant the uneasiness which appears to prevail among a certain section of the farming community, some pessimism still exists. Reports issued by the railway companies regarding the wheat fields along their respective lines show that the conditions generally are all that can be expected, and providing favorable weather reigns there is no reason why the crop this year will not be as big, if not bigger, than any previous season. The weekly report of the Canadian Northern Railway is exceptionally bright, and there are indications that everyone will be satisfied when the harvest is gathered in.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE AT SONORA

SHERBROOKE, N. S., July 7—The residence of Kent Englehutt at Sonora, Guysboro County, was destroyed by fire at noon today. Mrs. Englehutt was in the house but her husband is in a hospital at Cobalt. A strong southerly wind was blowing, and nothing could be done to save the house or the furniture owing to the lack of fire fighting apparatus. A sewing machine was the only article of value saved. The cause of fire is unknown.

SOME SECTIONS FINE.

Special to The Guardian.

TORONTO, July 8—A Winnipeg special says:

A careful canvas of leading grain men and others chiefly interested in the present condition of the crops throughout the three western Provinces, shows that as a result of investigation they now look for a crop totalling a hundred million bushels of wheat.

Reports show that the crop is patchy, in some districts being almost ruined, while others are rejoicing in as fine an outlook as in many years.

CHAMBERLAIN CONGRATULATED

Special to The Guardian.

The press for all parties pays tribute to the veteran statesman.

Mr. Chamberlain was born in 1836 and is 74 years old.

LIFE AGENTS IN FRIENDLY REUNION

HALIFAX, July 7—The North American Life agents from the Maritime Provinces held a convention in Halifax yesterday. Hitherto these conventions have been held in Toronto for the whole country, but this convention is the first of the agents for a more restricted territory. They gathered chiefly to personally meet L. Goldman, the managing director and T. G. McConkey, the superintendent of agencies.

A company of about twenty-five surrounded the handsome tables, among whom were: J. K. Ross; J. E. Matthews; Mr. Cook and Henry Lapthorn, Charlottetown.

After the dinner Mr. McConkey, proposed the king and then came a most interesting address by Mr. Goldman, reviewing the history of the bank from its inception, some twenty-nine years ago. He sketched its early days, spoke most interestingly of Alexander MacKenzie, the first president, of the late Hon. A.G. Jones, of Hon. Messrs. Troop and Fielding. He spoke kindly words of the late George E. Lavers, at one time provincial manager for Nova Scotia. Since its organization the company had paid $3,500,000 in death claims.

Following this were short speeches from H. S. Crosby, of Halifax, J.K. Ross, of Charlottetown, C. S. Everett, of St. John, and J. E. Matthews of Charlottetown. Then came a toast to Messrs. Goldman and McConkey.

KEITH'S THEATRE, BOSTON.

The stream of summer visitors to Boston has already begun, and there is no better evidence of it to be found than at Keith's Theatre. This beautiful playhouse, famous the world over, is a Mecca for tourists, and of the 50,000 educators who came to Boston, it is safe to say that the majority of them visited Keith's some time during their stay. Although it is a good many years since Mr. Keith surprised everybody by building a marble engine room and putting carpets even in the boiler rooms where the coal is handled, no other person has been able to duplicate this feat of enterprise, apparently, and it still causes comment.

Of course with so many people visiting the theatre from all parts of the world, the shows presented there are of the same high character and are representative of the vaudeville of the present day. One of the features for the week is a sketch called "Baseballists," in which the life of a baseball enthusiast at home is shown in the most amusing manner. Another strong feature is Viola Gillette and George McFarland, who have recently closed as principal features of the season's success, "The Beauty Spot." They are appearing in a sketch written especially for them. Also on the bill are Brown and Ayer, the song writers and authors of "Jungle Town;" Work and Ower, the comedy acrobats; Josephine Joy, late understudy with Fritzi Scheff; Wentworth, Vesta and Teddy in a most amusing sketch, and others.

ANOTHER ISLANDER KILLED IN U. S. A.

Last night the express brought to this city the body of the late Frank McGillvray, formerly of Glenfanning, Kings County, who met an accidental death in Boston recently.

The late Mr. McGillvray was a carpenter and at the time of the accident which resulted in his death, was employed on a high building in Boston with contractors who were effecting repairs. Mr. McGillvray was working on a wall on the sixth storey and was handling an iron bar which he was using to pry something loose. While thus engaged he suddenly lost his footing and fell to the ground, fifty-five feet below. He was immediately taken to the Boston Relief Hospital near by but he had sustained such severe injuries that nothing could be done to save him. He passed away four hours after the accident after receiving the last holy rites of the Roman Catholic Church of which he was a faithful adherent.

The deceased had resided in Boston for the past six years, was only in his twenty-second year and was unmarried. He was an exemplary young man and widely known and very popular, particularly in the locality surrounding his birthplace.

He leaves to mourn, besides his father and mother, Mark and Mrs McGillvray, Glenfanning, who accompanied the remains to this province, five sisters and one brother, all residing in Boston.

The body will be forwarded to Cardigan this morning where it will be driven to the home of his boyhood and from there interment will take place.

To the bereaved parents and relatives The Guardian extends sincere sympathy.

HIS WIFE FRIEND OF QUEEN MOTHER.

LONDON, July 7—The women of England have succeeded in drawing attention to the fact that they have no vote, but they do not dilate much upon the enormous political influence they wield. Lord Kitchener is one of their latest victims.

He has never been able to overcome the enmity of the smart set of influential women. In Egypt and South Africa he turned a deaf ear to their pleadings for the advancement or comfort of officers in whom they were interested, and a remark about "a plague of women" as one of the drawbacks to efficiency during the Boer War has never been forgotten.

As Commander-in-Chief in India Kitchener lavished hospitality upon the fair sex in vain, for when the post he coveted, the Vice-Royalty, became vacant, he found his old opponents ready to use all their influence against him. Sir Charles Hardinge was appointed.

No one can question Sir Charles' competency for the post, but at least it has been no handicap to him that his wife is a bosom friend of Queen Alexandra and the daughter of the late Lord Alington, who was an invaluable and tactful confidant to "all the Waleses."

RAMSDELL BEAT WALKER.

LONDON, July 7—In the Amateur Athletic Association championship meeting at Stamford Bridge recently Fred. L. (Texas) Ramsdell, of the University of Pennsylvania, won the 100 yards by a foot from R.E. Walker, the champion in 10 1-5 seconds. Walker, who is a South African, first achieved prominence by winning the 100-metre dash at the Olympic games in 1908. He made the world's record for the 100 yards of 9-25 seconds at Abergavenny, Aug. 5, 1908, and defeated Ramsdell at Wolverhampton June 25 last in the 100 yards, doing 10 1-5 seconds. Ramsdell also carried off the 220 yards by six inches after a brilliant effort. His time was 22 2-5. The day was wet and the track therefore slow.

RELIGIOUS DEBATES RAGING IN MADRID.

MADRID, July 7—Religious debates are raging in both Houses of Parliament. The Bishop of Madrid, leading the attack in the Senate, claimed that the laws of the church are the laws of the country because the constitution makes Catholicism the state religion. Canalejas, in reply, declared that the invasion of state sovereignity by the church was no longer tolerable. "I know that a conspiracy exists to accomplish my downfall," he said. "Whether it succeeds or not does not matter, as the time has come when Spain will place herself abreast of modern nations."

LEARN TO FORGET

To forget—that is what we need. Just to forget. All the petty annoyances, all the vexing irritations, all the mean words, all the unkind acts, the deep wrongs, the bitter disappointments—just let them go; don't hang on to them.

Learn to forget. Make a study of it. Practice it. Become an expert at forgetting. Train the faculty of the mind until it is strong and virile. Then the memory will have fewer things to remember, and it will become quick and alert in remembering the things that are worth remembering. It will not be cumbered with disagreeable things, and all its attention will be given to the beautiful things, to the worth-while things.

No matter what business you are pursuing, no matter what literary subjects you may be studying, no matter what scientific problems you are trying to solve, take up the study of forgetting. The art of forgetting will give added lustre to all your literary, business, or scientific attainments, and it will add immeasurably to health of mind and body.
